Newton Corner Post Office Moves To New Location On Centre Ave.

Occupies Fine New Modernly Equipped Building Built By Stuart-Marshall Company

The Newton postoffice was moved yesterday from its location at 320 Centre street, in the Nonantum Building, to its new quarters in the building erected expressly for it on Centre avenue, at the rear of the Graphic office. Nineteen years ago last July the postoffice was moved from the location at 408 Centre street across the tracks to the Nonantum Square site. Much indignation was expressed at that time by persons residing on the south side of the B. & A. tracks, and much indignation is now being expressed by persons residing on the north side of the tracks and by persons who found the old site quite handy for those who used the Boston Elevated or Middlesex & Boston cars and buses. However, the Newton postoffice during most of the years since it was established, had been located on the south side of the tracks and it has returned to a site within 100 feet of one it occupied a couple of generations ago when it was located in a store which stood where the Hubbard Drug Store is now.

The new postoffice building was erected by the Stuart-Marshall Realty Company and provides more up-to-date quarters, modern equipment and much needed sanitary conveniences and rest rooms for the employees. The rest room, called in postoffice Hugo, the "swing room," is used by the letter carriers between trips. Walter H. Guilford of Newtonville, for a number of years Superintendent at the Newtonville postoffice, is temporarily in charge of the Newton postoffice because of the recent death of John L. Farwell, who for 25 years was superintendent there.

Future Safety

The family provider must look this question squarely in the face: what would my wife and family do if I should be taken away?

This is a real question and too many men have passed it by. In consequence, there are too many women eking out a meagre existence doing menial work for which they are unfitted.

If you'll start a Thrift Account and add to it regularly, you have solved this question. No thoughtful man can do less.

Dangerously Burned On Hallowe'en Night

Three-Year-Old Girl On Danger List At Newton Hospital

Lillian Maher, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Maher of 30 Pearl street, Newton, was dangerously burned Wednesday evening when her clothing was ignited by a small candle which was burning in a paper Jack-O-Lantern she was carrying. The child, attired in a white dress and accompanied by her father, started to visit relatives residing nearby. As they departed from the Maher residence the little one expressed a desire to show herself in her Hallowe'en regalia to Captain Charles M. Mitchell, a retired mariner who resides at 6 Bacon street, in the lower apartment of the Maher house. Captain Mitchell, who is 84, has been very friendly with the little one. Upon greeting the child at the door, he took her into his home to show her to his wife. Mr. Maher remained out on the porch. As the little girl was in the Mitchell apartment, her dress caught ablaze from the candle in the lantern and in an instant the garment was a mass of flames.

Despite his advanced age, Mr. Mitchell displayed the courage and coolness which is associated with the call.

Women's Committee For Herbert Hoover

Hard at Work in Closing Days of Campaign—Luce To Speak

The Newton Hoover Headquarters at 241 Washington street, Newton Corner, is a centre of constant activity as the campaign draws to its close. Sample ballots are shown and explained, literature is given out, and questions answered in person or by telephone. N. N. 0757-W. All voters are invited, and children are admitted if accompanied by adults. A brief snap speech adds to the interest of each evening's program. Charles E. Hatfield, chairman of the Republican City Committee, will speak on Friday evening, Charles B. Floyd of the Newton Volunteer Campaign Committee, on Saturday evening, and Hon. Robert Luce, Congressman from this district, on Monday evening, the night before election. Hoover Headquarters will keep "Open House" on Tuesday evening. There will be election returns by radio, and music. The street speaking at the mills and industrial plants of Newton has aroused much

Newton Kiwanis Club's Fine Gift Of Vita Glass To Peabody Home

Fittingly Dedicated at Oak Hill Last Sunday With Interesting Program

Sunday afternoon at the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children at Oak Hill the Newton Kiwanis Club formally presented to the institution the "Vita Glass" equipment for one of the large porches there. The New England Peabody Home cares for little sufferers who are afflicted with bone tuberculosis, classified as orthopedic cases. There is no discrimination against any race or creed and children up to the age of 12 are admitted. The Home was started in 1894, being made possible by the munificence of Mrs. Harriet Peabody, a native of Maine and a former resident of Boston. After having been located in Weston and Hyde Park, the Home moved to its present location in the Oak Hill district of Newton in June of 1922.

The site of the home was formerly the estate of Dr. Henry J. Bigelow, a professor of surgery at Harvard University, and it contains over 40 acres of land which includes the summit and several of the slopes of Oak Hill—an ideal location. The following description of the New England Peabody Home is taken from the report of the corporation for 1927:

"The broad glass-enclosed porches of the Home are seen from the main highway, and the approach is by means of a steep winding road bordered with fir trees and shrubs. From the hilltop one looks over a wonderful panorama. The distant horizon is bounded by a low chain of hills, half lost in misty haze, among which we may distinguish Blue Hill with its famous observatory. In the foreground may be seen the beautiful estate of Robert Gould Shaw, the Charles River Country Club, and the Charles River itself winding through the picture."

SPORT NOTES

Fessenden Loses

Derby Academy of Hingham scored a 13 to 0 victory over the Fessenden school team Monday afternoon on the West Newton school's field. Whyte, Derby fullback, was the star of the game contributing both touchdowns in addition to making many long gains and tossing accurate passes.

Milton Downs Country Day

Milton Academy defeated Country Day school Saturday at Milton 27 to 6. All of its scores came in the first three periods, mostly by line plunges and off tackle slants in which Swift, left halfback, played a leading part. Roger Greene, Country Day end, saved a shut out by grabbing a pass late in the third period and running 40 yards for a touchdown.

Decker's Defensive Work Good

Ed Decker, Newtonville youth, playing halfback position on the play, Harvard's fine defensive game against the Army last Saturday. He spoiled many an Army pass such as those that foisted Harvard the previous week. Decker is a former Montclair, New Jersey boy whose parents moved to Newtonville a few years ago.

Kevorkian's Play Helps

Ed Kevorkian made one play in the Brown-Tufts game last Saturday that figured indirectly in the Bear's triumph over the Medford outfit. Brown was seven points behind as it began a savage attack midway of the third period. Edwards and Flora carried the ball from their 20-yard line into Tufts territory and then Flora was forced to punt. He kicked out of "Fish" Ellis' reach and Kevorkian downed the ball on the five-yard line to save a touchdown. To get out of danger Ellis had to punt hurriedly and it was his only punt of the game that did not travel 40 yards or more. Brown took the ball on Tufts' 35-yard line and crossed the goal line in two plays to tie the count. Captain Cornsweet's 72 yard run late in the final quarter to bring victory to Brown and end Tufts' winning streak since 1926 is memorable history. Ernest Hapgood, former Newton high linesman, was in the game as a substitute guard for Brown.

Gilligan Intercepts Pass

Tommy Gilligan had just gone into the Harvard-Dartmouth game in the second period in place of Shorty Crawford at quarterback last Saturday when he intercepted a Green pass on the Harvard 20-yard line. During the period and half the ex-Newton captain was in the game he carried the ball three times for a net gain of ten yards. He ran back one Dartmouth punt starting to the right, turning around and going to the left for a 20-yard runback before being pulled down. Crawford seems to have outdistanced both Putnam and Gilligan for the right to start at quarterback and with the possibility of Coach Horween's starting Team B tomorrow against Lehigh it is now a toss-up whether Gilligan or Putnam will be selected. The former may get the chance to start in one of the halfback positions.

Lyon's Fumble Does No Damage

"Dandy" Lyons, former Newton high defensive fullback who is at present a substitute back on the Boston College squad nearly handed Boston University a touchdown last Saturday. Late in the game Lyons poised the ball for a forward pass but dropped the ball. Cataldo, B. U. linesman, broke through, scooped the ball up and set sail for the goal. Lyons got him on the five-yard line and before the ball could be put in play the game ended. Had Carnie, B. U. end, recovered the ball a touchdown would have resulted as he is a much faster man than Cataldo. But Carnie threw himself at a B. C. back to keep the latter from reaching the ball and allowing Cataldo his chance.

SOMERVILLE SIDELIGHTS

A few figures on the game show how Somerville won. Thirteen first downs to six for Newton. Of these ten were made by rushing, two by aid of a pass and one by aid of a penalty, while Newton counted three by rush, two by passes and one by aid of a penalty. Somerville gained a total of 212 yards of which all but 25 were gained by rushing while Newton's total was 124 with 66 coming through the air. Somerville completed two out of three passes while Newton tossed ten and completed three. The red and blue punted but three times for a total of 100 yards, an average of about 33 yards per kick, against a total of seven kicks for 152 yards, an average of less than 25 yards, for the Newton punters. Honors in running back the kickoffs and punts were even with both teams totaling 50 yards, although Newton had but six chances to run the ball back but six times against Somerville's ten. Somerville's runs for 15 yards and the other for 20. These low totals give ample evidence of the work of the ends in going down under the punts and following the kickoffs.

Captain Scheinfain was easily the outstanding linesman in the game. The red and blue gained but little around his end and he often nailed the receiver of punts in his tracks. Norman Payne, on the other end, also figured prominently, although opposed by Rondina of Somerville, one of the best ends in schoolboy football this year.

Two of the three successful orange and black forward passes were from Gilligan to Scheinfain. The first one came near the end of the first half. Had Scheinfain not been forced to reverse his field in order to get away from the sideline he might have gotten clear for a score. Martin tackled him on Somerville's 20-yard line after a 33 yard gain. The other led to Newton's only score. Chamberlain had recovered Grant's fumble on the Somerville side of midfield. One pass failed and Pescosolido was held to a yard gain. On the next play Scheinfain got clear to take Gilligan's long pass and was brought down on the 12-yard line. Newton had the punch to put it over.

Newton took the ball away from Somerville twice on downs deep in

In the bowling tournament Mr. Walter Cooper still holds the high average with 111. Lawrence Trowbridge is second with 105. Mr. Cooper also holds the 3-string total with 359. Louis Bills is second with 341 and Hugh Chase third with 336. Louis Bills set a high mark for the high singles with 154 this week. Davidson second with 140. Team 13 is still leading with 12 games won and 4 lost.

There was a good number out to hear Mr. George Listman tell his experiences at the Olympic games at the Fellowship Club last Monday evening. On November 5th at the Fellowship Club Mr. Frank T. Eskridge will be the speaker and his subject, "Some Inside Light on Fire Insurance and Fire Losses." Mr. Eskridge has had twenty-five years experience as an appraiser and has some interesting incidents to tell about his work.

The Board meeting will be held as usual on the first Tuesday in November in spite of the fact that it is election day.

ROTARY CLUB

In the absence of President Arthur M. Ellis and Vice President Charles D. Ansley, Frank J. Perry one of the directors presided.

Dr. Edward Mellus gave an interesting talk on the Yellowstone Park and it was illustrated with a series of colored pictures.

The club will observe Charter Night on the evening of Nov. 20th.

GOLDEN RULE DINNER

Possibly one of the most unique and interesting events ever attempted in Newton is being arranged for through the service of Mrs. Charles W. Bond and a committee of people.

Golden Rule Sunday will be observed this year by practically the entire civilized world on Sunday, Dec. 2nd, which has been designated as Golden Rule Sunday.

The plan as outlined by Mrs. Bond is to have a Golden Rule Dinner—which is a typical Orphanage Meal—on Nov. 26th at the Newton Centre Woman's Club. A simple meal will be served at that time. The Girl Scouts in Uniform will act as waitresses.

The business men of Newton are donating the food and the meal will be served without charge and it is hoped that one of the largest dinners ever given in Newton will be enjoyed. This dinner is under the auspices of the Near East Relief which organization is incorporated by an act of congress and is operating in the Bible Lands. Approximately 30,000 children still remain to be taken care of and properly placed. Mayor Edwin O. Childs has been appointed as honorary chairman and will preside at the dinner and Mr. Richardson, Treas.

Possibly no city in our country has shown the marked and continued interest in this philanthropic work as Newton. From the very beginning they have had a very great share in carrying on. Miss Louise Sherman of our city has spent some time working for and among the children and believes that no finer piece of work has ever been done than that which America has done for the destitute and starving children of that stricken area.

At the Golden Rule dinner men of National reputation will speak and give fact as to just what has been accomplished. Mr. Edward J. Lang, Near East Relief Representative has opened an office in the Orr Building, Newtonville. Phone Newton North, 7243.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

Electron night Tuesday, November 6, at 8, will witness the revival of a Horse Race run at the Club about 20 years ago. Mr. Henry D. Lloyd in charge has contrived some clever and interesting surprises for members, their friends and guests. Rumors are飞 concerning an unusual and fascinating display of race track paraphernalia.

A luncheon will be served from 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. on 60 cents, and a supper will be served from 5:30 to 6:30 p. m. at 65 cents. The evening will be given over to many gala events besides the fair.

There will be mystery and amusement in witches, fortune tellers, and the like, which will appeal to all comers, and especially to children. Admission is free.

SURPRISE PARTY

On Sunday, Oct. 28, a surprise party was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Martin F. O'Connor at their residence, 277 Homer street, Newton Centre. It was in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and was attended by twenty-five couples.

They were the recipients of many beautiful pieces of silver and good wishes. Among Mrs. O'Connor's gifts was a Peerless sedan, the gift from her husband.

M. and Mrs. O'Connor were assisted in receiving the guests by their children John Denn, Frank Martin and Miss Helen Elizabeth.

A buffet lunch was served, followed by a playlet, in which Mrs. Charles J. Macmillan, Mrs. Joseph L. Barry, Mrs. William L. Burke, Mrs. John Burns, Mrs. Michael Donahue, Mrs. Percy J. Keating, Mrs. Raymond Crossette and Mrs. Lawrence B. Cannon, participated.

The Bergeres Orchestra furnished music during the evening.

Mrs. O'Connor was born in Newton and has lived in Newton Centre all her life, and where Mr. O'Connor is a prominent plumber.

Its own territory to save threatening scores. The second time however Gilligan's kick was short and Somerville eventually pushed it over by means of a 13 yard forward pass.

These two occasions were the only time the orange and black was inside Somerville's 30-yard line whereas Somerville was constantly threatening.

The heavy red and blue forwards were ripping the Newton line all through the game to keep their running attack going and to prevent the Newton running attack from getting started.

The most important matter at the coming election next Tuesday is to VOTE in order that the will of the majority can be clearly manifested. Next in importance is to vote for the Republican candidates for the national, state and county offices. We do not need to go into the arguments for the election of Mr. Hoover as president. The radio and the press have told the story far better than in any other campaign. We merely suggest that if sensational charges are sprung on the country in the last days of the campaign, they should be given scant consideration, for all worth while arguments have already been advanced.

In addition to voting for Mr. Hoover, we urge a heavy vote for Loring Young for United States Senator. Mr. Hoover as president, will need able support in the Senate, which he will have with Mr. Young and which he will not have if Senator Walsh is re-elected. We also would like to see a big vote cast for Frank G. Allen for governor and for the rest of the committee will march in the G. O. P. torch-light parade on Friday evening.

The Newton Women's Committee for Hoover, working in close co-operation with the Republican Ward Committees and with the Volunteer Campaign Committee, calls the attention of voters for Hoover, especially women voters, to the following list of transportation centers in each ward. The list has been revised since it was published last week:

Ward I, Hoover Headquarters, N. N. 0757-W.
Ward II, Fred W. Rust, N. N. 0729.
Ward III, Mrs. Irving J. Fisher, W. N. 0773.

Ward IV, Auburndale, Republican Headquarters, W. N. 2235.
Newton Lower Falls, George M. Heathcote, W. N. 1766.

Ward V, Newton Upper Falls, Miss. A. Gertrude Osborne, C. N. 2756-J.
Newton Highlands, M. M. Griswold, Jr., C. N. 1476-W.
Waban, Mrs. Reuben Ellis, C. N. 2012.

Ward VI, Newton Centre, M. R. McCandless, C. N. 3312-M.
Chestnut Hill, Mrs. Leland Powers, Aspinwall 6170.

Ward VII, Miss Edith Jamieson, N. N. 0173.

Call the telephone number listed above for your ward and district if you need transportation to the polls. Call the same number if you need a Women's Committee worker to stay with a small child or an invalid in your home while you go to the polls. This service is gladly given in all parts of the city.

By request of Mayor Childs the church bells will ring on the morning of Election Day at 6 o'clock when the polls open, and again at 10 o'clock. The polls will be kept busy in the early hours by business men and women who have to take trains, and those whose occupations make it necessary for them to vote before going to work. Women who can do so are asked to vote in the morning between 10 and 12 o'clock. Newton is a city of homes. It is every Newton woman's duty to use her ballot in the service of her country and her home.

We wish our wet Republican friends who are planning to vote for Governor Smith on the prohibition issue, would stop and consider if four years of Tammany influence at the White House is not a high price to pay for a mythical glass of beer and also to ask themselves if a Tammany solution of the problem would be to their liking.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

With comparatively few exceptions the boys and youths of Newton deserve commendation for the orderly spirit manifested by them on Hallowe'en. Little of the lawlessness displayed in neighboring communities was evident in this city. No false alarms of fire were sounded; one alarm for a fire in a pile of leaves on Arlington street could have been avoided. If those who set these leaves afield could have seen the narrow escape from a serious accident, when the driver of Truck 1 by quick work avoided a collision with a team of horses while making the turn from Centre into Vernon street, they quite probably would have refrained being the cause of a near tragedy.

Some of the boys in this city differed from the majority and thought they were acting "smart" and real devilish when they removed signs, broke windows, or exposed automobile tires to ruin by tipping over ash barrels onto the streets. A citizen traveling along Centre street Wednesday night counted 67 out of 75 ash barrels along that street, between Centre and Hollis street, tipped over. A certain Boston newspaper, which is supposed to stand for Law and Order, and which is supposed to represent the best elements in Greater Boston, unwittingly, we hope, did not assist in making Hallowe'en free from hoodlumism when it printed a cartoon on Wednesday which certainly suggested pranks to boys that should be discouraged.

WARREN SCHOOL NOTES

Mr. Hermann Speaks at Assembly

Mr. Hermann, Superintendent of Playgrounds of Newton, gave an unusually inspiring talk on the value of outdoor life. Mr. Hermann began by saying that the pupils of the Warren Junior High were fortunate in having such splendid grounds for athletics. He compared Newton's area with that of four large neighboring cities to show that Newton had more open spaces than all four cities put together. Newton maintains 24 playgrounds, comprising 167 acres of land. The Board of Aldermen have appropriated $90,000 for the care, maintenance, and instruction provided for these playgrounds. However, Mr. Hermann believes that it is worth every cent of the money to the City of Newton in affording healthful recreation to the boys and girls who are to become the men and women citizens of Newton.

Mr. Hermann claims that it is necessary to get training in the fundamentals of athletics, as well as anything else, in youth. "Play is the greatest educational lesson," said Mr. Hermann, "because it unifies the body with the mind. One should play hard and work hard. Outdoor exercise stimulates the senses and follows the stimulation by action. Outdoor play creates a love for something, and if we love to do a thing, we do it well because we are alert." Therefore, the playground gives every child a chance to excel in something. "Success in something one has worked for builds character," believes Mr. Hermann. "See if you can't do something better than someone else. Put your heart and soul and energy into what you're doing whether it is work or play and you'll make a success of your life," he urges.

In Newton the passing automobile will notice that there is less trouble on the streets with children hanging around and asking for rides. This is one result of the playgrounds. Mr. Hermann hopes to have more winter sports on the playgrounds soon—toboggan slides, etc. He believes that exercise in winter is one of the greatest features of health. "If your heart and organs do not beat to their maximum capacity at least once a day their robust health in manhood will not result."

AUTO KILLS HIGHLANDS BOY

At 6:30 on Hallowe'en Night 10 year old Robert Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carey of 1026 Boylston street, Newton Highlands, suddenly left his home to go to a neighboring store to purchase candy and decorations for a Hallowe'en party. A couple of minutes later the boy was dead, having been struck by an automobile as he was crossing Boylston street, near Woodward street. The car which hit him was driven by Judson Alward of 1304½ Boylston street, Newton Upper Falls. Alward rushed the boy to the Newton Hospital, but the little fellow was dead before reaching there.

According to Alward the boy ran in front of the car after crossing the reservation used by the Boston & Worcester cars in the middle of Boylston street.

AUTO CRASH FATAL TO NEWTONVILLE WOMAN

Mrs. Maud S. Robinson, 40, of 35 Calvin road, Newtonville, died on Friday night at the Cambridge Hospital as a result of injuries received Friday afternoon in an automobile accident at the intersection of Belmont and Commonwealth streets in Belmont. Mrs. Robinson was riding in a car with her husband and 14 year old son. The other car was driven by Harry R. Wheeler of 137 Mount Vernon street, Arlington. The Robinson car was overturned and its occupants were pinned under it. Mrs. Robinson received injuries which resulted in her death a few hours later.

Elizabeth Ellis, Grade IX has been elected Drum Major of the band for the Warren School.

On Thursday, November 8, the Warren School session will begin at three o'clock in the afternoon and last until eight o'clock. Regular classes will be held so that parents and other interested citizens of Newton may see the actual workings of the Warren School Community. A cafeteria supper will be served to take the place of the noon luncheon.

With human horses and many followers the gang paraded around Eliot street, down Circuit avenue and up Thurston road, arriving at the Auditorium just in time to herald the celebrities who were to speak at the Smith rally. Besides this prank, attempts were made to ring in some fire alarm boxes, but these were foiled. Little material damage was done, however, during the evening.

Mrs. Bell, who was born in Somerville in 1864, was the daughter of the late Dr. Horace T. Hemenway and Sarah Elizabeth Gross. She was graduated from Smith College in the class of 1886. In 1893 she married Dr. Louis Bell of Boston, who was for many years prominent in electrical engineering and astronomical research.

From 1908 until 1924, the year following Dr. Bell's death, Mrs. Bell was actively identified with the community life of West Newton, where she made her home, particularly during the war period, when she devoted the greater part of her time to Red Cross and other war work.

For many years she was a member of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of Newton, and of the New England Historic-Genealogical Society, in which she was much interested. She was descended from Stephen Hopkins, who came over in the Mayflower.

A sister, Miss Louise R. Hemenway of New York City, her son and daughter-in-law, Major and Mrs. Louis Hemenway Bell of Waban; and two granddaughters survive Mrs. Bell.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the West Newton Unitarian church.

MRS. GOODRICH

SCHOOL NOTES

F. A. DAY JUNIOR HIGH

The death of Mrs. Bertha M. Goodrich occurred rather suddenly Sunday at her home, 223 Central street, Auburndale. She was eighty-six years of age, a native of Boston, and the daughter of the late Joseph Wightman who was mayor of Boston in the sixties. She was married more than sixty years ago to William L. Goodrich, who up to the time of his death eleven years ago had always been in the leather business and at one time was a member of the city government of Newton.

Mrs. Goodrich during the years she lived in Boston was a member of Trinity Church, but upon taking up her residence in Auburndale she became a member of the Church of the Messiah. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Emma B. Drost of Auburndale, a son, Allston W. Goodrich, living in Allston; and a sister, Miss Gertrude M. Wightman of Wellesley Hills.

MRS. BLACK

Mrs. Mary G. Black, wife of James S. Black, a cabinet worker in Newtonville, died last week Thursday at her home, 77 Brookside avenue, that city. She was a native of Sussex, England, and her maiden name was Mary Jane Griffin. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the family home has been in Newtonville for fourteen years. Besides her husband Mrs. Black is survived by two daughters, Miss Dorinda M. Black, who lives at home; and Mrs. Ralph K. Coleman of Lowell.

MICHAEL HICKEY

Michael Hickey of 141 Edinborough street, Newtonville, a retired city employee and a resident of Newton for over 50 years died last Sunday in his 76th year. He was a native of County Meath, Ireland. His funeral service was held Tuesday morning at the Church of Our Lady, Newton; burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. He is survived by his widow, one son Joseph Hickey of Newtonville, and three daughters—Mrs. Hugh Macdonnell and Mrs. Andrew Ward, Jr., of Newtonville, and Mrs. John Linnane of Waltham.

ANDREW MONAHAN

Andrew Monahan of 17 Clinton street, Newton, died on October 26th in his 60th year. He was a native of County Cork, Ireland, and had resided in this city for 40 years. His funeral service was held on Monday at the Church of Our Lady and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Misses Veronica and Agnes Monahan.

KIWANIS CLUB PRESENTS "VITA GLASS" PORCH TO PEABODY HOME

south and west, to secure the maximum of sunshine. Broad porches extend the length of the building, and on these porches are rows and rows of beds and frames from which come merry laughter and happy childhood voices, for the brown-skinned, rosy-cheeked youngsters here are the sun-babies receiving heliotherapy treatment.

"On the ground floor are two school-rooms, the primary room and the room for the older children. The other rooms on the ground floor are the cooking-room, where many delicious concoctions are prepared; two playrooms, the scene of many happy games; two lavatories, the sewing room, and the dining room. Here there are no long tables such as are often associated with institutions, but the children sit at small tables, five or six in a group.

"The second floor is reached by an incline easily ascended by children with crutches and braces. On this floor are the two airy, well-lighted wards, the boys' and girls', both opening on the sunny porch. There is a pleasant playroom with a fireplace, books and toys, connected with each ward. On this floor too are the offices, the reception room, the modern X-ray room recently equipped, and the isolation rooms, bathrooms and linen rooms.

"On the third floor are a modern operating suite, two recovery rooms, the dental room and laboratory. Here too are the apartments of the Superintendent, the nurses and the resident surgeons. On the fourth floor are the rooms of the attendants.

"The annex, a new building, was made possible in part by the gift of Major M. J. Connelly in memory of his father, Patrick Connelly.

"It is connected with the main building by a glass-enclosed porch and is composed of one big room, the assembly and recreation room, where entertainments, etc., are given. In the basement is the well-equipped school room, a first-class laundry, store room and boiler room.

"In addition to the Home itself there are two other buildings on the estate. At the top of the Hill is the old Bigelow house, where the people who take care of the farm and grounds live, and down on the main road is a delightful old-fashioned house which has been attractively furnished and is run as the Peabody Home Tea Room and Gift Shop. It has become a real source of revenue as well as a means of bringing the Home to the wider knowledge of the public.

"The new Home is spacious and well equipped; there are one hundred and eighteen children now at the Home and more are to be admitted in the near future. With the present accommodations, only a few more can be cared for; but the lands of the Home are broad, and with the support of a generous public it is hoped that new buildings may rise on Oak Hill in which other children may find home and health. The New England Peabody Home has always been a growing affair, and as long as there are crippled children uncared for, its life is unrealized and it hopes to grow to meet their needs."

Last Sunday afternoon the porch at the home which was equipped with "Vita Glass" by the Newton Kiwanis Club, was well filled by a large delegation of Newton Kiwanians and members of their families, together with Mayor Childs and a number of department heads of the City of Newton, including Chief of Police Burke, Chief Randlett of the Fire Department and Buildings Commissioner Chadwick. Presented Arthur W. Hollis was also present.

President James P. Gallagher of the Newton Kiwanis Club opened the exercises by introducing Rev. Maurice Bullock of the Centenary Methodist Church of Auburndale, who delivered the following invocation:

"Father of all we thank Thee for the ministry of love which knows no bounds. We come here for thy blessing upon this institution founded and maintained in its service. Grant that our gathering today may lead to the opening of enlarged channels of healing grace for these little ones. We remember Him who said, 'Suffer the little ones to come unto Me, and forbid them not, for to such belongeth the Kingdom of God.' We would help these needy ones to come and enjoy the full sunshine of His life giving power. May this Kiwanis Club be led into still larger service for the building up of thy Kingdom. Bless our en-

GOV. SMITH'S RECORD

The saloon record of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York is a fitting prelude to his promise that if he reaches the White House he will lead the way back to legalized liquor.

For twenty-five years he has voted and worked with the Tammany Machine for more saloons, longer hours for the sale of boozes and against prohibition. At a dinner at the Hotel Vanderbilt, April, 1922, it is reported he declared the Democratic party was a saloon party; and March 8, 1923, he told newspaper correspondents he would be glad to help Senator Edge of N. J., with his beer bill "if that would help us anywhere near the time when we can put a foot on the brass rail and blow off the froth."

The Democratic party is not a saloon party, and millions of dry Democrats are forsaking their party ticket simply because of Governor Smith's record which contains the following high lights in his career as assemblyman, speaker of the house, and governor:

1904: Voted to force hotel bars into three hundred dry towns and to make hotels independent of local option elections.

1905: Voted three times against a bill to kill assignation houses and other red light institutions. This was a bill to separate the sale of liquor from its immoral connections.

1907: Voted the saloon side in local option legislation.

1908: Voted to permit saloons near churches and schools in spite of violent opposition.

1909: Introduced and pushed a bill permitting bars within church and school zones.

1910: Voted against a local option bill; took the saloon side of the argument.

1911: Voted to permit saloons nearer churches; voted to increase the hours of legal sale in saloons.

1912: Voted for a law making it difficult to convict violators of the liquor laws.

1913: As Speaker of the Assembly worked to open saloons in New York on Sunday. Also engineered passage of measure permitting saloons within two hundred feet of private schools.

1914: Voted against a local option measure for towns which wanted to rid themselves of saloons.

1915: Voted against local option and red light institutions.

1920: As governor he aided and signed the bill legalizing in New York 2.75% beer which was thrown out by the Supreme Court.

1923: His signature made effective the repeal of the New York prohibition law, thus destroying enforcement in the largest state.

FIRE IN GARAGE

Saturday afternoon at 4:40 Box 27 was pulled for a fire which badly damaged a garage owned by Cornelius Duggan at 233 Highland avenue, Newtonville. The blaze spread to the garage from a little hut at the rear of the structure where a neighbor's boy had built a fire that ignited the little structure which the boy and his companions had been using as a "camp."

A feature of the evening's program was the supper, prepared by a committee of boys.

The Chinatown Trip has been postponed due to the "Tong war." Nov. 10 there will be a chance for five of the members to go on another trip to visit our "foreign neighbors."

Applications may be made to and information secured from Mr. Rufus P. Cushman.

POLICE NEWS

Motorcycle Officer "Bill" Dowling on last Friday obtained 35 summonses against autoists whom he caught violating automobile laws during the past couple of weeks. Officer Dowling and other Newton traffic policemen have been doing their part in common with policemen throughout the State to co-operate with Registrar Parker in his campaign to save lives. "Bill's" victims will appear in the Newton court on November 5.

Patrolman William MacIntyre had his right wrist broken last Thursday while cranking an automobile.

William Girard of Charlesbank road, Newton, arrested on October 22 by Patrolman Dowling for driving while under the influence of liquor, was sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Bacon on Monday in the Newton court. He was also fined $10 for drunkenness. He appealed the sentence.

Wilfred Barton of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, was arrested on Saturday night by Patrolmen Dowling and Goddard charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. His case will be tried on November 14.

John McGlynn of 117 West street, Newton, was given a suspended sentence of two months in the House of Correction by Judge Bacon in the Newton court on Monday on the charge of failing to support his father, Hugh McGlynn. The sentence was suspended on the condition that McGlynn contribute $5 a week to his father's support. In court the same day Harry Caplan of Dorchester and Winthrop Smith of Newton Centre each was fined $10 for speeding. Ralph Marston of Malden was fined $5 for parking without proper lights.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

During the week ending October 22, there were in the hospital 120 patients, of which 48 paid as much or more than cost of care, 47 paid less than cost of care and 25, including babies, were treated free. Twelve babies were born, 5 girls and 7 boys. One hundred and sixteen patients were treated in the out-patient department and 10 in the eye clinic. Six social service calls were made in the homes and 9 patients were transferred by the social service car. Fourteen accident cases were treated in the operating room.

The twenty-fifth Autumn Meeting of the Massachusetts State Nurses' Association was held at the Hotel Brunswick, October 23, and 24, 1928. Miss Bertha W. Allen, R.N., the superintendent of the hospital is president of the Association and the hospital was represented at the banquet by about ten of our people, and quite a number attended the meetings on Wednesday.

On Monday evening, October 22, the Newton Medical Club held its regular meeting at the hospital. The speaker was Dr. Leighton Johnson, consultant to the Evans Memorial, who talked to the members on "Bronchoscopy."

Of the fourteen accident cases treated in the operating room during the past week, only three were the results of automobile accidents, two of these being men,—one with a laceration of the forehead, and one with a laceration on the wrist—and one was a boy with a lacerated forehead. Of the other cases cared for, six were men,—one with a strained back caused when he fell from a staging, one with a lacerated toe received when he was cutting ice, one treated for shock, one with a lacerated finger which he had cut with a saw, one with a fractured wrist caused by falling on a rock, and one with a gunshot wound on the arm. One woman was treated for an obstruction in the windpipe which was thought to have been caused by a piece of food lodging there. Two boys were treated—one for a lacerated chin received when he fell on a slide at school, and one for abrasions of the right hip, elbow and forearm caused when he fell from his bicycle. Two girls were also cared for, one for a lacerated forehead received when she fell from a step, and the other for a crushed finger caused when her finger was caught in the door of a car.

The hospital has been the recipient of many generous gifts of magazines, fruit and flowers. We are grateful to the many friends who remember us so kindly.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S FORUM

"How much freedom should the young people of today expect?" was the topic for discussion at the meeting last Sunday in the Union Church of the Young People's Forum of Waban. Led by Marjorie Cady and Louise Caine, while no actual decision was reached, the discussion gave much food for thought for both children and parents.

Freedom was defined by John Argersinger as the "standing permission of parents to their children to do what they please, when they please, where they please." Among the questions asked were the following:

Should the parents or the children pick the children's friends? Are parent-picked friends apt to be real friends? How late should children stay out nights? Should one time be all out, or the time to be changed according to the occasion? To what extent should children be allowed to spend their own money? Does the fact that they earn it themselves, or it is given to them make any difference? Should the parents say when and where their children must go to church? Should girls and boys have the same amount of freedom?

Again the question of a definition of freedom was brought up, and it was asked, "Is it freedom to do something because the others do?" "Are there such things as false freedom and true freedom?" and finally, "Will freedom be governed by common-sense of the parents and by the knowledge gained through their greater experience?"

Let's Keep the Tammany Tiger out of The White House!

Do you want the Tammany of "Boss" Tweed, of Croker and of Murphy in the honored seat of Washington, of Lincoln, of Cleveland, Roosevelt and Wilson?

"Tammany Hall is not a political party but purely a business enterprise... not only does the organization stand as the organization of crime but it embodies the tyranny of crime."

Dr. C. H. Parkhurst

Founded in 1789 as a "benevolent, patriotic and charitable" society, Tammany became a political organization in 1800. Its first "boss" was Aaron Burr.

By the time of the Civil War it had become a thoroughly entrenched "system" for political corruption and graft which was exploited to the utmost by "Boss" Tweed. He died in jail in 1878 after conviction of incredible thefts.

Later followed the notorious Croker regime which lasted until 1901. "To the party belongs the spoils," said he, "I tell you now right out, we win and we expect everybody to stand by us." They did. Croker and his henchmen garnered untold millions.

Then came Murphy—alleged organizer of a "New" Tammany. True, the more brazen methods of corruption and graft were abandoned, but only for less open and equally efficient ways of plunder. Murphy died early in 1924 and the local press summed up his efforts:

"Tammany Hall has a long record. It professes to cherish the people but at heart it always intends to exploit and debauch them... It has great y refined its methods. There are no longer crude Tweed stealings. But by subtler means, usually within the forms of law, Tammany is still able to enrich its masters... For New York it is just as much a disgrace as it was fifty years ago that it is so often ruled by this secret and self-appointed oligarchy, which does not publish its accounts, and yet pretenses to direct the public administration and the political fortunes of a great city... a system which, without official responsibility, degrades our official life and which condemns New York to suffer from maladministration and the lowest moral standards in public life."

N. Y. Times, editorial, April 26, 1924

Murphy launched his campaign for the nomination of Governor Smith for the Presidency in 1924, culminating in the bitter struggle of the Madison Square Garden Convention. He was succeeded by Olvany, largely through Smith's influence.

While he cannot be held responsible for Tammany's previous record, Alfred E. Smith is a product of its system. Backed by his "political godfather," "Big Tom" Foley, a saloon keeper and Tammany district leader, Smith was elected to the State Assembly in 1903 and has ever since served Tammany faithfully and well—its most distinguished member and apologist:

"I have listened to a great deal of public and very caustic criticism of Tammany and I ask myself: How can anything live in this country 139 years that is not all right? I will conclude with a congratulation and thanks to the SOCIETY OF WHICH I AM PROUD TO BE A MEMBER AND AN OFFICER."

Gov. Smith's address at the Tammany Hall 4th of July celebration, 1928

Tammany has ever been a thorn in the flesh of the National Democratic party.

The only two Democratic Presidents since the Civil War—Cleveland and Wilson—both fought and were fought by Tammany.

The Tammany Congressmen from New York City have consistently and bitterly fought every move in Congress to help farmers. Tammany always has been completely antagonistic to the interests of agriculture.

Tammany Congressmen fought Woman Suffrage, fought Prohibition, fought all restrictions of immigration and fought every forward-looking movement of the nation except such as furthered the material benefit of the Tammany interests.

"A predatory band, more interested in personal plunder than in party principle—a stench in the nostrils of decent Democracy, selfish, disloyal and corrupt."

William Jennings Bryan on Tammany, 1912

And now it is claimed that Tammany has "reformed"—that Gov. Smith has exercised a cleansing influence. Yet the Tammany "Scandals of 1928" are no less shameful than those of years gone by, and involve typical graft transactions on a colossal scale, running into untold millions—the Queens Sewer Scandal, the Pay Roll Padding Scandal, the Milk Graft Scandal, the Gas Cut-off Scandal and many others.

"Al Smith's Tammany Hall" is just the same old tiger unreformed—and unashamed:

"Tammany is a human institution and as such it has its natural weaknesses. Nobody has ever said that Tammany is an aggregation of saints—nobody would seriously contend that. No other human institution is. But it has been the controlling power and it has contained the preponderance of membership in this community for more than a hundred years, and by and large it compares favorably in point of members, taking that into consideration, with any other human institution."

Gov. Smith's Speech, Tammany Hall, July 4, 1926

The Tammany organization is financed from New York City's treasury. In every district a Tammany leader holds a city job and draws a city salary. Many of the Tammany chiefs and "sachems" are also on the city or county pay roll. The total of these salaries is in excess of $650,000 a year.

And now Tammany is preparing to move on the Federal Treasury. Already "the boys" back in New York City are gleefully dividing up the fat salaried Government positions—to say nothing of the thousands of lesser jobs for the "faithful"—and utilizing all other forms of governmental power in building up and perpetuating this "machine."

For Tammany has hitherto conducted a retail business—it is now preparing to make it a wholesale business covering the entire United States.

Do you want THAT? Ask your conscience!

They shall not pass! Keep them out with your votes for Hoover and Curtis—and honest, efficient government

CABARET PERFORMANCE

The members of the First Unitarian Society are opening their winter's season with a "Free Will Cabaret" to be held in the Church Parlors on the evening of Friday, November 16, at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the General Alliance fund.

Mrs. L. G. Kilb of Greenwood avenue and Mrs. John Parker Holmes of Otis street are in charge of the decorations and will carry out the idea of an Alsatian setting. Several years ago, under the auspices of the same society, it will be remembered that Mrs. Holmes engineered that most attractive fair known as the Dutch Village.

Great secrecy is being maintained by the nature of the different numbers to be presented on the program during the evening's performance, but we know that they will include a wide variety of entertainment given, as the calendar amusingly states, by the "most expensive" names listed in the Church Directory.

Mr. Fred W. Woodcock of Newtonville is to act in the capacity of general stage manager; Miss Barbara Ballou of West Newton, assisted by Miss Celia Rogers and Miss Mary Woodcock, has charge of the sale of light refreshments, candy and soft drinks; Mr. William Weston, organist, of the musical half of the program; and Miss Ethel Howland of West Newton, the assignment of tables and ticket selling.

Others who are giving liberally of their time toward the success of the occasion are Mrs. Paul S. Phalen, Mr. Charles E. Hatfield and Miss Lillian A. Young.

THE CHANNING GUILD

Channing Guild, the young people's society of Channing Church, has started its season of activity meeting the first and third Sunday of each month. Supper is served at 5:30 and a brief business meeting precedes the speaker of the evening. An appropriate candle light service in the chapel concludes the program.

At the meeting on October 21, in the church parlors there were forty-four members and guests present to hear Mr. Rufus Stickney of Somerville, recount his travels in Europe. His entertaining and instructive talk was amply illustrated with four reels of pictures.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Edward Mellus, 60 Cotton street. Hon. Thomas Weston is to speak.

A year of pleasant and worthwhile activity is in prospect and the young people of the district are invited to share the benefits and contacts of the early Sunday evening meetings.

NEWTON CIRCLE

The regular monthly meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Circle Inc. was held at the Newton Welfare Bureau Rooms on Oct. 26th. Most of the time was taken up in making plans for the Annual Bazaar which takes place on Nov. 14th and 15th at the Copley Plaza. It is desired that all those who have pledged articles shall have them ready as soon as possible.

Mrs. Wellman gave her usual interesting report. She is already making suggestions as to the Christmas work she would like the Circle to undertake.

MISS VEUILLEMEIR PLAYED

Among the interesting musical numbers given at the Convention of the Middlesex Teachers' Association on Friday last, at Tremont Theatre by pupils of the Newton schools, was a group of violin pieces by Olivia Veullemier, of the Newton Classical High School. These were "Schon Rosmarin" by Kreisler, and "Melodie" by Gluck.

Miss Veullemier is a student in the All Newton Music School. This school trains many players for the various orchestras of the public schools which are doing so much good work under Mr. Charles R. Spaulding's direction.

FALL MEETING

The annual fall meeting of the Massachusetts Association of the New Jerusalem Church was held at the Newtonville New Church Saturday in the all-day session, presided over by Mrs. Blanche Irwin.

In the morning the group of 100 members passed a resolution introduced by Rev. H. Clinton Hay of the Beacon Hill Church of the New Jerusalem opposing the petition for Sunday sports.

In the afternoon a conference was held with a discussion of Sunday School methods.

LOGGES

The Newton Post, American Legion Auxiliary No. 48, will hold a luncheon at 234 Boylston street, Boston, on Wednesday, Nov. 7, at 12:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present. Mrs. Francis Cook is chairman.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

All skirmishing should have ceased by this time as far as the political generals and their henchmen go and the few remaining days should be quiet. Naturally they will not be, for those tireless speakers and writers, whose energies seem not to be exhausted after so many weeks of the campaign, will feel in duty bound to continue until the very last minute.

I doubt if any Presidential election in years has so gotten hold of the feelings of the people. Not only men and women, but youngsters as well, are talking of and arguing over the qualities of their respective favorites. Somehow when a man starts to criticize a candidate the latter's defender does not answer the charges but begins to blast the opposing candidate. That to me is one of the most annoying things about political arguments. They seem so futile. "I think that your candidate is a big no good," says one man. "Yes, but what about your candidate," his friend retorts, "if he isn't a big piece of cheese then I never saw one."

It gets to be a matter of personalities. People who are otherwise level-headed can become red in the face at the mouth in defending or denouncing somebody they have never seen, only by a printed picture and wouldn't recognize in a crowd if his identity was not disclosed.

I haven't any idea what might not happen to certain men and women of my acquaintance if this contest were extended beyond next Tuesday. They seem to be thoroughly besides themselves, on the verge of a nervous breakdown; food does not appeal to them, sleep is practically out of the question and business and social affairs are neglected. I sympathize with two women whom I overheard. They were hoping for the early arrival of Election Day.

"I wish to heaven it was all over," groaned the first. "So do I," the other agreed. "Ain't the suspense terrible!"

It was interesting to observe the enthusiasm with which the Democratic leaders joined in the criticism of the original arrangement of the State election ballot as prepared by Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook. The contention that the new voters, whose intent was to vote for the Democratic Presidential candidates, might inadvertently mark their cross at the left instead of the right of the names Smith and Robinson. A mark at the left would be for Foster and Gittlow, the candidates of the Workers' Party. All this hypothetical picture was based on the fact that the Foster and Gittlow group was at the top of the column on page one of the ballot and the Smith and Robinson group at the top of the column on page two.

The matter was brought to the attention of the State Ballot Law Commission. There is a grave question whether that body has any jurisdiction over the preparation of the ballot. There is nothing in the law which gives them any power in the matter, according to certain attorneys. I call attention to the fact that their decision does not direct or order the Secretary of State to make a change in the typographical arrangement—it recommends that it be done.

Well, whether the situation justified all the hue and cry it is clear that the people who protested gave the new voter credit for a minor quantity of intelligence. I attended the hearing and listened to one man who nearly burst into tears in his plea for the women who would be casting their first vote and who might be misled by this particular ballot. This same speaker went on to say that eight years ago when a new form of ballot was introduced many mistakes were made by the voters, "largely for the women" who would be casting their first vote and who might be misled by this particular ballot. This same speaker went on to say that eight years ago when a new form of ballot was introduced many mistakes were made by the voters, "largely for the women" who would be casting their first vote and who might be misled by this particular ballot. This same speaker went on to say that eight years ago when a new form of ballot was introduced many mistakes were made by the voters, "largely for the women" who would be casting their first vote and who might be misled by this particular ballot.

I remember a political writer who once prepared for his paper a story in which he said, "In the richer and so called intelligent sections frequent mistakes are made in marking the ballot. In the poorer and so-called less intelligent sections mistakes are never made; furthermore, the vote is heavier, sometimes greater than the total number of registered voters."

It is recognized that representative government such as the United States of America has established for itself, for the individual States and political subdivisions thereof is the best there is. Yet there are times when we question that fact. Grave doubt comes to us on occasions and we ask ourselves "How may we be sure we have reached perfection?" When a city like Newton turns out a woman employee after 33 years of service with a miserly pension of $25 a month we may be certain that something is wrong—very wrong indeed. I am well aware that in the case to which I refer, that of Mrs. Ella E. Mason, former police matron, the city government was influenced by an opinion of the City Solicitor that she was not entitled to a pension as a member of the Police Department, which would have at least been a decent sum, but must take the lowest possible amount because her duties were so graded. That of course is final. At least it appears so in this case. All is to return to the valuable contribution these folks are making to world wisdom. They are giving us in a new form the pearls of thought contained in many a classic. Yes, it is interesting to read these interviews and estimate how many books the press agent has consulted in preparing something worth while to be signed by a screen favorite. I often wonder the boobyry does not tumble to it, but somehow it doesn't.

Books borrowed at the main library or any one of the branches may be returned to any of the above libraries on Sunday afternoon.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

When the voters of the Nation go to the polls on next November 6th they will register their votes in the most important election ever held. We are nearing the end of a most exciting campaign. Both parties have talked on the vital issues at stake and we the people are the jury on the election and it is our duty to render a verdict that will be a credit to the American Nation, and in future years we and our children can look back with much pride and satisfaction that the election of 1928 was the greatest moral victory of our history.

It is up to you, Mr. Voter, to consider the principles of the two candidates for President. These principles are easily understood and need no interpreter.

The Democratic nominee, Alfred E. Smith, represents a party that favors free trade with other nations, which would have but one result; foreign made goods would come into America at a lower price than we could manufacture. This condition would be most unsatisfactory; unemployment would increase, unrest would prevail, and hard times would exist. The Democratic nominee, Mr. Smith, is in reality the nominee of Tammany. Tammany, the political machine of New York City, represents the reactionary wing of the Democratic party. This organization forced the nomination of Smith and defeated the rank and file of the Democratic party. Tammany is honey-combed with politicians who seek nothing but graft and whose principles are dishonest. Its public record has long been unsatisfactory and leaves much to be desired. Tammany may be able to control New York City but it is unfit to run the Nation. Gov. Smith if elected would favor modification of the 18th amendment and the Volstead Act; in other words, he would like to see the United States in the liquor business. What Gov. Smith favors is not only impractical but impossible. If Congress alone was to vote on this question there is a bare possibility it might pass, but in order to become a law it is necessary to have a vote of three-quarters of our States and records show that 60 to 70 per cent of the States would vote against any change. This argument to modify the 18th Amendment has little merit and is of no value to the Country.

The Republican nominee, Herbert Hoover, represents a party that has always been progressive, and whose achievements are recognized throughout the world. Secretary Hoover in my opinion is better fitted to assume the responsibilities of the office of President than any other man who has been nominated by either party during the last fifty years.

Mr. Hoover is a civil engineer who was a builder of world renown; as food administrator during the World War, appointed by a Democratic President, Woodrow Wilson, he fed the Allies, an accomplishment that no other man dared undertake; as Secretary of Commerce under President Coolidge, his duties have required much forethought and study, but the results attained have put our commerce on a high level so that today we are leading the world. During the Mississippi flood he was asked by the President to investigate conditions in the flooded district in order to prevent the recurrence of any such calamity in the future. What did Hoover do? Within twenty-four hours he was in the stricken area to make a study of the situation in order to make recommendations to end such destruction of property again. A Flood Relief bill was submitted to Congress and Hoover fought tooth and nail with the House, Senate and finally with President Coolidge until this bill was passed because he knew he was right. Today flood relief is under proper control. Mr. Hoover, if elected, will adhere to the Republican principle and demand a tariff that will assure protection to our industries and keep our workers employed with good wages. The Republican party will insist on the strictest economy in the management of government affairs. The Republican party stands four square for the supremacy of our courts; for government regulation of business and not government ownership, and for law enforcement.

During this campaign there has been much whispering on the religious issue. In my opinion this issue has no place in a political campaign. Do we elect a president because he goes to this or that church, because he is a Catholic, Protestant or Hebrew. My answer is no. We elect a man President first because he is a man, because his principles are upright and just, because he will observe all our laws and above all because he is an American.

On Farm Relief Gov. Smith assumes the role of a magician: "Now you see it and now you don't." Gov. Smith takes both ends and the middle on this issue, he leaves us much in the dark. To the west he says I am in favor of the equalization fee and to the east he is silent on this question. In his recent speech at Omaha he says "When I am elected President (not if I am elected President) I will appoint a commission to study this problem. On such an important issue should not the President himself study the matter in order to make recommendations to Congress?" Is it possible that Gov. Smith knows so little about farm relief that he passes it on to a commission in order to avoid any responsibility? To quote Sen. Borah: "When we in the Senate have a measure to enact and we can come to no agreement we appoint a commission to investigate it and investigations are of little or no value."

If Herbert Hoover is elected President he himself will make a survey of the entire agricultural situation in order to bring about constructive farm relief. He will allow no commission to toss it around and make it a political football.

Mr. Voter, don't be deceived, this election is going to be won on one issue, Prohibition. Modification of the 18th Amendment is simply a Democratic smoke screen, to hide the real issue—Law Enforcement. It is a gesture to attract the Republican voter. Mr. Smith well realizes he cannot win without these votes.

The Republican party has endorsed the Coolidge administration, an administration without precedent in govovernment financing. Herbert Hoover will make an able successor to Calvin Coolidge, who is recognized as the most able business executive who ever sat in the White House. Mr. Voter, here is your opportunity to decide this election. It is up to you to make the decision, whether you want Hoover and a business administration or Smith and a Tammany administration. Gov. Smith may know New York state, but Herbert Hoover knows the world.

I have faith in the Old Bay State that she will uphold the principles of the Republican party, record that has made her a leader in National affairs. On election day let Massachusetts record a vote that will give the Republican party an overwhelming majority. We, the people of New England, must win this election. Massachusetts cannot and she will not fail."

Let America answer the call on November 6th and sweep the country from Maine to California and put the stamp of approval on Hoover and Curtis.

Respectfully yours,
LEONARD G. PUFFER.

10 Otis Row, Newtonville.

THE ELECTION

"In this election, America will choose between her crown of glory and the brown derby. The 18th Amendment is her crown of glory. Hoover would retain it. Smith would swap it for a brown derby.

"When Hoover rose to speak, the people sang—"America"—the whole country. When Smith rose, the band played—"The Sidewalks"—of one city.

"This election is the contest between the home circle and the town square for the control of the American Government and the shaping of American ideals. It is the struggle of home enjoyments that are solid, against Broadway pleasures that are too often liquid. We are going to declare whether we prefer to provide the means of innocent laughter for our children, or the makings of 'the morning after' for our grown-ups.

"We are going to decide whether we will continue the lawful liberty which the 18th Amendment has brought to American homes, or bring back the licensed lawlessness of the saloon—for the only difference between the saloons and the Quebec Beer Parlors advocated by Governor Smith is that in the beer parlors they get drunk sitting down at a beer table, whereas in the beer saloons they get drunk standing up to a beer bar.

"Industrially, it means that we shall choose between our present efficiency and a return to our old saloon inefficiency. Financially, it means sound credit versus unsound

On Monday evening, November 5th, the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club has a most delightful evening's program in prospect. The Club meets in Emerson School building for its business meeting at 7:30, with Mrs. Robert McLaughlin, president, presiding. Mrs. Henry A. Sharott, chairman of the House Committee, will present a reader, Miss Elizabeth Nichols, Cary, and a violinist and whistler, Miss Eunice Allbright Scriven. Miss Cary, who is a graduate of the Leland Powers School, has met with unequalled success in her readings in many parts of the United States and Canada, and adds to this ability accomplishment as an accompanist. Miss Scriven entertains as violinist and whistler in charming selections.

Waban Woman's Club

The Waban Woman's Club will meet on Monday afternoon, November 5th, at the Neighborhood Club at 2:30 o'clock. After the business meeting the program of the afternoon, which is under the direction of the Music Committee, Mrs. Lewis A. Estes chairman, will be a Musical given by the following artists: Paul Shirley, Viola d'Amore; Marion Wise, Contralto; and Howard Goding, Piano. At the conclusion of the concert there will be a reception by the officers and directors to welcome especially the new members. Tea will be served.

On Wednesday, November 7th, at 10:30 a. m. in the vestry of the Union Church there will be a lecture on "Occupations for Women," with special reference to occupations for girls after graduating from high school and college. The speaker will be Miss Mary Tolman, director of the Vocational Department of the Woman's Educational and Industrial Union. The Education Committee of the Waban Woman's Club will welcome anyone interested in this lecture whether members of the Club or not. Tickets at 50 cents may be purchased at the door.

Auburndale Woman's Club

One of the greatly anticipated events of the Club year will take place at the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Thursday, November 8th, at 2:30 p. m., when Miss Gertrude Harhart, one of Boston's leading Sopranos, will sing. The Club members will also enjoy hearing Mr. Nicolas Slonimsky, a Russian Pianist, whose success as conductor, composer and performer, has been remarkable, ever since he came to this country, in 1923. It is felt that the Music Committee, of which Mrs. Dana Kendall is chairma, is most fortunate to have secured two such brilliant artists for its meeting.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL DIVISION. Tickets are now on sale by any member of the Business and Professional group for their Bridge Party, which is to be held on Monday, November 5th, at 8 p. m. in the Clubhouse auditorium. The Club is working very hard to make the Bridge a financial success, for the money is to be used to carry on the Christmas work for the Stone Institute and the Peabody Home for Crippled Children, which it began last year.

JUNIORS. On Wednesday, November 7th, the Junior group will hold a meeting at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. George F. Nudd, 367 Central street. Each member is planning to bring at least one girl not now belonging to the Club, and all Auburndale girls of High School age are cordially invited.

On November 5th, at the Unitarian Parish House, the American Home Department will hold a meeting at 2:30 p. m. Mr. Percy Thayer has been engaged to speak on the curiosity-provoking title "The Bridge of Life." Stereopticon views will be shown. All members of the Club are cordially invited to attend.

Classes are now being formed in rug-making and embroidery, and those who wish to join should speak to the chairman at the close of the meeting.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The Civics Committee has planned a most interesting afternoon of "Some Newton Activities" for the next meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, November 6th, at 2:30 p. m., in the Parish House of the Congregational Church.

Miss Edith W. Sabin, a social and industrial worker at the Saco Lowell Shops for the past ten years, who is now carrying on the same type of work in a private capacity, will speak on "Our Neighbors." Miss Bertha W. Allen, well-known to many as superintendent of the Newton Hospital and president of the State Nurses Association, will talk on matters pertaining to the Newton Hospital.

The Club is most fortunate in having two such splendid speakers. Club members are urged to remember to use their valuable privilege and go to the polls on November 6th, allowing time enough to mark their ballots intelligently. Members are reminded, intelligently, too, to come to the Club prepared to swell the Philanthropic Fund by buying tickets for their family friends for an evening at the Needham Theatre.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Clarence R. Skinner, professor of Applied Christianity at Tufts College, will speak at the first meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club on the subject "Ten Years Towards Peace."

Prof. Skinner spent the past summer in Europe, making a survey of political and economic conditions there and his lecture promises to be most interesting. The meeting is on November 6th, at the Methodist Church. Following the custom of previous years, Club members are urged to bring their annual contribution of jellies and old linens for the hospital.

Education Week is being observed in the schools from November 5th to 11th. Special programs will be in order and there will be an opportunity for people to inspect the work of the schools. Mrs. J. Walter Allen of the Education Committee is co-operating with Principal Bramend in making plans.

The Annual Play comes early this year and for weeks the Drama Committee has been busy at work. They are to present "The Torch Bearers" by George Kelly, a play full of laughter and keen satire. It had a long run in New York and was given at the Copley two years ago. The date is November 16th and the place is the Newton High School Auditorium.

The Social Science Club opens its year on Wednesday morning November 7th at 10 o'clock in the Hunnewell Club parlors, with the new president, Mrs. Henry I. Harriman presiding. After the business meeting, the Education Committee, Mrs. Joe W. Gerry, chairman, presents the speaker, Miss Annis M. Sturgis, School Psychologist, who will speak on her subject and her experiences therein.

State Federation

RADIO. Mrs. Leon E. White, radio director of the State Federation, will speak on the Quest of the Holy Grail last Wednesday afternoon and evening the 24th, at the Technical of Federation Headquarters, and of Federation Topics will be given by Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Mrs. Frank F. Bennett, Jr., and Miss Alice F. Titus and the chief address of the day will be made by Professor James J. Shotwell, director of the Carnegie Institute for International Peace.

Mrs. Charles L. Fuller, past president of the Brockton Woman's Club, will give impressions of the recent New England Conference, and two organizations will be presented as new members of the Federation:—Boston Home and School Association, by its president, Mrs. Nina M. Gezalt; and the East Freetown Woman's Club, by Mrs. Albert F. Edminster, president.

The Clubwomen will be welcomed by Hon. Fordis C. Parker, mayor of Springfield, Mrs. William G. Dwight, president of the Hampden County Woman's Club, Mrs. Edward T. Broadhurst, president of the Springfield Woman's Club, Miss Eunice B. Burbank, president of the Springfield Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. P. M. Lynch, director of the Fourteenth District.

A train for Springfield leaves the South Station at 7 a. m. and ten trip tickets can be obtained which will materially reduce the fare. Mrs. Ernest R. Brackett, Transportation chairman, will be glad to arrange for this, as well as for Pullman cars which will be provided as far as desired.

Clubwomen who desire Luncheon tickets should send at once $1.10 and self-addressed, stamped envelope to Mrs. John B. Shaw, 29 Grenada terrace, Springfield—not later than Saturday, November 10th.

Newton Community Club

At the next meeting of the Newton Community Club which takes place at the usual time—2:30 o'clock in the same place—Underwood School Hall.

Mr. Oliver Ricketson, Jr., will give an illustrated lecture on his "Recent Excavations in Yucatan." The Club plans a somewhat gay day in having as guests of honor Mrs. Horace B. Gale of Natick, the new director of the Twelfth District, and Mrs. Peter Russell, their own member who is president of the Newton Federation. Tea will be served. Mr. Ricketson is a graduate of Harvard University, is at present associated with the Department of Middle American Research of the Carnegie Institute, and his pictures of the amazing relics of a former civilization in Yucatan and Guatemala which are being unearthed are most fascinating.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Grace Morrison Poole comes before fortunate members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club who are following that ever popular method of keeping abreast of the times and of world affairs at a minimum of hours expended from busy days—a lecture on Current Events—on Thursday, November 8th, at 10:30 a. m. in the Club House.

A Class in the making of shawls will be conducted by Madam Columbia Di Persio beginning November 5th, at 10:30 o'clock, at the Club House. Mrs. Frank A. Campbell, chairman of the American Home Department, has arranged this fascinating Course of six lessons at $4.50 for the Course, and Mrs. J. M. Duthie, one of the Committee, is in immediate charge of arrangements. Those desirous should telephone her, C. N. 2214-W.

MISS ALICE D. LOVELAND

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Loveland of Newton of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice Durell Loveland, to David Whiting, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Whiting of Winton, N. H. A dinner party Friday evening at the Loveland home, 29 Ruthven road, Newton, was made the occasion for announcing the engagement, which was an entire surprise to the guests.

Miss Loveland came out two seasons ago. Miss Loveland is a graduate of the Winsor School and afterward studied in Florence, Italy. The family spends a large part of each year at their place in Chatham, Cape Cod, where Miss Loveland has become expert in sailing a boat.

Mr. Whiting is a Harvard man of the class of 1926 and is a member of the Pi Eta. No time has been announced regarding the wedding.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Loveland and Miss Loveland were "at home" and entertained informally some of their friends at tea, in honor of the engagement and its announcement.

MISS RUTH PLUMMER

Among engagements just made known is that of Miss Ruth Plummer, daughter of Mrs. John D. Plummer of Boston and the late Mr. Plummer of Springfield, to Donald D. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Reynolds of Newton Highlands.

Miss Plummer is a graduate of Dana Hall in Wellesley and has studied at Mills College, California, and also at Wellesley, and has taken special courses in Paris.

Mr. Reynolds is a graduate of Harvard, with the class of 1926, and after a year of post-graduate work he travelled abroad. He is now in business in Boston. Mrs. Plummer announced the engagement at a luncheon on Friday, given at her home.

MISS MARY WOODCOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Woodcock of 339 Walnut street, Newtonville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Woodcock, to Melvin Head Partridge, son of Frank E. Partridge of New Rochelle, N. Y. Miss Woodcock attended Cushing Academy in Ashburnham and Simmons College.

Mr. Partridge is a graduate of Cushing Academy and of Dartmouth College, class of '27 and is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. In his senior year in college he was captain of the tennis team and also intercollegiate tennis champion. He is a member of the New York Athletic Club.

A dinner was given on Friday evening at the home of Miss Woodcock for a group of her college friends and those of Mr. Partridge, and the guests, numbering about a score, were informed of the engagement.

The Mather Class

Prof. Mather Finishes First Series of Four Lectures

Last Sunday Prof. Kirtley F. Mather gave the concluding lecture in the first series of the season which he is delivering before the Mather Class at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House.

At the outset he took occasion to clear up some misunderstanding about the class. Everybody, who likes to come, is welcome. There are no age limits. It is sponsored by the Baptist Church but is not restricted to Baptists. It is open to the whole community. There is regular and associate membership. The only difference is that the associate members are those who, because of teaching appointments, or other reason, cannot be present Sunday morning. They carry everything else. On the first Sunday after the first Wednesday of each month there is a Round Table. The first one will be Nov. 11, at Prof. Mather's home. The Class Party comes the third Wednesday of each month. The next one will be Nov. 21.

This series of talks deals with the nature of Nature. Some think that the administration of the universe is antagonistic to man. Some say it is favorable, and others think it is indifferent.

There is no absolute standard by which to evaluate nature or natural laws. We cannot get outside of ourselves. All that we know is filtered through our own minds and colored by the tint of our own eyes. Man can make a satisfactory interpretation of nature by using the test of utility. It works. Science accomplishes things on that assumption.

As time goes on, we should dream of a greater and greater God, but our dreams should be reasonable and rest securely on a rock foundation, even though in our speculations we have to go out beyond the territory of definite, proved fact.

The old idea that the world was made for man is inaccurate. Man was made for the world and was adapted to the physical conditions of the world. Living creatures have been molded into conformity with actual conditions. Man has learned how to live in accordance with the universe until now he has supremacy. He utilizes the contributions of other animals, but he is no longer in competition with the animals. To be sure, we still apparently compete with the insect world, particularly the bacteria. We have not completely subdued them, but we know how to do, or can find out if we so desire; and when enough human beings want to conquer any bacteria, it is possible, as is shown by the elimination of malaria and yellow fever from many places in the world.

Man has physical capabilities, a trained mind, a developed intellect, and moral and spiritual powers, by virtue of all of which he has won through to his present position, and he gets a response in the universe outside of him. You can't explain man without the forces which have permitted and directed him, for man alone is but an inadequate and temporary creature.

Man is a little lower than the angels. He finds a response in the universe to that spiritual fire within him which sends him forth to conquer the world and all that's in it. The opportunity is open to many but is seized by the few.

Nature is characterized by opportunity, not determinism. Heredity and environment set limits for us all, but there is opportunity within the limitations. We cannot go outside the circle circumscribed about us. No one can jump naked, from a high peak and expect to sprout wings before he strikes bottom. Heredity and gravity set definite limits to what we can do. There was no one-toed horse from a five-toed horse. There had to be a three-toed horse in between. But who fills the circle of his life to the full? There is room for the individual to make something of his life within his limitations.

Nature leaves it to us to decide. Physical realities are indifferent to man. Whether or not the spiritual realities are indifferent to man must be left to the experience of the individual. The indifference of nature is good for man. It would be very bad if any extraneous occurrence could upset the uniform operation of natural laws. God does not pluck a few individual brands from the burning and put them over in the good place when told that the beneficiaries are ready for that to happen. God is no nursemaid to shelter man from his follies and mistakes. God gives man the strength of mind and heart and soul, as well as the potential abilities to improve his life.

The nature of Nature is:

- Opportunity.
- Responsibility on man.
- Ability to meet the opportunity and live up to the responsibility.
- Then Nature goes off and leaves man to his fate. The door is open but he is not forced to enter. The decision is all on him. Nature is looking on to see whether or not man will be good.

Prof. Mather said that he was sorry for the man who thinks that that sort of a God is no better than no God at all.

Atheism is made by making up your mind as to what sort of God you want, then trying to find Him, and not succeeding. Some think that God is in direct and immediate control of everything. This causes trouble.

In the discussion the question of child training was raised. An 8-year-old thinks God is doing everything, putting the stars in the sky, and sending rain and sunshine. Prof. Mather said that it was not disastrous for a child to think that way, for the race believed the same thing when it was eight years old. The same transition comes to the child that came to the race. The responsibility is on the parents, when the child is 12 to 15 years old, to make certain that the inevitable transition is a correct one. In the normal course of mental development, the child will come out all right. Never poke fun at the child who has a child-like belief in God. Help him steadily to dream for his

Mrs. Mason's Pension Discussed By Members Of City Government

Alderman Collins States That The Matter Cannot Be Re-Opened Under The New Pension Act

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night, Alderman Collins, chairman of the Finance Committee, referring to a petition which had been received asking the aldermen to make an effort to obtain a more liberal pension for Mrs. Ella Mason, retired police matron, stated that there is a misunderstanding among the aldermen regarding this matter. The petition asked the Aldermen to reopen this case. Mr. Collins explained that while the Board is in sympathy with the petition, it cannot reopen this matter as the pension was granted under an act of the Legislature. Her pension, explained Mr. Collins, is determined by the Pension Board, and up to the present time the Pension Board does not know what her pension will be because of its inability to procure information about Mrs. Mason's wages during the earlier years of her employment by the Police Department. She has not filed the figures showing what she received. Mr. Collins explained that under the provisions of the Pension Act for Newton's employees, $300 yearly is the minimum fixed and this is the basis on which Mrs. Mason's pension has been paid pending further information.

Alderman Powers stated that before the Board of Aldermen accepted the Pension Act he had inquired what pension Mrs. Mason would receive and he had been informed that the amount would be $600 yearly. The Ward 1 member remarked that he feels confident that the Chairman of the Finance Committee, when he gave this estimate, sincerely believed this figure to be correct. Alderman Powers gave the information that during the earlier years of her employment as Police Matron, Mrs. Mason did not receive a regular salary, but was paid according to the time she gave. From 1904 until 1916 she was paid at the rate of $1 per day. During succeeding years her salary was gradually increased until 1927 when she was given $150. He said that he quoted these figures to refute the criticism made by some that "Mrs. Mason should have been able to save money during the years she held the position." The Ward 1 alderman referred to the contention which has been made that "Mrs. Mason made application for a pension last January before the Pension Act was passed by the city of Newton, and that had she received a pension then, she would have been awarded more than she now receives."

Alderman Collins replied that he had not stated specifically that "Mrs. Mason would receive $600, but had given this amount as a rough estimate." He explained that one matter which works against Mrs. Mason receiving a larger pension is the fact that she was over the retirement age specified in the Pension Act during the last 10 years of her employment as police matron, these being the years during which her salary was appreciably increased. He stated that until the Contingent Pension Act was accepted by the city, Mrs. Mason was not eligible for a pension and so could not have been given one when she applied the first of the year, as the ruling was made that she was not a member of the Police Department.

Alderman Noon asked if the fact that Mrs. Mason resided at Police Headquarters was taken into consideration in determining the amount of her pension—being quarters at the police building having been part of her allowance? Mr. Collins answered that this fact had not been mentioned in the Pension Act, it was a matter for the City Solicitor.

Alderman Heathcote remarked that the advertising resulting from Mrs. Mason's pension was not to the advantage of the Aldermen. He had asked Mrs. Mason to obtain the figures showing her wages from 1894 to 1903 but that these figures could not be obtained as the police records for those years does not give them. He stated that it has been the wish of the Finance Committee of the Aldermen to grant Mrs. Mason an adequate pension, but the aldermen have been unable to pension her on a half salary basis as are policemen, because the City Solicitor has ruled that she was not employed on a Civil Service basis.

Alderman Gallagher agreed with Mr. Heathcote and asserted that Mrs. Mason should be helped by the city. He commented that the present situation has caused severe criticism of the Aldermen. The referenda attracted considerable interest. Sunday sports were approved by a vote of 13,695 in favor to 11,131 opposed. West Newton hill, the south side of Auburndale, Newton Highlands and Waban and one precinct each in Newton Centre and Ward 7, were the only parts of the city in opposition. 3972 voters failed to act on this matter.

Ninety-Six Per Cent Vote Gives Hoover Large Lead. Sunday Sports Favored And Prohibition Endorsed By Narrow Margin

Newton has never experienced such an election as that held on Tuesday. The utmost activity was manifested by both the Republican and Democratic committees all over the city augmented by plenty of volunteers. This work brought out the largest vote and the largest percentage of the vote to the registered list that was ever witnessed. 4293 voters were not recorded.

The vote for president in the Mt. Ida precinct was remarkably close, Hoover receiving 950 and Smith 951.

A sad incident of the day was the death of Mrs. Ella N. Marshall, who died from heart disease while inside the rail at Precinct 1 of Ward 7. Mrs. Marshall had received her ballot and was about to mark it, when she collapsed and died within a few minutes. Medical Examiner George L. West said that death was due to heart disease.

The voting began early and by 10 o'clock fully a third of the registered voters had cast their ballots.

The Boy Scouts were present at each voting precinct and rendered courteous and efficient service in directing the voters to the right voting place.

The returns were quite late in reaching City Hall although the vote for presidential election was canvassed first and telephoned to the City Clerk.

A table is printed elsewhere in this issue giving the vote by precincts for the principal offices.

The vote for other offices was as follows:

Two Gas Filling Stations Opposed By Many Residents Of Newtonville

Lively Hearing at City Hall on Applications For Filling Stations On Walnut Street

A large delegation of Newtonville residents was present at City Hall on Monday night to protest against the petition of Horace W. Orr for a filling station at 241 Walnut street, and Lillian P. Quinlan for a filling station at 244 Walnut street. The two locations are directly opposite each other on Walnut street.

James P. Gallagher, appearing for Horace W. Orr, stated that the locus is in a business zone and the proposed station will be so attractive that it will offer no offence to value rents in it have increased 20%. He contended that the matter of causing a small decrease in the amount of parking space nearby is not of great import. He asserted that most of the opposition had been worked up by Mr. Turchon who sent out numerous letters to residents of the neighborhood. Mr. Hayden argued that while it is unfortunate that the Central Congregational Church is located in the path of a growing business district, the Newtonville Methodist Church erected a costly new building in the heart of the business district there, with the railroad station directly alongside, in a much more noisy location than any gasoline station. He called attention to the fact that Mr. Orr owns much property nearby and is a heavy tax payer.

Mr. Peter Turchon, owner of the Colonna Apartments, located opposite the site of the station asked for by Mr. Orr, lead the opposition against the granting of the petition. He stated that the occupants of the 28 apartments in the building oppose having a gasoline station across the street because of the noise and odors it will cause, because of traffic hazards it will produce and because of the diminished parking space it will bring about. He argued that there are already too many gasoline stations in Newtonville, and that the increased traffic while gasoline stations at the location asked for will bring, will endanger the safety of the hundreds of school children who travel along Walnut street daily going to and from the High and Day Junior High Schools.

Albert M. Lyon of 567 Walnut street, representing the Central Congregational Church, objected against the granting of the petition. He stated that the church organization believes the character of the neighborhood should be retained as residential and that the present parking areas on Walnut street should not be lessened. He contended that there is traffic congestion now on Walnut street between the church and Washington street and to allow filling stations will add to this traffic.

"CHARITY" AND OVERHEAD EXPENSE

Why does such a large percentage of the expenditures of the Newton Welfare Bureau go towards administrative expense and not Relief? is the question which was considered at the November Board Meeting of the Welfare Bureau on this week Wednesday, November 7. Miss Ruth Chapin, the Secretary of the Bureau, cited many instances in which the services of the Bureau were required but for which no money relief was expended. In fact, the majority of its cases is this type.

Runaway children, ne'er do well relatives of Newton families who find themselves stranded in any part of the United States are referred to the Bureau, and although no money is spent in such cases they require expenditure of time and effort. Trying to secure the right care for feeble-minded children and psychopathic people takes many hours of work and yet no "relief" is needed.

Miss Chapin cited two instances in which during three weeks' time no money was spent but in one case, 25 telephone and 6 personal calls were necessary and in the other, 14 personal and 30 telephone calls were made.

During the month of October, 31 Newton families were given financial assistance, whereas 77 were given other service only. During the year

MEDFORD POWER DEFEATS NEWTON

Medford had too much power for Newton high last Saturday afternoon, pounding out thirteen first downs to six for Newton to win 12 to 9. Plays by the orange and black led indirectly to both of Medford's touchdowns. Shortly after the game had begun, Mullen allowed a Medford punt to roll, thinking it was going over the goal line, but a Medford end fell on the ball on the four yard line and placing Newton on the defensive at once. Mullen's kick from behind the goal was well-placed but much too short and Medford had the ball on Newton's 25-yard line. It took the Medford backs but a half dozen plays to put the ball over. Medford's second score came midway of the final period after a high punt had slipped through Mullen's arms and had been recovered by Andrews of Medford on Newton's 35-yard mark. Newton fought gamely but was steadily pushed back to their two-yard line. Uanna and Wilder plunged away but could not gain as the orange and black stiffened. Overrunnness proved their undoing as on fourth down the Newton line was offside. This gave Medford a first down less than two feet from the goal and Wilder plunged over.

The rain and wet footing made it impossible for the backfield players of both teams to get in many long runs and it undoubtedly kept Newton from scoring. Scheinfain recovered a Medford fumble in the third period and had a clear field but slipped and fell.

First Period

Medford won the toss and Andrews kicked off to Captain Griffin of Medford on his 25-yard line. Griffin ran it back to the 33-yard line where Chamberlain brought him down. Uanna and Wilder went through the Newton line for a first down in two rushes. Uanna made two yards and Spellman gained six yards. Wright was stopped on the 25-yard line. NEWTON BUSINESS ASSOCIATES

A drive is now on for new members in order to make the Newton Business Associates one of the liveliest organizations in Newton. The aim is to make every business man and every clerk in Newton Corner, an active and boosting member. It is only by enlisting all of the business men that the aims of the organization will be accomplished.

Dues have been reduced to $15.00 per year which will include eight free dinners at the regular meetings. An interesting speaker will be procured for each meeting.

This association has been instrumental in the regulation of traffic through Nonantum Square, also in the parking rules. A new traffic tower is to be installed in the very near future; also plans for the relighting of the whole business section are well under way, and it will not be very long until Newton Corner will be one of the best lighted sections of Newton.

Two teams have been formed and are starting the drive and it is hoped that every business man who does not now belong to the association, will enroll as it surely will not be a benefit to him as an individual but to all of the business men of Newton Corner.

An effort is to be made to form a Women's Department among the many fair sex who are in business in Newton Corner. Considerable interest has been shown to date and it is hoped in the near future to have a well organized department.

The next regular meeting will be held at the Hunnewell Club Thursday evening, November 15th.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION

A Civil service examination for candidates for the position of supervising engineer for the School Department will be held on Nov. 22. The position will pay a salary of $3000 a year and is open to applicants having a first class engineer's license.

GIRL SCOUTS

On Wednesday, November 7th, Mr. Bruce, the Boy Scout Executive, took four Eagle Scouts up to Camp Mary Day. They were accompanied by the Nobscoot Rangers, and were planning to take in our boats and float for the winter. The wind, however, proved too strong and they will try again Saturday. We appreciate their co-operation.

A course in Red Cross Life Saving will be given at St. Agnes Pool, Newton, beginning Friday, November 16th. There will be ten lessons in Life Saving and the girls may obtain not only the Red Cross emblem, but also the Swimmer's Merit Badge. Mrs. Warren, the Newton Field Captain, will give the course.

Mrs. Warren's troop in Waban will give a demonstration of a model troop meeting Thursday at Cedar Hill at a Conference of the Eastern Division Council and Community Committee. At their last meeting Troop 14 had a heated debate, in connection with their work on the Citizen Merit Badge, on Smith and Hoover. Hoover won but the Smith supporters put up some very good arguments. Anita Lamb of Waban was invested as a Tenderfoot at this meeting.

Troop 10 is having two Merit Badge courses, one in Citizen given by the Boy Scout Master, Mr. Sloane, and one in Home Maker given by Mrs. Depuis.

Mary Carrick, Troop 21, the Senior Troop in Newton Highlands, was inducted as a First Class Scout by the Director, Miss Freeman, last week.

Mrs. Angier attended this meeting and gave a very interesting and inspiring talk on the Red Cross, which has its Roll Call next week. The Girl Scouts will, as usual, put up the posters for this on Saturday, November 10th.

Mrs. Heuston, of the Newton Hospital, is giving the Home Hygiene Course to Troop 15, West Newton.

First Class tests to be given at the office have been postponed till next Wednesday, November 14th at 2:30 P. M.

Mrs. Warren will start a Training Course in Waban this Thursday; this village had an exceptionally good group in the course given there last winter and the knowledge gained by mothers and friends of Scouts in that course has meant much to the Girl Scout work there.

IN THE JUNGLE

Mr. Garver Wells delivered a most entertaining and enjoyable illustrated lecture in the Parish House of the Second Church on last Sunday evening, November 4, selecting for his subject, "My Six Years in the Jungles of Malaya." Mr. Wells kept his audience in a spirit of mirth and good nature from the moment of his introduction and the outbursts of genuine laughter were so frequent that the echoes of one faded just in time for the next. Mr. Wells first described his life in "The Jungles" as an engineer sent by the government to survey for the first railroad in that section of the country and later showed the pictures on the screen of his railroad complete with the train and engine in action.

Mr. Wells has been quoted as being a genius at "Making a truth sound like a lie," and the first part of his lecture bore out the statement, when he told about "Fish climbing trees" and later put upon the screen, the fish with most unusual fins, which enabled them to easily climb any tree. The taming of wild elephants and the herds of them which the king has collected for his own amusement, the various apes and monkeys, were to those unfamiliar to jungle life somewhat surprising. The temperature of Malaya which is always 80 degrees at night and 82 degrees in the day time, seemed quite liveable until the speaker announced that in the sun, the temperature was 160. The vivid colorings in Mr. Wells' pictures were most unusual and beautiful, with the houses up on "stilts" with perfectly dry land around them, with boats tied to the front doors; while a picture taken two hours later, after one of the speakers had been to the beach, showed the boats tied to the front doors.

During the month of October 471 patients, including 325 regular, and 146 out-patient and x-ray, were admitted to the hospital. 318 were discharged. The largest number for any one twenty-four hours was 135, and the smallest 104. The daily average for the month was 120.39. 52 babies were born, 5 girls and 3 boys. 107 patients were treated by the out-patient department and 11 in the eye clinic. 3 social service calls were made in the homes and 11 patients were transferred by the social service car.

Those who helped in the Surgical Supply Room during the month of October were: Miss Mary Howard, Franklin street, Holliston; Mrs. Amanda Shelton, 1662 Commonwealth Avenue, West Newton; Mrs. C. E. A. Peck, 266 Melrose street, Auburndale; Mrs. M. L. Wade, 266 Melrose street, Auburndale; and Mrs. E. S. Rhind, 264 Upland road, Newtonville. We are grateful to all of them for their services.

On Monday, November 5, the School of Nursing Committee held its regular monthly meeting at the Hospital.

On Wednesday evening, November 7, at the Woodland Golf Club, the Newton Nurses Alumnae Association held their annual banquet. Among the guests of honor were: Miss Mary M. State Nurses Association, Mr. Charles E. Kelsey, President of the Board of Trustees, and Dr. George L. West, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Medical Staff.

On Saturday and Sunday several of the Administrative Staff, also Doctors, visited the Framingham-Union Hospital at the opening of the new wing.

EDITORIAL

It is most humiliating for Massachusetts Republicans to realize that while the entire country recognized the pre-eminence of Mr. Hoover for the great office of president, this state allied its efforts with the least progressive states in the union, and its 18 electoral votes will be cast for the opposition candidate. It is a matter of deep regret that this extraordinary result was probably brought about by the so-called "wet" Republicans who had not the brains or the breadth of vision to realize that a vote for Governor Smith on the prohibition issue was a vote in favor of a most improbable result. In this connection let us observe that the referendum vote to instruct our state senator to vote for a memorial to Congress to repeal the 18th amendment is another futile attempt of the "wets" as such a memorial would be promptly and permanently pigeon holed at Washington. Altogether the "wet" Republicans have put the party in a situation where we are the laughing stock of the whole country.

The contractors erecting the new bank building at the corner of Centre and Elmwood streets at Newton have absolutely no regard for the convenience of the public at that point. The proper officials should see that pedestrians are protected and not obliged to walk in the middle of the street.

Newton did a good piece of work in polling 96% of the registered vote last Tuesday. The lame old and the blind were brought to the polls by both Republican and Democratic voters and while we do not view the result with equanimity we do realize that it is the choice of the majority that in the slang of the day "that's that."

Newton ought to have done better in casting a negative vote on the referendum to instruct the state senator to favor the repeal of the 18th amendment. Possibly the feeling that any action on this matter was useless may have been a factor in the result.

While we opposed making Armistice Day a legal holiday, now that it is a legal holiday it is entitled to as much consideration and observance as any other legal holiday. We fail to understand the attitude of those who intend to keep right on in business next Monday.

While we do not intend to brag about it, we cannot help mentioning the fact that we told Mr. Hoover when he was in Newtonville that he would receive 18,000 votes in this city. He actually received 18,074.

FIRE RECORD

Wednesday night members of Engine 3 and Engine 9 were kept busy extinguishing brush fires at Chestnut Hill on the Lowell and R. M. Saltonstall estates. The fires are supposed to have been started by young men.

PROCLAMATION

Armistice Day will be observed as a legal holiday for the first time in Massachusetts this year.

It marks the ending of the most destructive war in history. It is also the opening day for the annual Red Cross Roll Call.

The Red Cross is a constructive agency at work in the world, ready at all times to hear the call of distress and prepared to respond to that call instantly. Expansion of activities and heavy demands for disaster relief require an enlarged membership.

I urge every man, woman and child to share in this great service to humanity by joining the Newton Chapter.

EDWIN O. CHILDS, Mayor

THE CIVIC CLUB

A club of a most unusual nature is the Civic Club of Newton. It was organized over 25 years ago on the suggestion of Hon. John W. Weeks, then mayor of Newton and member of the city government. It now serves as an annual reunion of former members of the city government and gives an opportunity for present members of the aldermen and school committee to meet with former members.

The annual meeting of the club was held at the Brae Burn Country Club on Wednesday evening with ex-Alderman Henry I. Harriman, president. Music was furnished by pupils of the New England Conservatory of Music while an excellent duck dinner was being served.

Mayor Childs was the first speaker and told of the splendid work done by the principal guest, Hon. Ralph S. Bauer of Lynn. Mayor Bauer was given a hearty reception and gave an interesting account of the difficulties he had experienced in cleaning up the city government of Lynn. By requiring a full day's work for a day's pay in the Street and other departments, over $800,000 had been saved in one year. Graft in the Poor Department had been unearthed and over $100,000 saved annually. Mr. Bauer predicted that the European plan of a working business manager was the only plan which would give the greatest possible service at the least expense.

Mr. Joseph B. Jamieson was elected president; Senator Arthur W. Hollis, representative; William B. Baker and Alderman Walter E. C. Worth were elected executive committee, and J. C. Brimblecom, secretary-treasurer.

A very interesting straw vote was taken at the Newton Hospital Monday afternoon on the eve of the coming election. Five booths were set up in the recreation room in the nurses home and the election was carried out in so far as possible according to legal procedures.
--

Clerks, instructors, a realistic ballot box and even a uniformed officer all helped to make the room look like a regular polling place. All nurses and employees of the hospital were allowed to vote, regardless of age or nationality and 123 cast their ballots.

The student nurses who acted as clerks and tellers were Miss Seely, Miss Twombly, Miss Canfield, Miss Hill, Miss Ritchie, Miss Rowe, Miss Connors, Miss Queen.

The ballot and manner of voting was explained to the student nurses and only two votes were thrown out because of mistakes.

A count showed the following results:

President and Vice-President, Hoyer and Curtis, 101; Smith and Robinson, 20, Governor, Frank G. Allen, 103; Charles H. Cole, 15. Lieutenant Governor, William S. Youngman, 95; John F. Malley, 17, U. S. Senator, Benjamin Loring Young, 83; David L. Walsh, 24, Sunday Sports Law, No. 53; Yes, 17. Public Policy regarding Volstead Act, No. 50; Yes, 16.

RED CROSS

Mr. Henry M. Baker, Director of Disaster Relief of the American National Red Cross will be present at a meeting of local Disaster Committees to be held at the Brae Burn Country Club on Monday, November 12th at 8 p.m. As Mr. Baker has recently returned from Porto Rico he will also tell of the work done there by the Red Cross organization. Any one interested is cordially invited.

SCHOOL NOTES

F. A. DAY JUNIOR HIGH

Exciting things have been happening at F. A. Day during the last week. We began our social activities last Friday, when we had as our guests, representatives from fifteen junior high schools of Greater Boston. These young people came together with us at the first meeting of the year, of the Eastern Massachusetts League of Junior High School Publications. The afternoon meeting was taken up with the business of the League, addresses by the students and general discussion.

On Wednesday morning the school heard an interesting talk by Mr. L. A. Bruce, Jr., leader of the Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts of the city of Newton, sent by the American Legion, Mr. Bruce's talk related to Aristocratic Day. The business of the day was a movie, "West Point," starring William Haines, which was shown in the Auditorium at 2:15 p. m. on Tuesday afternoon. Over five hundred pupils enjoyed the program.

The next event on our social calendar was a movie, "West Point," starring William Haines, which was shown in the Auditorium at 2:15 p. m. on Tuesday afternoon. Over five hundred pupils enjoyed the program.

On Wednesday morning the school heard an interesting talk by Mr. L. A. Bruce, Jr., leader of the Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts of the city of Newton, sent by the American Legion, Mr. Bruce's talk related to Aristocratic Day.

Following the address, the play, given last Friday night for the League of Junior High School Publications, was repeated and heartily appreciated by the pupils.

Following is the cast of The Happy Man: Marian Crumley, Mary Heath, Margaret Davy, Gordon Yarlett, Ralph Morrison, Joseph Pescosolido, James McCarthy, Leslie Barton, Eleanor Sullivan, Herbert LeBlanc, Margaret Walden and Robert Bankart. Miss Bertha Hackett directed the production.

One more event which we are looking forward to this week, is to take place this coming Friday. In accordance with National Education Week, Nov. 5-11, the F. A. Day Junior High School will hold "Open House" on Nov. 9th from 4 to 8 P. M. We will begin school at 4 o'clock p. m. in the day's program for the benefit of the parents who do not have the opportunity to visit us during the regular school hours. We urge all the parents to come, to visit classes, to meet teachers and even to have dinner with us in the lunch room at 6:30 P. M. We are planning our work for Friday with a great deal of pleasure.

The results of the ninth grade elections are as follows: President, Gordon Yarlett; vice president, Mary Chambers; Secretary, Barbara Kilian; Treasurer, Alma Warner.

WARREN JUNIOR HIGH

One of the most impressive assemblies of the year took place Wednesday morning. The officers of the Warren School Community were installed by the principal, Mr. Scarborough. There were many guests present including Mayor Childs, Miss Richmond and Miss Wilder, former Warren teachers and many of last year's pupils. The new officers entered the assembly hall from both sides. One group was led by a girl scout carrying the national flag. The other group was led by a girl scout carrying the state flag. All the officers sat on the platform.

George Hildreth, the last president of Warren Junior High, gave his charge to the new president, Stuart DeBard. Mr. Scarborough then installed the new president who responded with an inspiring installation speech. Helen Ellis and James McAdams, president of the girls' and boys' safety patrols respectively, took the oath of office with their patrols. Other officers of the student council took the oath of office.

Mayor Childs spoke to the student body on the subject of co-operation. The Governor's Proclamation on Safety was read by Kathryn Murphy.

STEARNS SCHOOL

A special Parents' Day in connection with the National Educational Week was held by Stearns School on Wednesday, Nov. 7th. In the morning from 10 to 11 o'clock the Kindergarten played hosts to a good number of parents and friends. A program of singing, games and folk dances was given followed by a social period during which refreshments were served and conferences held between teachers and parents. During this time the children were entertained by Story telling in the Assembly Hall.

For the rest of the Classes in the Stearns and Elliot buildings an invitation was extended to the mothers to visit all during the afternoon. From 1:30 to 2:30 regular class work was carried on to allow the guests to observe their children at work. From 2:30 to 3:30 a program was given in the Assembly Hall before a fair audience of parents. The following numbers were given: 1, Welcome, by

Mr. Winslow; 2, Grade VI Chorus, "Harvest Song"; 3, Movie Reel, "Lassie," through the courtesy of the New England Dairy Ass'n; 4, Flag Drill, by Grade IV, Mrs. Goddard's room; 5, Scout Demonstration, by a detail of boys from Troop No. 3, Boy Scouts of America. The following boys under the direction of Louis Sabetti, Senior Patrol Leader, formed the group of Scouts: Fred Roy, Michael Piantedosi, Paul DiAngelo, John Cormier, Earle Henry, Edward Sullivan, George Santillo, Neilson Boudrot, Louis Visco and John Desimone; 6, Dancing with harmonica accompaniment, by Paul and Wendell Palimans; 7, America, by the entire assembly. At the conclusion of the program light refreshments were served in the Kindergarten by a committee of teachers with the assistance of Miss Emily Reed and some of the older girls of the school.

Stearns School was officially visited on Wednesday by the following members of the School Committee: Mrs. Hutchinson, Messrs. Church, Calkins and Tracy. They were accompanied by Secretary George Kellar.

LASELL SEMINARY

On Monday last 150 Lassell students spent the day at Salem and Marblehead, visiting the historic and literary shrines of those famous old towns. On Sunday, November 4, the vesper service will be addressed by the Rev. Dr. Stanley Ross Fisher, pastor of the Congregational Church at Wellesley.

ALDERMEN MEET

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held on Monday night. For the first time in months gasoline filling stations took up the major part of the meeting and attracted a considerable gathering of citizens to the aldermanic chamber. The two hearings on petitions for filling station permits which brought numerous remonstrants to the meeting were those of Horace W. Orr for a station at 244 Walnut street, Newtonville, and Lillian P. Quinlan for a station at 244 Walnut street, Newtonville. These hearings are referred to in another part of the paper.

Other petitions for gasoline stations which were given hearings at the meeting Monday night were those of Michael L. Barry for a station on Boylston street, Chestnut Hill on property formerly owned by the Boston Ice Company; John McDonald for a station at 217 California street, Nonantum, Louis Andrews for an increase in capacity from 500 to 1,500 gallons at his station, 1124 Chestnut street, Upper Falls; George Prince for a station at the rear of 63 Lexington street, West Newton, in connection with a garage and repair shop. This is part of the Gorgone property where the fatal explosion occurred last January.

Edmund McDonald appeared to favor the petition for the station at 217 California street. He explained that this location is in a manufacturing district, there are no churches or schools nearby, the station property will have a frontage of 75 feet and a depth of 48 feet. No persons appeared to favor or oppose the other petitions.

Another petition listed for a hearing on the docket was that of James Vassell for a permit to conduct a dry cleaning business at the rear of 418 Watertown street, Nonantum, and to use gasoline in connection therewith; Charles Scipione of 146 Walnut street gave notice that he desired to appear before the Franchise and Licenses committee in regard to this petition. Ernest Woodworth petitioned for a permit to conduct an automobile repair shop at the rear of 300 Washington street, Newton, G. R. Baxter for a 3 car garage at 851 Beacon street, Newton Centre, J. H. Turner for a 3 car garage at 42 Maple street, Auburndale, Esther McHugh for a 3 car garage at 255 Cherry street, West Newton. Irving Paul asked for a permit to erect a 6 car garage in the coal yard of the Luther Paul Company at 31 Paul street, Newton Centre. He said the garage is needed to house trucks which are now kept outdoors.

Hearings were announced on petitions for sewers in Linwood avenue and Valentine park, for the widening of the northeasterly side of Elm street between Washington and Webster streets, West Newton, and for the laying out and acceptance of Whitney road, Newtonville. The Claims and Rules Committee reported recommending leave to withdraw on the claims against the city entered by Mrs. F. O. Harrell of Newtonville for damage to clothing caused by tar on a public highway, Mary E. Soden for damage to her automobile caused by a collision with the Library truck, E. C. Bliss formerly of Jackson road on account of the illness of his wife caused by gas escaping as a result of sewer work on that street.

Alderman Collins had the rules suspended to permit the appropriation of $150 to defray expenses incurred last Memorial Day. Alderman Earle of the special committee to consider a memorial to those who served in the World War reported that the committee had conferred with the City Solicitor regarding the sign board on the triangle at Homer street and Commonwealth avenue, where it is proposed to place the memorial, and regarding the borrowing of money by the city to erect the memorial. He stated that the committee will, in the near future bring in a detailed report. Alderman Collins had the rules suspended to allow the appropriation of $1957 for sewer house connections.

Alderman Ball asked that a traffic signal be placed at the corner of Woodward and Boylston streets, Newton Highlands, near where a fatal accident occurred recently, and where a signal was supposed to have been installed last fall. Chairman Grebenstein of the Traffic Committee promised to take action on this matter. Alderman Tempier asked that traffic signals be placed at the corner of Elliot and Boylston streets, and the intersection of Boylston and Chestnut streets in the Upper Falls district to lessen speeding at these points. Alderman Heathcote asked for a street light near the station of Truck 1 at Newtonville. Alderman Earle of the Public Works Committee explained that the signals have been ordered but that they cannot be installed until an inspector from the State Department of Public Works approves of the various locations. Alderman Grebenstein stated that all these lights will be installed within 3 weeks.

Chairman Hawkins of the Franchise and Licenses Committee recommended the granting of these petitions — Russell McDonald for change in location of a garage at 51 Carolina street, Luther Paul Company permit for a 6 car garage on Paul street, Esther McHugh, 3 car garage at 255 Cherry street. The Board voted to accept the recommendations.

Communications from Mayor Childs included permission to raze the old police station at Newton Corner to make room for the new fire station; $200 for office expenses and $250 for the miscellaneous account of his office; $79,000 for the new fire station at Centre avenue and Washington street.

A communication was received from the Health Department requesting the aldermen for an appropriation to increase the salary of the Sanitary Inspector; from Mrs. Alice M. Oitis and others asking that the Board take some action to assist Mrs. Ella Mason who was retrained on a pension insufficient to meet her needs; from B. L. Gorlinski asking transportation for children attending the John Ward School at Chestnut Hill.

CONSTANT EXPANSION
—to serve Chevrolet owners better

SINCE January 1st more than a million new Chevrolets have been delivered to owners—making the Chevrolet Motor Company, for the second consecutive year, the world's largest builder of automobiles!

This outstanding achievement has been attained not only because of the quality and value of Chevrolet cars—but also because there has been a constant expansion of Chevrolet service facilities.

In order to bring these mammoth facilities of the Chevrolet factories to Chevrolet dealers and owners everywhere, there have been erected 26 huge parts warehouses in the principal centers of distribution. This expansion program is continually going on—for four great additional warehouses will be in operation by January first and seven more by the summer of 1929.

Into the service departments of all Chevrolet dealers, Chevrolet has brought special tools and shop equipment—designed under the supervision of Chevrolet engineers. This equipment definitely assures maximum speed and precision and the lowest possible cost in the performance of every Chevrolet service and repair operation—which are charged for on a flat rate basis.

Furthermore, all of these tremendous facilities have been made available to 15,000 authorized service stations manned by skilled mechanics, over 25,000 of whom have been factory trained to efficiently handle every repair operation on a Chevrolet car. In addition, there are over 4,000 other points where genuine Chevrolet parts may be obtained.

Uniformly efficient, uniformly reliable and within easy reach of everybody everywhere—this great service organization is maintaining at peak efficiency the fine performance for which Chevrolet cars have always been renowned.

We cordially invite you to come in and see how our service facilities reflect the influence of this great national service program.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Sunday evening Mrs. Helen Howes of 111 Dalby street, Nonantum, and Miss Emily Butler of Cuba street, Watertown, were struck by an automobile as they were crossing Watertown street near the Watertown Knights of Columbus clubhouse a short distance from the Newton line. The driver of the car speeded away leaving his two victims lying on the street. They were picked up by Patrolman James Burke of the Watertown police who happened along and taken to Police Headquarters at West Newton. There it was found that Miss Butler has escaped with slight injuries but Mrs. Howes had suffered a slight concussion of the brain and painful injuries to her legs. She was taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment.

Sunday night as Mrs. Mary Potter of 2117 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, was driving her car along Watertown street, Newtonville, a large closed car came up rapidly from behind, struck Mrs. Potter's car, and after pushing it for about 100 feet, broke from the contact and was driven rapidly up Wildwood avenue. The "speeder" was not acquainted with the locality as Wildwood avenue is a dead-end street and when the "hit and run" hero reached the blind end, he adopted the reckless expedient of operating his heavy car across the links of the Albermarle Golf Club, plowing ruts until he came to Craft's street. The car bore either a Vermont or New York registration plate. When the collision occurred, Mrs. Potter was thrown against the steering wheel and slightly injured.

THE DRUNKEN DRIVER

The reasons for Government Prohibition are summed up administratively by Robbins Stoeckel, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of Connecticut, when he says that the driver who is quite drunk is usually not dangerous because he is so easily detected or incapacitated, but that the "really dangerous driver is the man who has had one or two drinks only, who still thinks he is in possession of his faculties, but whose driving judgment has been impaired." A moderate drink, a slight swerve in the wrong direction, colliding with any one of the twenty-three million motor vehicles that crowd the nation's highways, may result fatally.

If the Pennsylvania Railroad can arrogate to itself the right to forbid its locomotive engineers to drink a drop, even when off duty, may not the American people, through its legally authorized representatives, forbid all automobile drivers to do the same? He who drives a locomotive 60 miles an hour has a steel track to steer his course for him and the train he passes has another. But he who drives an automobile 60 miles an hour has to steer his own course for himself on a common highway, and every car he passes is at his mercy. Moreover each crossroad he comes to is a grade crossing. Every engineer is a trained professional; but most automobile drivers are amateurs. If private Prohibition applied to the professional on a protected track is justified, surely governmental Prohibition, applied to the amateur on an unprotected track, is more than justified. But Prohibition applied to the driver means to-day, in America, Prohibition applied to everybody. So the automobile argument for Prohibition is conclusive even if there were no other."

Inflexible science says: "Moderate user, keep off!" For at least four hours after a dose of alcohol formerly considered "permissible" as a motor vehicle operator, may well be considered a "menace to society."

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The killing by an automobile of an aged and respected West Newton woman, who had spent 60 of the 79 years of her life in this city, emphasizes still further the necessity for better illumination along Washington street from West Newton to the Boston line. During the past couple of years five old persons have been killed by automobiles after dark while travelling to, or from, the Church of Our Lady at Newton. These deaths have all occurred on Washington street within comparatively short distances from this church. When the budget for next year is being considered, provision should be made to place more, and better lights along Washington street. Most of the lights on this street are set on poles too high above the ground. The Street Department should be provided with funds, as soon as possible, to properly light this street, used by more pedestrians than any street in the city, and the scene of the most fatal automobile accidents in which pedestrians are the victims.

One street intersection at which a traffic signal would have been placed before now, but for the narrowness of the street, is at the intersection of Pearl and Jewett streets. Inspector Halsey of the Public Works Department of the Commonwealth, recommends that corner lights be placed at this location.

Chief of Police Burke recommends that a traffic signal be placed at the intersection of Jewett and Waban streets, where a very high hedge causes an unusually dangerous traffic condition.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD

Friday afternoon, Nov. 2, saw a large crowd gathered in the parish house of the Newtonville Methodist Church. The occasion was the annual meeting of the Newton Branch of the Needlework Guild, when the collected garments are shown and a speaker of note gives an account of the work. This year the society was fortunate in having Mrs. Thomas H. Preston, National president of the Guild.

In the opening remarks, Mrs. Arthur H. Alger, president of the Newton Branch, spoke of the growth of the society, from a town to a city branch, from 14 directors to 58, each collecting 22 garments. Last year the garments totalled 1600, this year 1800. A new feature, the luncheon bridge proved so popular that it will be made an annual spring event. "This year," said Mrs. Alger, "Our dream is fulfilled in having with us the National President, Mrs. Preston. She has helped in our reorganization and has been an inspiration to us." As she was presented, the audience rose to their feet. Many recalled in Mrs. Preston Mrs. Grover Cleveland, and saw in her the beautiful and gracious young hostess at the White House who bore the honors of "first lady" in a way that made her universally beloved and admired. Her charm and ability now enlisted in the cause of a large philanthropy help to stimulate the spirit of generosity and to bring comfort to hosts of needy people.

Mrs. Preston emphasized the underlying principles of the Needlework Guild, its appeal to the heart and reason. "Foundations to endure must go below the frost line," she said. "There must be heartfelt interest and sympathy." The reasonableness of the work is obvious. Often hospitals otherwise well equipped may be sadly lacking in comfortable clothing for the discharged convalescents and here the guild supplies a need. Many children kept home from Sunday School and from recreation with their mates because of the lack of suitable clothing are discovered and helped. New garments inspire self respect and often act as a cure for waywardness.

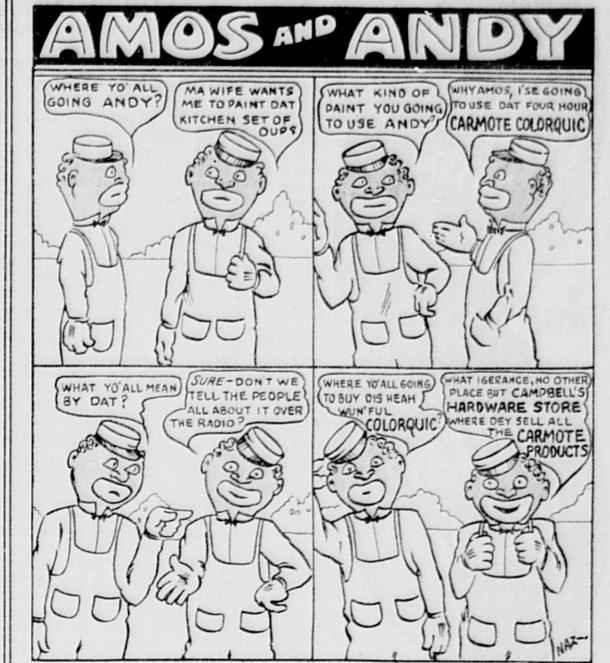

The non-sectarian aspects of the work Mrs. Preston felt were a marked advantage and the simple requirement of but two garments a year and only one meeting made it possible for many to join. She urged the extension of the work. Can not each member find some one else? The personal selection of the garments has a value. With the choice goes the good will of the giver, and she preferred that gifts of money should not be a rule to take the place of the articles. This work means co-operation of many which signifies more than the same amount in one large donation. It means "many hearts beating for someone else." Hence the value.

Establishment of junior branches was suggested. Where children are learning to sew their efforts could be directed so as to cultivate the spirit of helpfulness while becoming habits of diligence. They will become more interested if they are working for others.

At the close of the meeting there were questions and a discussion, followed by the exhibit of garments and a tea. Could the recipients be visualized one would see many more comfortable and happy, ranging from tiny babies, the care of the District Nursing Association, to the respected members of the John A. Andrew home. Other institutions which are distributors of the garments are: Mothers' Rest, Newton Circle, Newton Welfare Bureau, Peabody Home, Pomeroy Home, Stone Institute; besides the "special cases" and the Christmas Party.

The officers are as follows: President, Mrs. Arthur H. Alger; Honorary president, Mrs. John W. Byers; Vice-presidents, Mrs. Edward Wyatt, Miss Emma Page, Mrs. Morton Cobb, Mrs. Frederic Leland; Treasurer, Mrs. James D. Bennett; Secretary, Mrs. R. E. Chambers; assistant secretary, Mrs. Morgan Stafford; auditor, Mrs. Edmund Kellogg; section presidents, Mrs. Morton Cobb, Mrs. Edmund Kellogg, Mrs. Frederic Leland, Miss Emma Page, Mrs. Ernest Rowe, Mrs. C. CHESTNUT HILL, NEWTON

Henry W. Savage, Inc. reports the sale of a large tract of acreage in the Chestnut Hill section of Newton generally known as The Boston Ice Co. property and located at No. 73 Boylston street. The Boston Ice Company conveys this parcel consisting of four and one-half acres of land together with a twelve room frame dwelling, garage and large stables to Michael P. Barry, agent of Newton Centre. The grantee plans to subdivide this property into house lots. The property is assessed on $25,100.

Your Motor Car

Your motor car is either a colorful asset or a drab liability. You are proud to own it, to drive it, to have your family drive it or you are prejudiced against it for any one of several reasons. If it has fallen into ill favor because of its shabby appearance—that dull, lack-luster look which so quickly attached itself to auto finishes before the coming of du Pont Duco—we can restore your original pride in ownership by giving it a new finish of Duco.

Du Pont Duco has proven itself to be the most satisfactory automobile finish ever developed and consequently is being used by most of the motor car manufacturers. We will apply a finish to your car that will give it a real "new car" appearance—just as bright and colorful and charming as the day it left the factory.

Recoloring over a present Duco finish is a speedy and economical job. You will be more than satisfied with the results.

Let us give you a prompt estimate on your car

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Now that it is all over let's call it settled and drop further discussion. The sooner that is done the happier and the healthier all of us will be. Nothing is to be gained by keeping some old grievance paraded before our friends either in public or private. As the blacker of the two Black Crows has often seen fit to remark, "Why bring that up?"

If we want to study the figures that is quite all right, for a citizen that doesn't keep himself informed through the local paper of what is taking place about him isn't doing justice to himself and his family. To live in a community means that one should be part of it. Therefore, it is worth while to scrutinize the returns and see just what happened at the polls in Newton last Tuesday. When we have digested all that we may just as well set aside any further debate for nothing will be changed thereby.

Most of us will agree that it is time we got the election off our minds for business and economic reasons if not for our physical and mental uplift. For weeks and weeks I have listened to people here, there and everywhere putting off and putting off. "Better wait 'till after election," is the phrase. I have heard that repeated so many times that it has almost shattered my nerves. Procrastination is a favorite pastime, both indoors and out, and the election had served millions of people as a fine excuse for letting things slide or neglecting plain duties.

It's all ended. We know the results and must abide by them. The city, the State and the Nation cannot afford to waste time in performing postmortem examinations. Let's get down to business and may there be plenty of it to do.

The first and most agreeable impression furnished by my initial call at the new postoffice at Newton Corner was that fact that I encountered no trouble in opening the door. That to me, stands as a marked improvement in postal facilities in Wards 1 and 7. There is not only a door that may be opened and closed in the way that becomes all good doors, but there are also a half-wood and half-glass partition with two inside doors which are sure to keep the interior of the place shielded from the biting winds of winter. You remember that in the old place they had to post a sign requesting people to make certain the door was shut. Otherwise the wind blew straight in from the street. The new building is so equipped that such a thing cannot happen.

I found that there were two desks for writing purposes and although I did not experiment with them it appeared as though there was plenty of elbow room and a group of busy writers should such descend upon the place at one time. Many patrons of the main postoffice in Boston are disposed, I have noticed, to conduct their business on the writing desks in the public corridors. In fact, I have noticed that some stayed so long that it seemed as if they were students of a correspondence school working on their lessons.

The area for the public in the new office at Newton Corner is not as large as in the old place but that, it seems to me, will not make so great a difference except when the Christmas rush is on and a crowd has gathered to wait in line. Once the people learn that they are going to be crowded for room when mailing holiday gifts they may appreciate the value of doing it early.

As to getting to the new postoffice by going round the corner of Centre avenue I am in favor of it. Although we had excellent police protection and still have in Nonantum Square, there was always that which made us think we had to dodge automobiles and step lively. We can be far more leisurely under the present conditions, and buying stamps at such a nice looking, clean and outwardly and inwardly attractive building will be a pleasure. In fact I shall buy fewer at a time so that I may have reason to visit the place more frequently.

This putting in place of storm doors and storm windows may not be evidence that winter is here but it is a pretty good sign that some people, either through experience or fear, are going to be prepared. The worst thing to me about extreme weather is not so much the wind, snow, etc., as the necessity of opening two or three doors to get in or out of a place.

POLICE NEWS

In the Newton court last Friday Nancy Whittier of Farm road, Dover, was charged with speeding and with driving an automobile without a proper license in her possession. Judge _____ placed both charges on file. Paul Goldman of Adams street, Brookline was fined $10 for speeding, the charge against him for driving on the restricted side of Commonwealth avenue was placed on file. Albert Johnson of Natick was fined $10 for driving a car after his license had expired. Cyrus Kenniston of Pine street, West Newton, charged with cruelty to two horses he drives, had his case continued until November 14.

John Buccheri of 9 Decatur street, Newtonville, was in court last Friday charged with driving an uninsured automobile, and with driving after his registration had been revoked because of his failure to pay his insurance. Buccheri's car hit a child in Waltham recently and when the report of the accident went to the Registrar's office, Inspector Leary of the Registrar's staff arrested Buccheri. The latter contended that he had moved from his former address and had not received the notifications of the cancellation of his insurance and registration. His cases were placed on file.

A strong odor of liquor on (or in) the breath of a person driving an automobile, is not enough to convict that person of driving while under the influence of liquor, when other evidences of intoxication are not present, according to the ruling made by Judge Weston in the Newton court last Saturday. On October 23 Frank L. Brennan of 31 River road, Brookline, was arrested at Newton Corner by Traffic Officer Ray Taffe. Taffe observed Brennan driving a car past the big beacon at Washington and Hall streets and along the former street by the Trust Company building where traffic is restricted to one-way, west bound. Upon stopping Brennan, the policeman found that he had no registration, was operating without a Massachusetts license, and, according to Taffe's testimony in court, Brennan's breath contained a strong odor of liquor. Patrolman Kilmain who was officer on the police auto which took Brennan to headquarters, and Clerk Henry Tibbets, who was at the booking desk, both substantiated Taffe's testimony. Judge Weston found Brennan not guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor; he fined Brennan $5 for driving the wrong direction on a one-way street, $10 for driving without a registration, and filed the charge of driving without a proper license.

Wallace Falvey of New York City was fined $10 in the Newton court on Monday for speeding. He was also charged by Officer Hammill with refusing to stop when ordered to do so by a policeman. This charge was placed on file as Falvey told the judge that when he heard Hammill's whistle, he did not think that it was intended for him.

John Zroogian of Mechanic street, Upper Falls, was arrested Sunday night by Patrolman Davis charged with assault and battery on Michael Kozei who works in the same shop with Zroogian at Upper Falls. Zroogian did not appear in court Monday when his case was called, a statement being received from Dr. Thompson that he was sick.

A GARAGE FOR WINTER

It won't be long until cold and stormy weather will be here. A car depreciates rapidly out doors in winter. There may have been no harm to the car in leaving it under the skies during the summer and early fall. But it is advisable to get under cover now as quickly as possible. Frost in the ground hinders the work of putting in a foundation. In some cities it takes almost a month to get a permit to erect a garage. There is no time to lose for those who have not already placed their orders if they would have their own private garages for this winter.

The Whittredge Portable Buildings Co. of West Lynn makers of Whittredge Garages and other metal buildings, report that they can erect one of their two car metal clapboard garages in a day when the foundation is ready and a permit granted. Of course, erections take their time and there is always a rush following the first stormy days of winter. Orders have been coming in rapidly with the approach of winter and the factory is busier than ever in the history of the Whittredge Portable Buildings Co. But they expect to render their usual prompt service of delivery and erection to all who get their orders in time to get their permits and their foundations laid before winter prevents.

But think what the "scooter" of today are compared with velocipedes. Mark you, I am not encouraging pedestrains. They get enough as it is. I am merely reminding my readers that a "scooter" is evidence of speedier days even in the kindergarten. Of course I know that it is only a matter of time before the youngsters will tumble out of their cribs into a tiny airship that will permit them to sail through the skies to school or up and down air spaces of their neighborhood.

At present, however, the "scooter" is sufficient to give the kids a mild thrill and at the same time scare the wits of their elders who are compelled to be nimble and be quick if they don't want to be bumped. I must say that I am a little supposed to learn that there is a protest against the small children operating scooters on the sidewalks, but then I haven't been run down by one thus far. After that has happened to me I may begin wondering if velocipedes do not represent the reasonable limit of juvenile speed.

Two Quiet High Speeds

Owners tell us they use fourth in the Graham-Paige four-speed transmission most of the time, enjoying its new smoothness and swiftness. They drop into third (a quiet, internal gear) for rapid acceleration in traffic, or up steep hills. The gear shift is standard. You start in second. First, in reserve, is seldom used. WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

COMING EVENTS

Christian Era Study Club

The Christian Era Study Club will hold its third meeting of the year on Monday afternoon, November 12th, at 3 o'clock. Two of England's oldest Universities are the subjects for the afternoon's papers. Mrs. Samuel H. Dilke has the first, "Cambridge University." The second, by Mrs. H. E. B. Case, will be on "Oxford." Committee reports will precede these papers. The hostess for the afternoon will be Mrs. Harry Perkins, of 55 Aspen avenue.

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

The biography is the general topic to be studied by the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands for the next four months, and aptly they set the thought in tune with the century and the man to be interpreted by their members with the quotation, "Know them that men are as the time is." To Miss Cora Stanwood Cobb falls the opening program of the series, and she will discuss "Aristotle." Mrs. N. F. Van Horsen entertains at her home 53 Marshall street, for the meeting which is at 2:30 o'clock on Monday, the 12th.

Auburndale Review Club

On Tuesday morning, November 13th, at 10 o'clock, Mrs. E. J. Frost will open her home at 279 Central street for a meeting of the Auburndale Review Club. In its study of the presidential administrations, the fourth and fifth are to be presented at this time. The hostess, Mrs. Frost, will give a paper on "James Madison" and his charming wife, Dolley. Mrs. Arthur C. Farley will give interesting events which marked the years 1817-1825, at which time "James Monroe" held office. The program will be preceded by a half hour's business session.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

As Armistice Day will be observed Monday, November 12th, the Monday Club will meet on the following day, Tuesday November 13th, with Mrs. Sewall Jones, who opens her home on Columbus street to members and guests. The program of the afternoon is in charge of Mrs. George M. Hayden, who will present the subject, "China of Today," assisted by the noted Chinese Mr. Peter Kiang, who will give an intimate talk on "Present Conditions in China."

Mrs. Chen Fong and her daughter will be present in native costume, and Chinese music will be played. This is sure to add greatly to the color of the program.

An informal question period will follow with an unusual opportunity to learn what the youth of China are doing for their new Republic.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The American Home Committee Mrs. Arthur H. Alger, chairman, is planning for members of the Newtonville Woman's Club a course of four meetings this year, built around the four units of the home, as suggested by Mrs. Harry A. Burnham—work, recreation, rest, and hospitality. The first of the series will be held Tuesday, November 13th, at 2:30 p. m. at the Methodist Episcopal Church, when Dr. H. Augustine Smith will speak on the subject, "Rest and Religion in the Home."

Dr. Smith is professor in Boston University School for Religious Education. He brings with him singers who will illustrate home music, and pictures bearing on the home. Both the Informal Talks, arranged by the Education Committee of the Woman's Club in the Art Gallery of the Club House. These talks are very interesting as they cover three subjects: "What to See, Hear and Read," Re-freshments will be served by the Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Benjamin F. White.

Also on November 13th will begin the Formal Talks, arranged by the Education Committee of the Woman's Club in the Art Gallery of the Club House. These talks are very interesting as they cover three subjects: "What to See, Hear and Read," Re-freshments will be served by the Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Benjamin F. White.

The morning session opens at 10:30 a. m.; the afternoon session at 1:45 p. m. A train for Springfield leaves the South Station at 7 a. m., but many Clubwomen are planning to go to the city on Monday, the 12th. There is special inducement for this in that the hostess' Club has arranged a most entertaining evening in a visit to the William Pynchon Memorial Building, a notable model of a Colonial house especially opened for the occasion. The fortunate members of the State Council are to be the guests of Mrs. A. A. Packard, the State president, at her home, in an informal reception, after this visit.

Clubwomen going to Springfield and desiring luncheon tickets should order them not later than Saturday, the 10th, from Mrs. John B. Shaw, 29 Grenada terrace, Springfield, by sending check for $1.10, and self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The date of the always welcome Annual Dramatics is rapidly drawing near, and knowing the unusual talent and cleverness of the actors that year, it appears, not only Club members but all who have been so fortunate as to attend the past plays, are looking forward eagerly to this one.

"The Torch Bearers" by George Kelly is the play to be presented by the Drama Committee in the Newton High School Auditorium at 8 p. m. on Friday, November 16th. This play, a satire on amateur dramatics is so full of laughter and amusement from beginning to end that it will be delightful to see what these skilled players can do with it.

The cast is to be presented by Mr. Fredrick Ritter, Clinton M. Tyler; Mr. Huxley Stossefros, Robert C. Kelly; Mr. Spindler, Paul R. Knight, Jr.; Mr. Ralph Truller, Harold C. Bond; Mr. Stage Manager, Mr. Derby Brown; Teddy Spearling, Robert Ince; Brown; Mrs. Baula Ritter, Hazel St. Sholley; Mrs. J. Duro Pamphile, Elizabeth Upham Stevens; Mrs. Nelly Feal, Alice D. Bond; Miss Florence McCrickitt, Elsie M. Elcker; Mrs. Clara Shepard, Anna Judkins; and Jenny (a housemaid at Ritter's), Abbie C. Thorne.

The play is coached by Mr. and Mrs. Derby Brown. The Annual Dramatics is presented for the Scholarship Fund, and it is hoped there will be a capacity attendance.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Woman's Advisory Committee of the Newton Trust Company, composed of Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, chairman, and Mrs. George M. Angier, Mrs. Herbert M. Cole, Mrs. Howard P. Converse, Mrs. Henry L. Harriman, Mrs. Albert S. Hutchinson, Mrs. M. L. Maden, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, Mrs. Lydia Saltonstall, and Mrs. Charles L. Smith, cordially invite Clubwomen to meet them promptly at 4 o'clock at a Tea on Tuesday, November 13th, at Brae Burn Country Club, at which time tickets will be issued for a series of lectures on Banking and Investments which will be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House, December 3rd, January 7th, February 4th, and March 4th are the dates, and 10:30 a. m. the time for each lecture, which is given as being for the "benefit of women depositors" of the Newton Trust Company and the First National Bank of West Newton. Although these dates seem far ahead tickets must be issued in advance, and the hostesses for the afternoon of the 13th are combining a social get-together with a tea with the distribution of tickets. These tickets can only be secured thereafter by application to the various branches of the Newton Trust Co. and to the West Newton bank.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club will entertain at the first Bridge party of this season, at the Club House on Centre street, on Thursday afternoon, November 15th, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Eleanor Bancroft will be present to answer any questions pertaining to "Bridge." As Mrs. Bancroft is an authority on this subject the Committee in charge hope that many will avail themselves of the opportunity to consult her on any "Bridge" queries. Refreshments will be served by the Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Benjamin F. White.

Also on November 15th will begin the Informal Talks, arranged by the Education Committee of the Woman's Club in the Art Gallery of the Club House. These talks are very interesting as they cover three subjects: "What to See, Hear and Read," Re-freshments will be served by the Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Benjamin F. White.

MUSIC CONFERENCE. An extremely attractive Music Conference has been arranged for a Conference of her Department, to which all Club press chairmen and others interested are invited, for Monday, the 19th, at 2 o'clock, at Perkins Hall, 264 Boylston street, Boston. The "talks" will be upon the work in the press—a "working conference"—and Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith will speak on the "Value of Publicity." Miss Alice F. Titus on "Federation Topics." Miss May F. Pillsbury, of the Somerville Journal, on "Women in Newspapers" and Mrs. Bowles, of the Transcript, Mrs. Blanchard of the Herald, and Miss Williams on Mrs. Cowles of the Advertiser, and Mrs. John H. Kimball, Department adviser, will speak. There will be a question period.

MUSIC CONFERENCE. An extremely attractive Music Conference has been arranged by the Music Department of the State Federation. Mrs. Amy Young Burns, chairman, for Thursday, November 15th, at 10 o'clock, 3 Joy street, Boston. To this all music chairmen, Club presidents, cultural leaders, and interested Clubwomen are most cordially invited. The branches of work to be presented (Continued on Page 13)

FALL MEETING. By invitation of the Hampden County Women's Club of Springfield the Autumn meeting of the State Federation will be held in Masonic Building, State street, Springfield on Tuesday, the 13th. The hostess Club which numbers over 850 members has the double honor of having had as presidents the State Federation president of today, Mrs. A. A. Packard, and the past president, her predecessor, Mrs. Arthur D. Potter. It will be the more interesting, therefore, to visit in the home background of two women who have given their leadership to the State.

The morning session opens at 10:30 a. m.; the afternoon session at 1:45 p. m. A train for Springfield leaves the South Station at 7 a. m., but many Clubwomen are planning to go to the city on Monday, the 12th. NEWTON HOSPITAL

During the week ending October 27th there were in the hospital 124 patients, of whom 42 paid as much or more than cost of care, 51 paid less than cost of care, and 31, including 11 emergency cases, were treated free. 12 babies were born, 9 girls and 3 boys. 122 patients were treated in the out-patient department, 14 in the eye clinic and 11 emergencies in the operating room. 6 social service calls were made in the homes and 7 patients were transferred by the social service car.

On Thursday, October 30, the trustees held their regular quarterly meeting at the Newton Hospital.

On Monday, October 29, the Hospital Staff held its regular monthly meeting.

Grading of the grounds surrounding the new hospital has been started. While one realizes that the ultimate result will be pleasing, one cannot but regret the sacrifice of familiar shrubs and trees. One land mark which disappeared last week was a portable building erected twenty years ago to receive tuberculosis out-patients.

Of the eleven accident cases treated during the week, 5 were the results of automobile accidents: one a man with a lacerated wrist; two women, one with a question of fractured ribs and one with a broken toe; one boy with a lacerated foot, and one girl with abrasions of the face. Of the remaining six accidents, four were men: one who was intoxicated, one with a piece of steel in his eye, one with a piece of steel in his eye, and one with a dislocated jaw. Two girls were treated, one for a piece of crayon in her ear and the other for a dog-bite on her thumb.

The Mather Class

Prof. Mather Starts Second Series Of Four Lectures

What is religion? This was the topic of discussion last Sunday morning at the Mather Class at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House.

This was the first lecture in the second series of the season, in which Prof. Kirtley F. Mather is taking up Modern Views of Ancient Problems.

Last month he lectured on various conceptions of God.

This month the subject will be the broad field to which we give the name of religion.

Prof. Mather has collected in his November bulletin, which he has given the class, ten different definitions or descriptions of religion.

The epistle of James defines religion in terms of brotherhood, your activities, what you do here on earth.

Paul, in his address on Mars Hill, emphasized the element of supernatural reality or relationship to a supreme Being.

A dictionary definition was then taken up. This includes morality in religion. Religion is greater than a code of morality or system of ethics. Prof. Mather took issue with the reference to a supernatural being and referred to E. A. Cook's idea that religion includes man's feeling of a relation to God and his thought and action resulting therefrom. There is something bigger than man, such as nature or the universe or humanity. Here is no chasm between the natural and the supernatural. The supernatural is just as available for our understanding as the natural. It is our duty to discover natural law and as much of the supernatural as possible. The latter is superior to our comprehension now and transcends our minds. It is, however, part of the universe and therefore open to future discovery. The objection to the word, "being," is that it suggests a person. There is personality in the universe, for there are moral qualities, but they are without physical attributes.

The anthropologist, J. G. Fraser, in "The Golden Bough," gives an unsatisfactory idea of religion, as primitive man conceives it to be, which means the propitiation of a higher power in direct command of nature and man.

W. A. Brown of the Yale Divinity School, makes a very fair statement of our relationship to something outside of ourselves. Whether a deity is recognized depends on environment. Some religions have no deity. Behind the moral qualities of the universe there is a driving force spiritualized. The Encyclopedia Britannica says that religion is the quickening of the will to face life earnestly.

C. A. Dinsmore, a Congregational minister, wrote "New Light on Old Truths." He says, "Religion should speak with a voice of unhesitating authority. It should point out the way of life so clearly that the wayfaring man need not err therein. The basis of our certitude in religion is our personal experience with God, corrected and validated by the experiences of countless generations of men, interpreted by seers and seers and explained by the words, the spirit, the life of Jesus."

Our knowledge must be more than intellectual knowledge in order to be sure we have the right way of life. One sure foundation of true religion is our certitude in God.

F. J. Pack, a Mormon Geologist, says that there is a sense of value about religion. It selects from all possible ways of living only that way which is worthy of acceptance.

Religion embraces the entire system of universal truth. Not that every true statement is religious. That's not the idea, but every true statement must be satisfactory to religion if religion is to be satisfactory to man.

Prof. Mather then gave his own idea of religion. "Science has at its goal the complete description of the world in which we live; religion seeks to find the most abundant life which man may possess in such a universe. Theology concerns beliefs, just as do the theories of physical science. But religion is a practical rather than a theoretical affair; it deals with a 'way of life.'

We must use our intellects. We must evaluate. We must have clear ideas of a definite relationship to life as a whole. Theology is the science of religion. Religion is life itself, in relation to environment. It is the most highly valued and most worthwhile life the individual can discover. And it should grow. The most worthwhile life which Moses and Joshua knew is not enough for us. We know one more worthwhile. The religious concepts a thousand years from now will be better than ours. Values are relative, not absolute. Progress is to be expected.

If we lived, right now, the sort of life which the majority of us know is worthwhile, the world would be better than it is. Our knowledge exceeds our practice.

The origin of ethics lies in man's consciousness of something outside of self. As a unit of society he needs to consider his relation to his fellows, and a code of ethics is the result of a consciousness of something bigger and broader than himself.

The Bible was the result of men speaking what they heard within. It was the inner inspiration of the Holy Ghost. Our findings are relative. The whole nature of the driving force of the universe has not been revealed. Christianity is a humble following of Jesus, who said He would send a comforter who would lead us into all truth. Jesus presents an attitude toward the universe and then leaves with us the responsibility of discovering the truth about the physical, moral, and spiritual nature of things. We must have the right attitude, as much as possible like Jesus, and then we may discover the truth. Jesus did not reveal everything.

The first Sunday evening Round Table will be held at Prof. Mather's home next Sunday, Nov. 11, at 6 p. m. A buffet supper will come first. All the ladies are invited to assist with the refreshments. Each one, unless requested to furnish something else, will bring sandwiches enough for two.

GOLDEN RULE DINNER

Mrs. Charles W. Bond, chairman of the Near East Relief Committee for Newton, reports that the people of Newton are most enthusiastic in the cooperation and assistance in connection with this last year's work of Near East Relief.

The plan as outlined by Mrs. Bond and her committee is to have a Golden Rule Dinner in the Woman's Club at Newton Centre on Monday evening, November 26th at 6:30 in the evening.

This dinner will possibly be one of the most unique dinners ever served in Newton. It will resemble an orange meal with the thousands of children partake of daily. The food for this meal has been donated by the business men of Newton and will be served by Mr. Paul Cox of the Nelson confectionery store at Newton Centre.

Under the direction of Miss Freeman, Executive of the Girl Scouts, 25 of the older girl scouts dressed in their scout uniforms will act as waitresses. The High School orchestra at Newton Centre will play during the meal and a very excellent program has been prepared. Mayor Edwin O. Childs will preside at the dinner.

The Near East Relief has under its direction and care approximately 39,000 orphans at this time. These children are alive and happy today because of the generosity and liberality of the American people. America's part in caring for the unfortunate children will close with this fiscal year, the approximately 135,000 children which have been trained and sent out by this great organization will rise up and call us blessed in the years to come.

There are about fifty nations of the world that will observe Golden Rule Sunday this year which has been designated as Dec. 2nd. Mrs. Bond who has been actively engaged in the Near East Relief work for Newton for the past years says that she has never had finer and better co-operation than she has now. Newton has always had an active part in this welfare work and stands as one of the outstanding cities of our country in contributions and interest. Mr. Frank L. Richardson who has served as Treasurer for the past years has been appointed to serve in this capacity and many will want to make their last contribution at this time and can send same to him at any time.

The Class Party occurs Nov. 21, at the Newton Centre Baptist Church. The second Round Table is scheduled for Dec. 9, at the home of Everett A. Greene, with Dr. C. N. Arbuckle as leader—George Dexter Frost.

MUNICIPAL LIGHTING

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Your recent issue states the cost of City lighting at $112,000.00 per annum, which is a considerable sum. You do not state the cost per kilowatt hour. Presumably, our taxes, which are already high, and have been steadily increasing year by year, include this cost. Would it not be well to investigate the question of a municipal lighting plant, perhaps incorporated in the new City Hall group, where there is water for condensing purposes, or possibly at some other good location with rail facilities for coal or oil delivery.

So much progress has been made in the last ten years that power can be generated very cheaply, and there is no reason why our citizens should not have the benefit of this

Director Baker Talks To Red Cross Chapters

Gives Interesting Lecture On Porto Rico Disaster

Representatives of the following Red Cross Chapters: Boston, Cambridge, Brookline, Waltham, Wellesley, Winchester, and Needham (a branch of the Newton Chapter) were the guests of the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross at the Brae-Burn Country Club, on Tuesday, the 12th of November, where a gathering of 50 Red Cross workers had an opportunity of hearing Mr. Henry M. Baker, Director of Disaster Relief of the American National Red Cross, speak on "Chapter Organization for Disaster."

Mr. Baker told the workers that there were four needs present during the disaster and those were the needs of food, shelter, clothing and medical and nursing service. Mr. Baker reminded the workers that the American Red Cross had been designated by Congress as the official relief agency of the Country and that every Chapter in the United States should be prepared to function at a moment's notice and under the chaotic conditions that are always incident to disasters.

Later in the evening after the Red Cross workers had asked questions on Disaster Organization Mr. Baker delivered an interesting lecture on the Porto Rico Disaster of September 1923. Mr. Baker told those present that he, as the Red Cross official representative, entered upon the scene of the disaster just 4½ days after the destruction began and within 8 hours after his arrival rations were distributed to 455,000 starving people. He also stated that 500,000 people were clothed—during the tornado the clothing was literally ripped from the backs of the natives. The Red Cross relief in this area was conducted with the utmost efficiency—idle factories were opened by the Red Cross and disaster sufferers worked in them to produce the much needed clothing; seed was distributed to the people who planted and harvested in 90 days ($30,000 in seed produced a harvest of $125,000); each house was visited by sanitary experts who gave instruction to the natives in the prevention of disease; 65 Red Cross nurses (37 of them native nurses) operated under the supervision of the Red Cross. Mr. Baker was told before he left Porto Rico that the help given to the natives of the island by the Red Cross was the finest good-will gesture that the United States had ever made.

Mr. Donald Angier, Chairman of the Newton Chapter, after a word of welcome to those present, turned the meeting over to Mr. Charles E. Kelsey, who's Chairman of the Disaster Committee of the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross.

Bank Depositors

Newton Trust Co. Host To Large Gathering Tuesday

On invitation of the Women's Advisory Committee of the Newton Trust Company, over 325 women depositors of that bank and of the First National Bank of West Newton gathered at the Brae Burn Country Club on Tuesday afternoon, November 13th.

Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell of Newton, the chairman of the Women's Advisory Committee presided, welcomed the women and asked them to send to her group at any time suggestions as to improvements which the Newton Trust Company could make in its service to its patrons.

Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames, chairman of the Women's Advisory Committee of the Old Colony Trust Company, was introduced by Mrs. Mitchell. Mrs. Ames said that the Old Colony was the first bank in Boston to form a Women's Advisory Committee. It took this step two years ago. It is to open on December 4 very attractive larger quarters for women and offers to them expert financial advice. Mrs. Ames presented Mr. John A. Tuckerman, vice-president of the Old Colony Trust Company and manager of its up-town branch.

Mrs. Tuckerman stated that the interest of women in banking has come about during the past thirty years, a period which has witnessed the invasion of women into the business and professional life of the country.

When it is known that 50,000 women paid income tax returns in Massachusetts this past year and that these returns represent a total of $200,000,000 worth of intangible property it is evident that there is a real need for education of women along financial lines.

The four talks given by the Old Colony Trust Company to its women depositors two years ago proved so popular that the series had to be repeated.

Mr. Tuckerman then announced the speakers and subjects for the four lectures which are to be given this winter at the Newton Centre Women's Club. They are as follows: December 3, W. Herrick Brown on "Savings"; January 7, George W. Grant on "Banking"; February 4, Herbert A. Wilson on "Investments"; March 4, F. Winchester Denis on "Trusts". These lectures will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Tickets for the course were issued to the women present. Here after they may be obtained on application at the various branches of the Newton Trust Company and at the First National Bank of West Newton. In closing the meeting Mrs. Mitchell made the interesting statement that half the depositors of our Newton banks are women.

An attractive tea with its accompanying sociability brought the afternoon to a close.

Aldermen Hold Lengthy Discussion On Fire Station At Newton Corner

Architects To Submit New Plans With Bell Tower At Next Meeting of Board In Order To Start Work Early Next Year

For four hours Tuesday night the Board of Aldermen in the confines of a committee room and in the open aldermanic chamber argued about the proposed new fire station at Newton Corner which is to replace the present antiquated and dangerously located quarters of Engine 1 and aerial Ladder 3. The discussion was not about the fire station as a whole, but concerning a tower on it.

The fire station at Newton Corner was built nearly 60 years ago and has long been much too small to furnish proper accommodations for the firemen quartered there. Two officers and 11 men comprise the crew of this company and the sleeping quarters for the 11 men are so crowded as to menace their comfort and health. The sanitation in the old building is no credit to the City of Newton. The fire house is located just east of Nonantum Square, the busiest traffic point in the city, where in addition to heavy automobile and pedestrian traffic, thousands of persons daily get on and off the cars and busses of the Boston Elevated and the Middlesex & Boston companies.

For over 5 years there has been constant agitation for a new fire station at Newton. The need of a new station has been evident for nearly a score of years. Some months ago the special committee of the Aldermen appointed to consider this matter recommended that the site of the so-called Poverty Block on Washington street, between Channing and Thornton streets, be taken as the location for the new fire station. Because of the fact that the damages which the city would have to pay for the taking of this property would be high, and that there is a large lot of land almost directly across Washington street at the corner of Centre avenue which the city has owned for years, and which it was commonly supposed had been retained as the site of the new fire station, Mayor Childs refused to approve the action of the Board of Aldermen in accepting the report of the special committee and specified that the new station shall be erected on the city owned site where the old armory stood and where the present police station now stands. The latter building is to be razed. The aldermen followed the Mayor's wishes and accepted his recommendations.

Mayor Childs appointed Clifford S. White as architect of the new building and Mr. White made plans to conform to the requirements of Chief Randlett of the Fire Department and Buildings Commissioner Chadwick. When these plans were submitted to the aldermen they showed a practical, attractive building—but this building had no tower. Several of the aldermen from the Newton Corner section objected to the absence of a tower. Because of the very conspicuous location of the new station they believed a tower will add materially to the attractiveness of the building, and they contended it is necessary to provide for the big fire-alarm bell which for nearly a half-century had warned residents of Newton Corner when fires occurred. The bell was formerly on the old Elliot Block. Tower bells are not sounded now in Newton on first alarms but are sounded on second and third alarms to help summon the firemen who are on their day off.

The public Buildings Committee of the Aldermen, in deference to the wishes of the Newton Corner members, requested the architect to bring in alternative plans which would include a tower on the proposed fire station. In the meantime bids had been invited and received for the construction of the new building and a recommendation was received from Mayor Childs asking that $79,000 be appropriated by the Board of Aldermen to finance the building of the structure.

Action on the $79,000 was to be taken at the meeting on Tuesday night, but when the plans were presented, the tower was still absent. Then the long discussion started. For about two hours the aldermen argued in the committee room; then they reassembled in the aldermanic chamber and continued the gabfest until after midnight. The Public Buildings Committee and the Finance Committee both had voted to recommend that the matter of making the appropriation be laid on the table. Alderman Flitts, a member of the two committees, dismissed from the reports.

Alderman Earle of Ward 1 argued against the acceptance of the reports. He told of the pressing need for a new building as soon as possible to provide proper accommodations for the firemen at Newton Corner. He asked the aldermen to visit the fire station at Newton and see conditions for themselves. He asserted that a tower is not essential and that the appropriation should be passed at once so that the fire station will not be further delayed.

Alderman Flitts of Ward 7 stated that immediate action is necessary in this matter. He explained that while Chief Randlett wants a tower, he has admitted that one is not necessary. Mr. Flitts called attention to the fact that the bids on the new station would automatically be withdrawn the following day and that if the appropriation would not be made, it is probable that nothing will be done on the construction of the building until next year.

Dr. Overholser Speaks At Welfare Conference

Mental Abnormality Discussed By Psychiatrist

The roadside shop is a most attractive center at 239 Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls, run by Miss Ethel W. Sabin, formerly of the Lowell Shops, for the benefit of community work in Newton Upper Falls.

The monthly Welfare Conference of the Newton Central Council was held there on Wednesday, November 14. Luncheon was served to about forty members and guests at small tables in the back portion of the shop, which will be the room used for community gatherings.

The speaker for the day was Doctor Winfred Overholser, of the Massachusetts Department of Mental Diseases, who talked in a very practical way on "How to Link up Psychiatry with Every-day Case Work." Doctor Overholser spoke of the new light which psychiatry has shed first on the mental and emotional life of the infant, and later on that of the school child and the adult. Newton was one of the first cities in the state, he said, to make special arrangements for backward children in the schools. The State holds "Habit" or "Child Guidance" Clinics in various places all over Massachusetts, where problem children under nine years of age can be taken for expert examination and advice.

One of the great difficulties in psychiatric work is to know what to do with the adult who has a "psychopathic personality." Many persons are on the border line between complete normality and abnormality and the only treatment in such cases is "understanding."

Massachusetts has made it easier to "commit" mental patients to hospitals than many other states, and this shows an advance in thinking because it indicates that mental disease is to be treated on the same plane with physical disease.

Various questions were asked Doctor Overholser, and there was considerable discussion in regard to the work in the Newton Schools for the backward child. Miss Bragg, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Palmer, Principal of the High School, Miss Riley, Visiting Teacher, and others spoke in detail of the work done in Newton under the able leadership of Miss Sturgis, our School Psychologist.

In closing Doctor Overholser said that the more one knew about mental disease the more one realized that there was no hard and fast line between the sick and the well. We are all subject to mental disturbances and the difference between the normal and abnormal is only one of degree.

Business was postponed till the end of the meeting because the guest of the day was obliged to leave early.

Miss Sabin received a vote of thanks for her delightful hospitality and invited all social workers to use the meeting room of the shop whenever it would serve their needs.

Gen. Cole Gains In Recount Of Vote Here

Gubernatorial Candidate Gains 66—Allen Loses 35

The recount of the votes cast in Newton for Allen and Cole in the contest for Governor, was held Wednesday evening at City Hall. Representatives of the Democratic and Republican parties in this city were present as well as the Registrars of Voters.

A number of the clerks employed in the various offices at City Hall assisted in the counting. Ex-Mayor Charles E. Hatfield, Chairman of the Republican City Committee closely observed the recount. Mr. Allen lost 35 votes in the recount, getting 17,831 as originally announced. General Cole gained 66 votes, the recount showing that he received 16,116. Of the 66 votes gained by Mr. Cole, 42 were accounted for by an error made in Precinct 1 of Ward 6. A block of ballots contained 42 votes for the Democratic candidate. These votes were credited to Mr. Cook, the Prohibition candidate, by the precinct officers in that precinct.

According to the recount there were but 5 voters in that precinct who cast ballots for the candidate of the original, honest-to-goodness Prohibition party. This glaring mistake must not be attributed to any deliberate error on the part of some ultra dry among the Newton Centre election officers. The counters in that precinct, like those in many other precincts had put in about 20 hours of hectic activity and were quite fagged out when the vote totals were being compiled.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

LOOSE PLAYING DEFEATS NEWTON

Ridge Technical school defeated Newton high on the football field last Saturday for the first time in ten years by taking advantage of the many mistakes made by the Newton eleven for a 13 to 0 victory. The visitors played the best game against Newton that any Ridge team has done for many years and well deserved its victory. A wide end run by Burke, speedy Ridge quarterback, which completely fooled the Newton secondaries was good for 45 yards and the first score. A low pass from centre which Duane, who had confused his signals, fumbled, allowed Saurausky, Ridge right end, to tear in, retrieve the ball and run half the length of the field for the other touchdown. Time alone kept Ridge from scoring in the final period when they marched from their 32-yard line to Newton's seven-yard line where it was first down as the game ended. Ridge made thirteen first downs, one of which was with the aid of an offside Newton penalty, while the orange and black could make but three. These three were on a fifteen-yard end run by Pescosolido, a twenty-yard pass from Gilligan to Reilly and a fifteen-yard pass from Gilligan to Andres.

First Period

Ridge won the toss and Pescosolido kicked off to Versackes in the 15-yard line and he ran it back to his 37. A gain of three yards followed by a long pass which Perry grounded forced Ridge to kick. Saurausky, right end, who does the kicking for Ridge dropped back and pointed to Perry on his 30-yard line. Perry ran it back eight yards. Perry made two yards outside left tackle and Ham, playing fullback for Newton, made one outside right tackle. Duane kicked to the Ridge 33-yard line and the visitors here first showed their strength. Gilligan made three yards around Newton's right end before Pescosolido brought him down. Versackes hit right tackle twice for six yards more and Burke went outside left tackle for five and a first down. Duane knocked down a long pass and on the next play Chamberlain recovered a Ridge fumble on the visitors' 45-yard line. Another bad pass from centre was recovered by Pescosolido on his 10-yard line. Gilligan got around right end for twelve yards and after an incomplete pass kicked to midfield. Boyle and Gilligan ripped off a first down. On the next play Ridge drew another fifteen-yard penalty. Boyle's pass to Westburg was deflected by a Newton back into Pescosolido's hands on the Newton 30-yard stripe. Gilligan tossed a forward pass to Reilly for a twenty-yard gain over on the Ridge side of the field for Newton's first down of the game. Andres laid unnoticed on the ground by the Newton sideline for the old "shoe-string" play. Gilligan tossed him a long high pass which Andres caught cleanly but quarterback Burke's speed pulled Andres down for a net gain of but fifteen yards. Another pass was incomplete and then Gilligan was smothered on another attempt before he could get the ball away for an eight yard loss. Phillips intercepted the next Newton pass on his own 30-yard line and Ridge started off again. Burke broke through tackle for nine yards and Gilligan picked up a first down. Boyle, Phillips and Burke got another first down in three plays and Burke and Phillips made a third in four plays more. Harrington got in on an attempted lateral pass to spill Boyle for a four-yard loss but Boyle tossed a pass to Burke over right end to the Newton fifteen-yard line for another first down. Ridge drew still another fifteen-yard penalty which was offset by a like one against Newton when a substitute went in and talked before the first play. Before the ball could be put in play again the game ended, Ridge having possession of the oval on the seven yard line.

Second Period

Scheinfain stopped Burke for three yards around his end and Andres intercepted a pass on Newton's 28-yard line, running it back five yards before being brought down. Mullen, who replaced Perry, recovered Pescosolido's fumble for a three-yard loss. Duane recovered a bad pass from center for a ten yard loss and then kicked to Burke on the Ridge 40-yard line. The Ridge flash ran it back to midfield where Chamberlain got the tackle. Four plays at the Newton tackles netted a first down. Sigeren stopped Boyle for no gain and Duane intercepted a Ridge pass on his 27-yard line. Andres and Pescosolido gained but three yards in two attempts and Duane kicked to midfield. On the next play Newton recovered a Ridge fumble and refused an offside penalty against Ridge on the play. Mullen was thrown for a four-yard loss on an end run play and two incomplete passes drew a five-yard penalty. Duane's kick was blocked and recovered by Westburg. Ridge left end, on Newton's 30-yard stripe. Boyle's 15-yard pass to Westburg was completed but was disallowed for offside play by Ridge. Duane and Andres each grounded two other passes and Ridge was set back five more yards. Boyle's pass to Gilligan was good for ten yards but there was still ten more to go. Harrington got through to toss Burke for an eight-yard loss and Saurausky kicked to Mullen on the five-yard line. Mullen ran it back to the 10-yard stripe before tackled. An offside penalty set Newton back five yards which Pescosolido made up as the half ended.

RIDGE 'RINKLES

The Cambridge school deserved its victory over the orange and black. It may have been more overconfidence than anything else that caused the local eleven to fall to play the football they have shown in some of the previous games this season.

Third Period

Perry made a nice 25 yard runback of the kickoff to his 35-yard line. Two plays gained but four yards and Duane kicked outside at midfield. Burke got nine yards through left tackle and Boyle made it first down with five yards through the same place. Sigeren recovered a Ridge fumble on Newton's 35-yard line to stop the advance. Perry and Andres could gain but three yards in two plays and Duane kicked to the Ridge 25-yard stripe. Ridge was penalized five yards when its moving back went forward before the snap of the ball. Saurausky kicked to Perry at midfield and he ran it back five yards to give Newton the ball in Ridge territory for the third time in the game. Andres hit the centre of the line for three yards. On the next play Chamberlain's pass was low and Duane, who had confused the signal, fumbled. Saurausky came tearing in, scooped up the ball, and ran 48 yards for the second Ridge touchdown. A pass from Boyle to Burke was good for the point. Perry made another pretty run back of the kickoff for 25 yards after taking the ball on his ten-yard line. Gilligan went in for Duane

Gilligan May Start for Harvard

The University of Penn defeated Harvard last Saturday primarily because the Crimson had no potent passing attack many reports have stated.

Tommy Gilligan and Sam Batchelder both stars on the freshman team last fall, are the varsity's best passers with Gilligan the best receiver. Rumors are current that Coach Horween will start either one of these two against Holy Cross in an effort to give the Crimson strength in this department of the game.

This rumor has been strengthened by the appearance of Gilligan and Batchelder on Team A in practice sessions during the first of the week.

Captain French is Harvard's best backfield player and with Guarnaccia as his mate on lateral passes which have gained so consistently for Harvard that it would be foolish to break it up both of them will start.

The latter is a hard tackler and fine intercessor as well. Harvard's generalship, too good to be true, probably will not be weakened by the replacing of Crawford by Gilligan, who is a much better halfback than quarter so that it looks as though Harper at fullback will be the one to be replaced.

Harper is the Crimson's best defensive back and while it will weaken Harvard on the defense it is a question whether or not the presence of a potent threat by air is not worth whatever loss there may be. If Harper is taken out Guarnaccia will probably draw the defensive fullback assignment while either Gilligan or Batchelder, which ever gets the call, will be the Crimson air threat as well as defense against opposing passes.

The game will be called at 2 o'clock.

Andover Hero Fessenden Product

Last Saturday the Phillips Academicians of Andover and Exeter met on the football field for the 49th time.

Exeter was considered a top-heavy favorite to win but when the final whistle blew the score read Andover 18, Exeter 0. Andover's two ends, John Broaco of Lawrence and Walter Kimball of Sistersville, W. Va., were the heroes. Kimball learned his football at the Fessenden school in West Newton where he prepared for Andover. Kimball blocked two Exeter punts and Broaco one, all three of which led to Andover's scores.

For almost three full periods the two teams battled without a score but towards the end of the period Broaco broke through, blocked Dean's punt and recovered in Exeter's territory.

Two plays later a forward pass placed the ball on the one foot line as the period ended.

The brief respite was not enough for Exeter to withstand the charge and Andover was leading.

Exeter decided to receive the kickoff and after two plays, Bob Bennett,

Newton fullback and punter last year, who had replaced Dean, dropped back to kick. Kimball was through again to block the ball which was recovered by one of his teammates, who ran 20 yards for the final score.

Last year Bennett did not have one kick of his blocked and it is well to know it was not fault of his that his two punts were blocked by Kimball.

Poor protection by his Kimball, and slow passes from the centre combined to give the Andover ends the opportunity to get in on Bennett last Saturday.

Clark Relieves Marsters

Al Marsters, Dartmouth star, played most of the game with Brown but when taken out was relieved by Len Clark, Newton Highlands youth and former Newton high quarterback.

Harold Andres played the entire game at centre, making the third Newton high product in the Green line-up as Johnson replaced Sutton at fullback.

Johnson's leg drive when tackled got him many extra yards while Clark did some good work ahead of Harris when the Green quarterback carried the ball in the third period.

Signor Brothers Finish One, Two

Vincent and Augustino Signor of Boylston street, Newton Centre, sixteen year old twins and students at Newton high placed first and second in road races on Armistice Day.

Last May Vincent won the seven-mile road race during the Merchants week contests in Waltham.

Monday Augustino ran an Armistice race over the same course and won the event in exactly the same time his brother had done earlier—42 min. 30 sec.

Vincent was not in the Waltham race Monday but took second place in a road race at Bristol, Conn.

Johnson To Start Against Cornell

Henry L. Johnson, Jr., Waltham youth, will probably start at fullback for Dartmouth tomorrow in the game with Cornell.

Johnson is fourth string full back on the Green squad but injuries have given him his chance.

Ed Sutton, third man in line for the position, who started against Brown, aggravated a shoulder injury and Johnson will have to bear the burden against the Ithacans.

THE BIRTHPLACE OF LINCOLN
From the picture of the shabby log cabin above, it can be clearly seen what a powerful mind must have suffered. There was nothing of the pomp and splendor about him that surrounded Washington and the other wealthy Presidents. The cabin was however destroyed, a monument has been erected where it stood.

Our true respect and experience is evident in our service, and is commented upon.

RAINBOW'S END BAZAAR A SUCCESS

Y. M. C. A.

Rev. Robert L. Rae will be the speaker next Monday evening at the Fellowship Club supper. His subject, "If I Were 21 Again," will be of interest to all young men. Mr. Rae will begin speaking at 7 o'clock and anyone is welcome to come to the supper.

The 53rd State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Massachusetts and Rhode Island was held at Worcester on Thursday, November 15th. Mr. Walter S. Bruton and Albert Hoffman were delegates representing the Newton Association. The principal speaker was Mr. Charles P. Taft, 2nd, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

One of the Secretaries from the Newton Association was responsible for the showing of moving pictures at the Detention Station at East Boston on Wednesday evening. At the present time there are about 50 men and women and children to whom an entertainment of this kind is very acceptable to help pass away the long and lonely hours while they are detained at the station for various reasons.

Associations of Greater Boston are responsible at various times for entertainments and moving pictures during the week. On Sunday afternoon, December 9th, the DeMolay Sextette will give a musical program.

With the coming of cooler weather the Physical Department activities of the Association are increasing rapidly. Besides the regular classes for men and boys which are well attended, about a dozen community groups are now coming in and using the swimming pool or gymnasium between classes. It is the desire of the Directors and Secretaries that the building be used to its fullest capacity.

Mr. Walter Cooper still holds the high average in the house bowling tournament with an average of 108.

Louis Bills with 154 and Lawrence Burke with 147 have rolled the highest singles. J. McNeil is pressing Mr. Cooper closely for the high average and the high three string. Team 13 is leading with 19 victories and five losses.

Newton Ministers interested in the Kernalian visitation campaign met at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday, November 16th, at 2 o'clock.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION OF CENTRAL CHURCH

Through the hospitality of the Methodist church the Woman's Association enjoyed the pleasant and convenient parish rooms which were placed at their disposal while their own were being repaired.

At ten o'clock workers gathered for the making of surgical dressings, and garments, many and varied, which will find a welcome in Shansi and Shao-han in China and Osaka, Japan. Mrs. A. E. Vose and Mrs. George E. Fisher were in charge. At one o'clock luncheon was served. Mrs. Frank R. Clark, chairman. Owing to the illness of Mrs. George Auryansen, Miss Louise Sherman presided at the meeting which followed the luncheon. A letter was read from Mrs. Auryansen and a message of appreciation and good wishes were sent her from the association. Regret was expressed of the removal of Mrs. Otto Bachmann, who has rendered most valuable service, and leaves behind many friends as she goes to her new home in Georgia. During the summer a tea was given in her honor at the home of Mrs. Walter Kelley and a present from the association will be a reminder of the regard in which she is held.

Mention was made of the death of Mrs. Nathan Derby and Mrs. C. F. Whitney who have both passed away since the last meeting in May.

The New Year Books were distributed showing the programs for the following months and the part each member will play in the activities of the year. Reports were given by Mrs. Charles Frail, the recording secretary, Miss Emma Miller, treasurer, and Mrs. W. L. Vosburgh, chairman of the Finance Committee. $300 was voted towards new kitchen equipment and Mrs. F. M. Blanchard, director of housekeeping, was requested to make a report at the next meeting on what purchases should be made. It was also voted to contribute $500 toward the church improvements.

The speaker of the afternoon was Rev. Kenneth McArthur, Rural Secretary of the Mass. Federation of Churches. Mr. McArthur presented his subject in a forceful way and also brought a keen sense of humor to bear in making vivid the very human problems which he analyzed. It is a pathetic story of the many weak and struggling little churches and one regrets their frequent inadequacy, but Mr. McArthur pointed to changes for the better in combining and making more efficient these churches. Men of more experience in country life are needed with good education and a vision which will broaden the view of those to whom they minister and will lead the young people into lives of service. He considered the agricultural extension work a strong ally of the church in teaching better methods of farming and housekeeping, thus releasing energy which could be employed in church activities; also in instructing the boys and girls in scientific ways of labor, making their work seem like an interesting game, and giving them real interests of permanent value. These young people are needed in their communities and too often restlessness has been fostered by the stories told of the farm boy who has gone to the city and amassed a fortune. In reality frequently their conditions are not as good as in the home town.

Dr. Mary Wilcox presented a petition for signatures from the American Peace Foundation, urging further consideration of our entrance into the World Court. This petition will be sent to the Committee on International Relations.

Alvord Bros. were the brokers consummating these sales.

PARKING ARRANGEMENTS FOR GARDEN VISITORS

Numerous inquiries regarding parking facilities near the Boston Garden which is to be opened Saturday, have produced the information that the North Terminal Garage, in operation for several years, will prove readily accessible. This is better known as a commercial garage and is located at 600 Commercial Street, at the Boston end of the Charlestown Bridge. There is parking space for 500 cars, indoors and outdoors, and the garage is three minutes' walk from the Garden entrance.

Whitney's Idea Stands

Experiments made at the University of California have proved that a bull's reaction to the color of red is no more than to any other color. In fact, judging by the conduct of the steers tested, it seems doubtful whether they can tell red from green, or white from blue. It is even possible that the bulls have no realization of color at all.

THE SALVATION ARMY

The Salvation Army is just opening its annual general appeal in Newton. For the next few weeks, the residents of Newton will be asked to contribute to the work of mercy which the Army is carrying on.

Newton's quota is set at $5,000. When contrasted with the work which The Salvation Army will accomplish with this money in softening misfortune and misery, the amount is comparatively small.

Every dollar raised will be spent in the service of humanity. No other charitable organization can come so near to getting 100 cents out of every dollar in service to mankind and the Army assures Newton that all contributions are always spent so that the greatest good of the greatest number is obtained.

Specifically, the $5,000 represents Newton's share in the support of the 24 institutions and departments by which the Salvation Army serves Greater Boston. These include the Evangeline Booth Home and Hospital, the Day Nursery, the Roxbury Hospital and Dispensary, the General Relief Department, the Immigration Department, the Employment Bureau, the Men's Hotels, the Industrial Home and Stores, the Fire and Emergency Patrol, etc., all organizations quietly serving humanity in and day out without thought of prejudice to race, color or religion.

EDITORIAL

While the interclub meetings of the five Men's Clubs in Newton Centre has much to command it, we believe better results in fellowship and acquaintance would follow the amalgamation of all the clubs into one community organization. There is a sense of initiative and power in a community affair, which cannot be reached in smaller units. West Newton and Newton Highlands now have such clubs and are accomplishing a great deal of good for themselves and the villages they represent. —

In our chagrin last week over the results of the election, we failed to pay a tribute to the splendid work of the Women's Committee for Hoover. They were splendidly organized and the large percentage of the registered vote was undoubtedly due to their efficient work. Without them we fear that the result would have been much worse than it is.

While we have not favored making Armistice Day a legal holiday its observance as such may possibly lead to the erection of a suitable war memorial in this city. Attempts in the past in this direction have been sporadic and futile and it may need a yearly reminder to bring about a proper memorial. —

The plan of the Newton Trust Company to interest and instruct its women depositors by series of financial lectures is step in the right direction. Little enough is known by the average depositor, man or woman, about the many phases of finance, and these lectures should be quite popular. —

We hope that delay in the matter of erecting a new fire station at Newton Corner, is only temporary and that definite steps will be taken in the near future towards its construction. We also believe the prominence of the site demands the erection of a building of architectural merit.

PROCLAMATION

The citizens of Newton have always, during the past years, shown a very deep interest in the Children, made orphans, in the Old Bible Lands.

The Near East Relief organization, which is incorporated by an act of Congress, has accomplished the greatest humanitarian service the world has ever known.

Coming now to the close of this work the citizens of Newton are requested once more to respond to the call for aid and help in order that the great work might be closed in a dignified way and the approximately 30,000 children still remaining under their care may be properly cared for.

I therefore respectfully request the good people of our city to generously respond to this last appeal by attending the Golden Rule dinner on Monday evening, November 26th, in the Woman's Club Building at Newton Centre and by co-operating in the observance of the International Golden Rule Sunday, December 2nd, and make a liberal contribution for the helpless and needy children.

Signed: EDWIN O. CHILDS,
Mayor, City of Newton.

During the week ending November 10 there were 111 patients in the hospital, of whom 44 paid as much or more than cost of care, 47 paid less than cost of care, and 20 (including babies) were treated free of charge. Babies were born (7 girls and 1 boy), 106 patients were treated in the outpatient department, and 12 in the eye clinic. The social worker made 16 calls in the homes and 16 patients were transferred by the social service car. 8 emergency cases were treated in the Operating Room.

Of the 8 emergency cases treated only one was the result of an automobile accident: a woman with internal injuries. Three men were treated: one for a lacerated foot, caused when he was hit by a rock; one for a dislocated shoulder received while he was playing football; and one for intoxication. One woman was treated for a dog-bite on her ankle, and one for bruises and minor abrasions of both knees and one ankle. Two girls were also treated: one for a crushed hand caused by being caught in a wringer, and one for a broken leg.

ALDERMEN DISCUSS FIRE STATION AT NEWTON

Alderman Earle read the roster of the men at the Newton Corner fire station to show that of the 13 men only 5 reside in that section of Newton so that a bell in a tower in the new building will not be heard by most of the men at that station should they be at their residences.

The Board voted to lay the matter on the table until next Monday night, Alderman Earle and Grebenstein voting in the negative as they wanted the appropriation made without further delay.

THEY VOTED FOR HOOVER

As evidence of the intense interest shown in the recent election was the sacrifice made by many of the aged women who reside in the Stone Institute at Newton Upper Falls. Fifteen old ladies from there made the trip to the polling place in Ward 5, some on crutches and others carrying canes to assist them in walking. The oldest of the group is 88 years of age. Six of them had never voted before and had become registered to enable them to vote for Hoover. All of the 5 cast their ballots for Herbert Hoover. They were carried to and from the polling places in cars furnished by the Hoover Volunteer Committee.

ALDERMANIC CANDIDATES

Among the present members of the board of Aldermen who have announced their candidacies for re-election are: Gallagher and Powers of Ward 1, Collins of Ward 2, Weeks and Ror of Ward 3, Heathcote and Noone of Ward 4, Ball of Ward 5, Worth of Ward 6 and Hawkins of Ward 7.

The statement in a Newton paper that Alderman Powers circulated his nomination paper among his fellow members of the Board on Tuesday night at the meeting of the Aldermen is not correct. Only two members of the Board, residents of Ward 1, would have been eligible to have signed the paper.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

considerable distances from dumps in this city would appreciate the construction of inexpensive incinerators to burn such rubbish.

When we opposed the locating of the new Newtonville school on the site of Cabot street between two brooks, Laundry Brook and Edmunds Brook, we asserted that this location, the lowest drainage point in the surrounding terrain, was well saturated with water, and of a boggy nature. The excavation of the cellar for the heating plant at the school, there being no basement under most of the building, proved the truth of our assertion. So much water seeped into the excavation that a large pump was necessary to draw the water out at the rate of 800 gallons a minute to permit the building of the foundation. The contractors building the school have done a careful job of waterproofing and believe there will be no trouble from seepage or moisture after the structure is finished. We hope they are correct.

The death of William F. Grace of Pearl street marked the passing of an old native resident of Newton, a man, who in an unobtrusive way took a keen interest in public affairs. He was a fine type of citizen and a real gentleman at all times.

Newton has furnished a considerable quota to the army of Nimrods which has been invading the forests the past couple of weeks to kill wild and "near wild" creatures. One group of Newton men who went to the country north of the White Mountains did not land any big game, but did get some thrills. One member of this group sighted a "bear" at a distance of about 200 yards. Quivering with excitement he controlled himself sufficiently to aim at the "bear" and scored a visible hit. He shouted to a companion some distance away that he had killed a bear with his first shot, as the animal did not move after he had seen him fly from it. Just as a matter of caution, this hunter took another shot at the "bear" and again scored a hit, more for flying. Then he and his companion cautiously approached the dead "bear." The quarry was dead all right; but it was not a dead bear, it was a dead tree stump; one that had been dead for some years. On their way home this group sight

Balzac's Odd Opinion of Own Character

Honoré de Balzac's own estimate of himself is to be found in a letter he wrote to the Duchess d'Albranç. The letter is included in the memoirs of a mysterious contemporary of the author collected and published in Paris recently by Charles Léger.

"I comprise in my five feet and two inches," Balzac declared, "all possible incoherencies and contrasts, and those who regard me as vain, profligate, stubborn, frivolous, without continuity of ideas, a coxcomb, ill-tempered, lacking application, reflection or persistence, talkative, tactless, unmanly, impolite, crotchety, of uneven humor, will be just as right as those who might call me economical, modest, courageous, tenacious, energetic, untroubled, a hard worker, persistent, taciturn, subtle and tactful, polite, always cheerful. The one who deems me a poltroon will not be more wrong than he who says I am extremely brave, that I am learned or ignorant, full of talent or inept. Nothing surprises me any longer about myself. I end by believing that I am only an instrument played upon by circumstances.—Detroit News.

Open Mind Requisite of Proper Judgment

Your judgment is no better than your information, is a good statement to memorize. It is certain that to acquire judgment, one must investigate a subject from different angles. The first information may only tell part of the truth. One may discover that he has been misinformed or so slightly informed that it is a poor foundation on which to form an opinion.

If you only read what you already know, you learn nothing. Some do not want to read something new or read the other side of a question on which they have narrow but profound convictions. They stop the paper that dares discuss views with which they cannot agree or understand. They condemn the preacher or the teacher who taxes their minds with new ideas.

The way to acquire knowledge is to keep an open mind so that different angles of thought may present themselves for your information. That is the basis of sound judgment.—Successful Farming.

Renting System Old

We find no exact records of the first rent paid. It is said that when the Germans conquered parts of Gaul, the land was parceled out to chiefs, lieutenants and private soldiers. In return the holders of the lands promised military service when needed. Some of the land was given to favorites who were allowed to pay in money instead of service, and the system was established. Rent was certainly known in the days that Rome flourished, there being Latin names for rent under long leasehold tenure; rent of a farm; ground rent; rent of state lands, and the annual rent payable for the right to the perpetual enjoyment of anything built on the surface of the land.—Washington Star.

Myth About Monkeys

It is often stated that monkeys sometimes cross streams by means of "monkey bridges." We doubt, says the Pathfinder Magazine, whether anybody has positive knowledge of monkeys forming a bridge by taking hold of each other in order to cross a stream. Monkeys do, however, hang on to one another from time to time and sometimes one will seize and climb up the tail of another. One will even sometimes draw another up.

Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Zoological park, believes the story about monkeys making a bridge was suggested by the maneuvers of the spider monkeys of South America.

Expression Long in Use

Thousands of years ago the Egyptians spoke of their dead as those who had "gone west." The abode of the dead was believed by them to be in the west, the land of the setting sun. Similar beliefs were held by other peoples, among them some American Indian tribes, who believed that the "happy hunting ground" was in the west and who therefore frequently put their dead on scaffolds facing that direction. Whether the modern term "to go west" has any etymological connection with these old beliefs is unknown.

Leisurely Spaniards

In Spain there are many bullock carts on the road. They travel slowly along the highways. Auto salesmen visiting that country, see a fine chance for sales. But it isn't so easy to make the sale. Slung beneath the high vehicle is a hammock. In this the driver can sleep peacefully while the bullock plods along the road. In time he gets there, and he finds it soon enough. Perhaps the dwellers in what we call less progressive countries are right in resisting the appeal of speed.

Development of Watch

Out of the experiment with "Nuremberg eggs," as the first watches were called, evolved various devices for keeping time, but it was not until the Eighteenth century that the watch as we know it today was designed. Then as Tompion, who died in 1713, invented the first dead-beat escapement for watches, George Graham improved on the principle, and Pierre le Roy managed to overcome the gain or loss of time caused by the contraction or expansion of the mainspring.

His Own Rules

A golfer known for his shady character entered for a competition. He was partnered by a nervous and inexperienced player who had, of course, to mark the suspect's card.

At the end of the round the unscrupulous player handed in an excellent score. The secretary consulted his partner.

"I say, this score of Blank's is it all right? Did he play fair?"

"Oh, yes," came the halting reply, "quite fair. Of course he has certain rules of his own."

How It Sounded

A woman with a bad cold attended a dinner, and although she had a poor appetite she was pressed to have some food.

"Oh, do," said her hosts for the tenth time.

"I couldn't," she replied. "I couldn't possibly eat any more."

They continued to press her to eat this and that, and at last she said: "Oh, very well, if I bust, I bust."

Comfort for Fat Man in Insurance Figures

An insurance company of New York announces from its accumulation of data and figures that fat men are more honest than their "lean and hungry" brothers. Which corroborates Shakespeare's opinion expressed long ago when he made his Caesar say: "Let me have men about me that are fat."

The fat man is noted for his ready and hearty laugh, and that may explain, in a way, some of his honesty. It is hard to picture a good-humored, open-faced, jolly man as anything but fair and square and straight. Of course "a man may smile and smile and be a villain," but that sort of mirth is a pinch-faced, half-strangled kind. A smile is often associated with wickedness, but a free, belly-shaking laugh betokens a guileless genius.

SCHOOL NOTESLEVI F. WARREN JUNIOR HIGH*Warrenites Observe Open Night

On Thursday, Nov. 8, parents and other interested citizens had an opportunity to visit the Warren Junior High School in session. The regular daily schedule of classes took place and hundreds of visitors crowded into the class rooms to hear the recitations and learn how "things are done in this day and generation." The open session was a marked success in every way.

Mr. Schroeder Speaks on Athletics

Mr. Schroeder gave a very interesting talk on athletics. Wednesday, Nov. 14, in the Assembly. He compared athletics in Europe with athletics in America. He described the Olympic games at Amsterdam, Holland. The national hymn is played first and then the royal arrives. The contestants come in next alphabetically according to country.

The Americans formed a unique spectacle in their blue coats, white flannel trousers, and white straw hats," said Mr. Schroeder. All the different countries lined up in columns, then the flag bearers of each column presented himself to the king. A canon was fired and 2000 pigeons were set free to fly back to the represented countries. This was one of the most impressive parts of the games.

"What was the matter with our boys at the Olympics?" was a question asked by many people when Mr. Schroeder returned from abroad. "The trouble was just this," he replied. "Our boys were good, but they found so many others just as good or better that it discouraged them. In our country we have been satisfied with having one person break a record. The other countries have a great many to choose from." Another thing he spoke about was sportsmanship. "English boys," he said, "play a game for the sake of playing. If they lose a game, they are not ashamed. 'We are,' he added. "We are bad losers as a country, but we are fast learning that it is the playing that counts and not the expensiveness of one person." Then he spoke about the gymnastic festivals that are held yearly in European countries in which the rank and file take part. At Cologne, Germany, for instance, 20,000 boys vaulted eight feet in the air. At Lucerne, Switzerland, each year they have the same sort of turnfest, as they call it. Mr. Schroeder said that the Olympic games were a festival of record and the gymnasium meets were festivals of accord in which everyone was trained to a certain standard. It was the last type of meet that was so valuable because the whole nation rather than one person was trained to live right habitually. This is the lesson we have learned from abroad—and that is the reason we have gymnastics in our school today.

BIGELOW DISTRICT

Many visitors were at the Underwood School during Education Week. Twenty students and instructors from Harvard University and Perkins Institute visited the Sight-saving class on Monday. Special invitations were sent to parents to visit on Wednesday. Regular classroom work continued through the day, followed by brief hall exercises by the pupils, illustrating various school activities in safety, weekly mid-morning lunch, investments, and thrift. Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Geer showed moving pictures of scenes from the pageant given on Forest Park last June. At the close, ladies of the Community and Social Science clubs, under the leadership of Mrs. Raymond A. Green and Mrs. Joe W. Gerrity fittingly entertained the parents and teachers with an hour of sociability.

Friday was the important day of the week at the Bigelow Junior High. Parents of all the pupils were invited to visit some part of the session which continued from three to eight. At three-thirty the whole school assembled in the Hall for a short patriotic observance of Armistice Day. Major M. W. Murray, director of the Vocational Division of the High School, representing the American Legion, explained to the pupils the meaning of the day, and urged all to prepare themselves while still in school for an intelligent understanding of our own problems and those of foreign countries, in order that there may be permanent peace among all nations.

The rooms were crowded with visitors during the later periods of the session, and the parents had an opportunity to learn at first hand some of the daily problems confronting pupils and teachers. Several hundred adults visited the school, and many hoped that the plan might be made an annual feature.

F. A. DAY JUNIOR HIGH

Something more regarding presidential elections. The Day Independent Party of the eighth grade came out victorious in the campaign, with the following results: President, Roger Maynard; Vice President, Ralph Morrison; Secretary, Jean Scribner; and Treasurer, Barbara Mildram. "For one for all," was the slogan which carried them through.

The seventh grade is still in the process of electing class officers. A seventh grade assembly was called on Wednesday morning of this week for the purpose of making the nominees of the various class offices, better known to the class. Eighth and ninth grade officers started the ball rolling for a lively campaign, by their inspiring speeches. The speakers were: John Fitzgerald, Ralph Morrison, Roger Maynard, Jean Scribner and Barbara Mildram.

Another interesting broadcast of Current Events was given at 1:30 P. M. on Tuesday by Mr. A. W. South-

RALPH WALDO EMERSON

The school soccer team ended the season's league games with a win, playing against the Hyde School team on Nov. 6 at Newton Highlands. The score was 2 to 0. Inasmuch as the Hyde team had won the first contest at Upper Falls, the Emersons were very happy to even the count. Michael Pamela booted the ball across the goal line for both scores. Joseph Baldus did an excellent piece of work, as "goalie." Gilbert Marcy was a very fleet runner and assisted much in offence and defense.

Armistice day was observed with a half-hour program in the Hall on Friday afternoon. The program consisted of these numbers: National Emblem March, Governor Fuller's Procla-

—Mr. and Mrs

COOLIDGE to ALFONSO

"I believe it to be true that when two men can talk together the danger of any serious disagreement is immeasurably lessened and that what is true of individuals is true of nations. The international telephone, therefore, which carries the warmth and the friendliness of the human voice, will always correct what might be misinterpreted in the written word."

President Coolidge to King Alfonso of Spain at the opening of trans-Atlantic telephone service between Madrid and the United States, October 13, 1928.

True of nations. True of individuals. True of your business, and of you.

In a letter (which comes cold to your correspondent) it's not always easy exactly to express your meaning, be it ever so clear to you as you write.

Talk will do it—two-way talk. Face-to-face or by telephone, talk makes every shade of meaning clear.

Prove it to yourself

Test it with that distant customer. Put into your telephone selling the warmth and friendliness of your personality. It will register.

GIRL SCOUTS

Have you ever been to call on us at our Headquarters at 297 Walnut street, Newtonville? Always you will find us busy—sometimes in a quiet, comfortable way—and sometimes more actively, with girls working on their First Class test and a group discussing rehearsals for the Christmas pageant and very small girls coming in shyly and eagerly to buy handbooks and even the typewriter going and the telephone ringing! But we are never too busy to welcome you and be glad that you can see a little of "how the wheels go round."

This Saturday the Junior Patrol Leaders' Association is going on a hike to Camp Mary Day. Besides a good time, they will have a business meeting and conference and discuss ways in which they may truly aid their troops.

A course in Red Cross Life Saving and swimming is beginning this Friday, November 16th, at the St. Agnes Pool. Mrs. Warren, a Red Cross Life Saving Examiner, is the instructor, and those who pass the course will receive the Red Cross emblem and also the Girl Scout Merit Badge.

Newton Scouts have had two big opportunities for community service recently, one in aiding with the Red Cross Roll Call, the other in helping the Near East Relief by sending out for them 4000 folders, and also by serving at the Golden Rule Dinner, November 26th.

There will be a Council Meeting at Headquarters on Thursday, November 15th, and next week, November 21st, the monthly meeting of the Officers' Association will be held at the Unitarian Church, West Newton. "Community Service" will be the topic of the evening, and Mrs. Angier will speak on the Red Cross, and Miss Elliot on District Nursing.

The officers of Newton Highlands are in charge of the supper.

Troop 14 had a Moving Picture Party, Tuesday evening, November 13th. The costumes displayed were amusing, original, and fantastic and the traditional good time "was had by all." On November 9th, Troop 17 of Newton Upper Falls went on an overnight hike to Cedar Hill with their Captain, Margaret Gould. Their rest was disturbed by nothing more serious than the popping of some corn which had fallen into the fire before Taps, and this brought with it only pleasant recollections which led to sweet dreams.

November 12th, was celebrated by Troop 10 by a hike to Dover with Miss Fairbrother, captain, as the guests of the Boy Scouts. About 18 girls went, and twice as many boys; after a long hike through the woods, a sort of "endurance contest," we suspect, dinner was cooked over an open fireplace. The girls appreciate the hospitality of the Boy Scouts immensely and enjoyed the day very much.

HARVARD GLEE CLUB COMING

It is the settled policy of the All Newton Music School each year to bring to Newton a major artistic and educational attraction. The two concerts by the Russian Symphonic Choir will be recalled as bringing, last January, to Assembly Hall at Newtonville "capacity" audiences, and as being brilliant social as well as artistic events.

The Music School now has pleasure in announcing that this year's events will be two concerts on December 14th by the Harvard Glee Club, with Dr. Davison conducting. The Glee Club needs no introduction. We are all proud of its great record of achievement, and there is no one who does not welcome an opportunity to hear one of its spirited and fine programmes. It has now an international, as well as a National, fame.

As last year, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., has charge of the arrangements, and her committees are busy with plans to bring the concert to the attention of the public.

The Mather Class

What has religion done for civilization? This historical review of the accomplishments of religion was made by Prof. Kirtley F. Mather at the regular weekly meeting of the Mather Class last Sunday morning at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House.

Before taking up the subject of the day, Prof. Mather introduced the Class Librarian, Norman Alexander Hall, who distributed a list of books which Prof. Mather recommends. The plan is for the members to purchase one or more and then loan them to the class for circulation throughout the year. This will give each member the opportunity to read a variety of appropriate books. Mr. Hall, besides being Class Librarian, has a book store at 40 Langley road, where he is readily accessible every day.

Sunday before last the discussion covered the nature of religion. Last Sunday the topic was "What has religion done for civilization?"

Religion has done many things which have held back civilization and retarded the progress of the race. They are briefly summarized as superstition, hypocrisy, persecution, chicanery, false sense of security, ultra-conservatism, and laissez-faire.

On the other hand, religion has done vastly more to benefit civilization, as is indicated by the following subject-headings: Art, architecture, literature, music, liberty, sex-equality, justice, mercy, ideals of peace and brotherhood, the trend toward unity, and consecration to the things of the spirit.

Prof. Mather developed each point at length.

Superstition is the remnant of the old ideas about magic and things that seem miraculous. It is useless to expect natural law to be modified within the sphere where it is supposed to work inflexibly. The use of charms will not cause the administration of the universe to change.

Hypocrisy and persecution have always done their foul work, and are too well known to require comment.

Chicanery includes the hoodwinking or fooling of the people by bribes of a house on the fine street in Heaven or by forgiveness of sin.

Religion at times gives a false sense of security, when only high endeavor gives the true sense of security. Some people are so intoxicated with a religious spirit that their senses are numbed and they live in a sort of paradise.

By ultra-conservatism is meant the habit of the typically priestly-minded individual who forever turns back to a fancied golden age of the past. A certain measure of conservatism is highly desirable, but all the facts and principles that man needs to solve his problems are not yet known. Ultra-conservatism holds back progress.

By "laissez-faire" is meant the idea of letting what is, go on. It is impossible for man to make any change. The responsibility is on God. All power is outside man. We are but pilgrims here; Heaven is our home. Make the best of things as they are, and everything will come out right in the end.

All these perversions are not chargeable to Christianity. Many of man's mistakes are but stepping-stones, which have permitted him to get across to surer territory.

The benefits which religion has conferred on humanity are manifold.

In art and architecture the most beautiful and most lasting monuments have been created in response to religious motives. The great pictures, statues, and churches have come this way.

The great literature of all mankind has been the result of religion. Even pagan literature has been largely religious.

The finest music of the world shares the same source of inspiration.

In the matter of liberty there is a heavy credit on the side of religion, in the alternating ascendancy of priests and prophets, the chains forged by the priests are broken by the prophets. Our own "Landing of the Pilgrims" symbolizes the freedom of man in relation to the administration of the universe. The wheel of fate is moving all the time and ever going forward. Any given spot on the wheel has its ups and downs, but just now there is more liberty of thought than ever before.

Sex-equality is fostered by the Christian religion. Not all religions are as far advanced as others in this respect.

There is more justice and mercy in the world than ever before, and that is due largely to religion.

The ideals of peace and brotherhood exceed the accomplishments in this respect, to be sure, but the ideals are all right and are gradually permeating the fibre of the human race.

The trend toward unity is exemplified by a truer understanding of religion, which is gradually leading the race from a feeling of scattered disunity to a coherent unity of accomplishment. People are working cooperatively, and we are justified in living a serene life, confident of the powers of the universe, if man will but use them in the right way.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands

Mrs. William M. Mick opens her home, 559 Parker street, Newton Centre, for the meeting of the Shakespeare Club on Saturday afternoon, the 17th, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. James F. Cooper will give the Quiz on Acts IV and V of Anthony and Cleopatra as the entertainment program.

Newton Federation

For its fall meeting the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will be the guest of the Waban Woman's Club on Monday afternoon, November 19th, at the Neighborhood Club, at 2:30 o'clock. The hostess Club combines its date of meeting in this hospitality. After a group of songs by Louise Watson, Soprano, and welcome by Mrs. George F. Reinhardt, president of the Waban Woman's Club, the meeting will be conducted by the Newton Federation, the president, Mrs. J. Porter Russell in the chair. As the guest of honor, Mrs. Horace B. Gale, director of the Twelfth District, will speak briefly.

Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker, the speaker of the afternoon, has chosen for her subject, "International Obligations of American Women." Mrs. Schoonmaker is a Kentuckian by birth, a graduate of Transylvania University, and she later did graduate work at Harvard and Chicago Universities and at the Sorbonne in Paris. She became well-known in the field of writing, lecturing, and dramatic reading. Mrs. Schoonmaker next turned her interest to the state and national governmental problems, and then, quite naturally, on to the larger field of international relations. She has first-hand knowledge of European conditions, and her intimate study of world-wide political conditions makes it possible for her to speak with singular impressiveness on her chosen subject. It has been said of Nancy Schoonmaker that "she is good to look at, better to hear, and best to follow in her public addresses, which are full of energy, humor and wise wisdom."

After the program, the Waban Woman's Club will serve tea to its guests during a social hour.

State Federation

PRESS CONFERENCE. Press chairmen and all interested Clubwomen are reminded of the Press Conference which occurs on Monday, the 19th, at 2 o'clock, at Perkins Hall, 264 Boylston street, Boston, the full program for which was given last week. There will be a question period where problems may be solved. Miss Carolyn J. Peek, State chairman is making the arrangements.

TWELFTH DISTRICT CONFERENCE. Friday, November 23rd, is a popular date with those in charge of activities for the State Federation. Club members who do not live themselves to Natick for a feast of wisdom, will undoubtedly live themselves to Cambridge in the hope of a feast of sweets. There is a question as to which locality will be most attractive. At the Twelfth District Conference, which will meet with the Natick Woman's Club at the Congregational Church, at 10:30 o'clock, Mrs. Horace B. Gale, the new district director, will preside. During the morning session, there will be an address of welcome by Mrs. Frederick H. Buckley, hostess president, greetings by Mrs. Azael A. Packard, State president, and five-minute talks by the State chairmen. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock, tickets for which should be ordered from Miss Marion S. Loker, 75 West Central street, Natick, not later than November 21st.

After the Round Table Conference, from 2 to 2:30 o'clock, there will be short addresses by Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr., second vice-president of the State Federation, and Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, third vice-president. A STATE SOCIETY D. R.

The State Society, Daughters of the Revolution, announces with great pleasure the change in their Headquarters from 5 Park street to a most attractive apartment in the Hotel Kenmore, Commonwealth Avenue, Back Bay. The first Council meeting was held there this week and plans were made for a housewarming early in December to introduce the new location to all members throughout the State in an afternoon tea.

The committee appointed to consider new headquarters appointed by the regent, Mrs. Adelbert Fernald, of Newton, were Miss Emma Downing Coolidge, State Historian, of Newton, chairman; Mrs. Alice M. Patterson of Arlington, Mrs. Benjamin Buckley of Roxbury, and Mrs. A. Florence Turner of Lynn, and the regent ex officio.

The State Society, Daughters of the Revolution, held a most successful Fair, both socially and financially, last Wednesday, the 7th, in Chipman Hall, Tremont Temple, where they have annually raised funds for patriotic work by this form of activity.

General chairman of the undertaking was the regent, Mrs. Adelbert Fernald of Newton, and she was assisted by the regents and members of all affiliated chapters.

Dolly Madison Chapter served a most appetizing lunch, and conspicuous for housewifely service in this culinary art was a former regent, Mrs. Clarence W. Mansur of Malden. The present regent, Mrs. Calvin Hosmer, was also aided in this task by loyal chapter members.

Supper was served under the direction of members of the State Council, including Mrs. Walter Whitney, Miss Emma D. Coolidge, Mrs. Ellen Harris, Miss Grace L. Gay, Mrs. Ethelma Briggs, Mrs. Edson Gould, and other members including Mrs. W. L. Ratcliffe, Mrs. W. W. Winship and Mrs. John Patterson. Miss Lillian Pierce, Mrs. Raymond Lehrer, Miss Pearl Wilkins, and others acted as waitresses. All wore attractive headbands and wristers in the State Colors of buff and blue. The majority of these ladies are from Newton.

The tables were heavily laden with attractive and useful articles that appealed as Christmas gifts.

An almost uncanny fortune teller garbed appropriately in witch's costume of flowing robe and high-peaked black hat, was kept busy telling her amazingly accurate personal bits of history.

GOLDEN RULE DINNER

The people of Newton are manifesting unusual interest in the coming Golden Rule Dinner to be given at the Woman's Club, Newton Centre, on the evening of Nov. 26th. Mrs. Charles Wood Bond, the Chairman of the Golden Rule Committee, has appointed a strong committee of some of the most prominent people of the city who are sponsoring this dinner.

Mr. Edward J. Lang, who is directing the campaign in Newton, says that during his entire experience of the past 8 years he has ever had such whole hearted co-operation as the citizens of Newton are giving. The dinner will consist of a stew, dry bread, prunes and coffee, which will represent a meal that is partaken of by Orphans in the Bible Lands.

Mayor Edwin O. Childs will preside at the dinner and it is estimated that about 300 guests will be seated around the tables and enjoy the excellent program prepared.

Mrs. Bond is quite jubilant over the fact that she has the largest Golden Rule Committee who are co-operating with her that has ever served in similar capacity during the past years in which Golden Rule has been observed.

The Girl Scouts—25 in number will be the waitresses in uniform and Miss Freeman, the Girl Scout executive through her organization is contributing very largely in the success of the occasion.

The Business men of Newton have generously donated the food and Mr. Paul Cox, caterer, is donating his services in the preparation of the meal. Dr. James L. Barton, who has been long associated with this great welfare work, and a National speaker of prominence will give an address.

Call Newton North 7243 or write Golden Rule Committee, 259 Walnut street, Newtonville, for reservations.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER

Lucy Jackson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held its regular November meeting at the Harlan Gray Otis House, Boston.

The regent, Mrs. John N. Eaton, presided. After salute to the flag the chaplain, Mrs. Alex D. Salinger, read the Battle Hymn of the Republic, followed by the repetition of the Lord's Prayer. As tribute to the memory of Mrs. Louis Bell the chapter stood in silence for a few moments.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mr. George Francis Dow, curator of the Otis house, was introduced by Mrs. Henry W. Newhall. Mr. Dow told of the restoration of the Otis house which is now the property of the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities.

The meeting was most pleasant and interesting. The chapter felt that the visit to this historic house was well worth while.

Following the program the committee of hostesses, Mrs. Francis Newhall, chairman, served delicious old fashioned refreshments.

FINE PROGRAM

The Men's Club of Eliot Church have arranged a fine program of lectures for the coming season, all of which will be given in Eliot Church. On Nov. 27 Will Irwin, writer and correspondent, will inaugurate the series and will be followed on Dec. 18 by Burton Holmes with one of his illustrated talks. On January 8, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer and scientist, will give an illustrated lecture. On Feb. 19, Stephen Leacock, "Canada's Mark Twain," will speak on March 19, Lowell Thomas will give an illustrated lecture. The last lecture, to be held sometime in April, will be given by Dr. Cadman.

The Club wishes to state that this series is a community affair and is not limited to the Men's Club.

PALS FACE STIFF TEST IN WANDERERS

The Newton Pals tried an iron man stunt over the week end by playing two games, one on Sunday and again on the holiday. On Sunday afternoon at Cabot Park they defeated the South Boston Trojans by the score of 13 to 6, and on the following day played on the Waltham High School Athletic Field in a game which was part of the Armistice Day program of the Waltham American Legion, where they won their second game in as many days by defeating the Waltham Collegians 6 to 0. The Pals record to date is seven wins in eight games played, during which time they have rolled up 118 points to their opponents 13. The one game they lost was to the Atlantic A. A. which was caused by their failure to kick the point after touchdown, the score being 7 to 6.

Next Sunday the Pals face their biggest game of the year when they play the Quincy Wanderers at Cabot Park. The Wanderers have one of the heaviest teams in semi-pro football and will considerably outweigh the Pals. An idea of the strength of the visiting team is shown in the fact that in three games played with the Flittons of East Boston, the Flittons have been held to 24 points, one of the games being a scoreless tie. The Pals have high ambitions next year to play some of the biggest and best teams available, so this game Sunday will be the acid test, and will show just where they fit in semi-pro football.

The game with the Trojans last Sunday was one of the best games played at Cabot Park this year. The first touchdown by the Pals was the result of a long pass from Johnny Lyman to Bob McArdle, and the second was a 30 yard run by George Fournier around the visiting team's right end. The Trojans scored as the result of a fumbled kickoff which they recovered on the Pals goal-line and pushed over on the second try.

On Armistice Day the Pals faced the pick of Waltham High School's former stars. The only touchdown of the game was made on a twenty yard pass from Johnny Powers to Bob McArdle who fought his way across the line for the winning points. When the game ended the Pals had the ball on their opponent's one yard line. Next Sunday's game will start at 2:30 sharp.

Newton's Two-Year Streak Ends

The Newton High girls hockey team suffered its first defeat in two years Wednesday when the Watertown high team pinned a 4 to 0 shut out on the orange and black on the Watertown field.

The victory was Watertown's second of the season and was due largely to the playing of Capt. Marjorie Vahey, Blanche Patterson, Marion O'Neill, and Marguerite Hastings. The summary:

Gilligan's Passes Score

In Wednesday's scrimmage between the Harvard varsity and a team made up of scrubs, ineligibles and coaches, the former routed their opponents 37 to 0 in a 90-minute session. Half of the varsity attempts to advance were by the air route which worked none too successfully. Tommy Gilligan played a Team B position. The third touchdown of the afternoon was by a pass from Gilligan on the 20 yard line to Putnam in the end zone. The next came a few plays later on a pass over the line from Gilligan to Hugley. Touchdown No. 5 was led up to by a 40-yard pass to the three yard line from Gilligan to Batchelder.

Boston Garden Opens Tomorrow

The long awaited opening of the Boston Garden will take place tomorrow evening when the Crosscut-Pishon American Legion Post will present its annual boxing carnival in the new sports centre of the Hub. The feature bout will bring together Andre Routis of France and Dick "Honeyboy" Flanagan. In addition there will be several military spectacles, music by several bands, and special carnival features for the ladies. Many special guests, including Governor Fuller, Mayor Nichols, "Tex" Rickard, and Army and Navy representatives will be present. Modern construction, ventilation, seating facilities, and other features make the Boston Garden the latest thing in sport arenas.

Newton League Matches

The local club teams in the Newton league failed to do much scoring in Wednesday night's bowling matches. The Commercial Club still leads in the bottle pin series by taking all three points from the Newton Club on the former's alleys. Briggs of Commercial hit 241 for his first string, the high single of the evening, and 615 for a total to put his team far enough in front that Newton never threatened. Newton broke even in Boston pins with Commercial after tying the first string and losing the roll-off. Waban and Maugus split even, Waban taking two of the bottle pin points and Maugus taking all four at Boston. Middlesex had Hunnewell's number and allowed them but one point in the Boston pin match. Baker's high single of 147 and three string total of 358 put Middlesex on top. DeLong, Loring and Green came through with 113, 113, and 106 respectively in the last string to give Hunnewell its one point.

Political Notes

Congressman Robert Luce had a decided vote in this district last week, receiving 20,931 votes, as compared with a vote for Hoover of 16,738 and 18,103 for Allen.

This senatorial district favored inserting the state senator to vote to memorize Congress to repeal the 18th amendment, by a vote of 20,950 in favor to 18,376 opposed.

All members are asked to save their rummage for the annual spring sale. Mrs. Donald M. Hill is chairman.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The next meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Newton Post No. 48, will be held at Elks' Hall, Newton, on Wednesday evening, November 21, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Ida Lovejoy, County chairman, will install the officers. The auxiliary quartet will make its first appearance.

All members are asked to save their rummage for the annual spring sale. Mrs. Donald M. Hill is chairman.

TEACHERS—SCHOOLS

MR. O'BRIEN HERE

Mr. Robert Lincoln O'Brien, editor of the Boston Herald, was the speaker Tuesday evening at the Men's Club of Trinity Church, Newton Centre. The club was the host to the Men's League of the Baptist Church of Newton Centre and, in consequence, there was a record breaking attendance.

Mr. C. R. Bennett, president of the Trinity Men's Club, was toastmaster and the program included a dinner and community singing.

Mr. O'Brien spoke on some of the aspects of the recent election, first calling attention to the differences in the election of this year as compared to those of fifty or sixty years ago.

When Hayes was elected, he said, Ohio gave him 7000 majority, last week Ohio gave Hoover 700,000 majority. Harrison carried his state of Indiana by 2100, last week Hoover carried that state by several hundred thousands. Fifty years ago, party lines were firmly bound, while families voting solidly either for Republican or Democratic candidates. The Country Day School took advantage of a Roxbury Latin fumble to defeat the latter 12 to 6 on the Roxbury Latin athletic field last Friday. The first touchdown came early in the second period when Joe Cobb, Country Day centre, recovered a Roxbury Latin fumble on the 20-yard line and ran unmolested for a score. Country Day followed this up with an earned score in the same period on an extended march down the field. George Bottomley took the ball over on an tackle play from the 10-yard stripe. Roxbury Latin scored on a march from midfield in the fourth quarter with Thomas Gray scoring.

SPORT NOTES

Brookline Seconds Defeat Newton

Last Friday afternoon on the Brookline field the Brookline second team defeated the Newton intermediate varsity 12 to 7. In the opening period a fumbled punt on the Newton seven yard line recovered by Brookline gave the Wealthy Town boys their first opportunity. Koufman went over for the touchdown. Newton took the lead in the third session on Quisley's run of half the length of the field and his successful try at the goal. A last period drive by Brookline led to the final touchdown of the game with Woodward going over to bring victory.

Kevorkian's Toe Adds Two Points

Ed Kevorkian's toe was good for two points in the Brown-Dartmouth game last Saturday which the Bear won 14 to 0. Following both touchdowns the former Newton linesman and one of the three remaining "Iron Men" on the Providence eleven from 1926 came back out of the line and booted placement kicks between the uprights. Brown made but three substitutions during the game and Happgood, former Newton tackle, did not get a chance to show against his former Newton mates, Andres, Clark and Johnson.

MacIntyre Scores

Tabor Academy defeated Falmouth High Saturday, 13 to 12 with Donald MacIntyre, substitute back on the Newton team last fall, scoring Tabor's second touchdown. Tabor scored in the first and second periods. In the fourth session a fighting Falmouth eleven swept across two scores and was within five yards of a third but Tabor held to win by its one point margin.

Considine Team Still Winning

Charlie Considine's Plymouth high school team extended its winning streak last Saturday by shutting out Kingston high 19 to 0. The former Newton and Brown centre has been doing a great job with the Plymouth team in its first year there.

Lyons Makes Canisius Trip

Frank "Dandy" Lyons, sub halfback on the Boston College squad, was one of the backfield men who were taken on the trip to Buffalo for Saturday's game with Canisius. Lyons, a former Newton high back, is a junior at the University Heights institution and has developed remarkably this year as a punter. He almost made the trip to Ann Arbor for the Navy game but lost out on a toss up with Ted Duffy.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

WALTHAM'S SECOND WIN IN TWELVE YEARS

Waltham and Newton high schools renewed athletic relations last Saturday for the first time in three years with the Watch City eleven defeating its rivals 14 to 0 in one of the mildest games ever played between the two schools. There were no penalties of more than five yards at a time and but one of these was for offside on Newton's part. The others were but five yard setbacks for the second incompletely pass in four down with the single exception of the award of a forward pass to Waltham for interference with a forward pass. Waltham's two touchdown margin was about the actual difference in the two teams as the Leary outfit counted nine first downs to four for Newton. Newton's strongest bid for a score was early in the game when by taking advantage of a fumbled punt and completing two important forwards it was first down on the seven yard line. But Waltham's defense was on the job and turned back the attack. On the other hand the first of Waltham's touchdowns, while coming at the end of an extended march was more or less the result of a "break". With a first down in the shadow of Newton's goal Pendergast fumbled. Pescosolido was on the ball like a flash for a touchback but he in turn fumbled. When the pile was uncovered two Waltham linemen were in possession of the ball with Hardy, left tackle, having a slightly larger portion than his teammate, Cormier, right guard. The question of who had possession of the ball when the whistle was blown to end play also entered into the discussion but the four officials finally agreed that the touchdown was legitimate. The other score of the game came in the third session with the aid of several forward passes. The final one was a heave of about twenty five yards from Pendergast to Perna, left end, on the goalline.

First Period

Waltham won the toss and chose to defend the west goal with the wind behind them. Newton elected to kick off. Andres kicked to Hardy who was downed on his 30-yard line. LaPorte and Pendergast gained but little and the latter kicked on fourth down to Gilligan at the 25-yard stripe. Gilligan ran it back twelve yards. Andres hit right tackle for no gain and Gilligan finding no hole at centre kicked to Pendergast on the Waltham 40. Waltham's star trying to make a running catch fumbled the ball as Payne dove for the tackle. McEnaney, getting his first chance to start for Newton because of the shift that sent Harrington to centre, just nosed out Roy to give the orange and black the ball on Waltham's 37-yard line. Duane wasted a rush outside and then Gilligan tossed a forward over the centre of the line to Payne, who leaped high between three Waltham secondaries to complete the pass for a 17 yard gain. Pescosolido got three yards at right tackle and Duane three more at the same spot. Gilligan's toss to Andres was ruled completed when interference by Lindholm caused the Newton back to drop the ball on the seven yard line. Pescosolido hit centre for two yards but Gilligan failed to gain at left tackle. Andres got a yard at centre and then Pescosolido took the ball on a wide end run. His speed failed to carry him clear of the Waltham secondaries who tackled him on the three yard line. It was now Waltham's ball on downs. LaPorte kicked out to his 45-yard mark and Gilligan ran it back to the 20-yard line where he was forced outside. Gillis tackled Duane on the scrimmage line. Gilligan's pass to Scheinfain was incomplete and Lindholm intercepted the next pass and ran it back to his 22-yard line. Robbie smeared Pendergast for a yard loss and McEnaney stopped LaPorte on the scrimmage line. Newton was offside on the next play when LaPorte kicked and the ball was brought back for a five yard penalty. LaPorte again kicked. Gilligan was dropped in his tracks on his own 30-yard stripe by Perna. Pescosolido recovered Harrington's poor pass from centre for a 15-yard loss. Duane got back five yards at right tackle and Gilligan kicked to Pendergast at midfield. McEnaney getting the tackle, LaPorte hit right tackle for eight yards as the period ended with the ball on Newton's 40-yard line in the home team's possession.

Second Period

Pendergast got through tackle for 10 yards and a first down. Gilligan stopped him with a jarring but legitimate that brought "boos" from Waltham supporters. Duane stopped LaPorte on six yard end run and then Pendergast tossed to LaPorte over the centre of the line for ten yards and another first down on the Newton 10-yard stripe. Miehle got four yards at right tackle. Pendergast hit left tackle and was on his way through when a smash from the side caused him to lose his hold on the ball. Pescosolido dove for the ball, gathered it in but lost it again as the whistle blew. Players of both teams had made a dive for the ball as it slid out of Pescosolido's grasp and when the pile was uncovered Hardy had a bigger portion than his teammate Cormier. After lengthy discussion by the officials it was adjudged a touch-down. Pendergast's pass to Miehle was good for the extra point and the score read Waltham 7, Newton 0.

Andres kicked off to the goalline and LaPorte carried it back 23 yards. Miehle hit right tackle twice for three yards each rush and then LaPorte kicked to Gilligan, who was forced outside on his own 42-yard line. Turner got through to nail Gilligan for a four yard loss on a fake kick formation and then Gilligan kicked to Waltham's ten yard line near the corner of the field. Pendergast got a yard at left end and then LaPorte kicked to his 35-yard line. The ball bounded back ten yards to give New-

SCHUBERT CENTENARY RECITAL

Last Sunday afternoon a delightful Schubert Centenary Recital was given by a few pupils of Gertrude Bowes Peabody at her home, 148 Elm street, Newton Centre.

The program included solos selected from the composer's favorite works, and the Senior Ensemble Class gave excellent renditions of "Frühlingslied," a movement of the D min. Quartet, Moment Musical, a Military March, and the "Unfinished" Symphony, which is probably the finest monument to the great composer's memory.

Newton Young people taking part were Stephaniene Rushmore of 95 Dudley road, Elizabeth Thorogood of 219 Commonwealth avenue, the Misses Martha, Catherine and Alice Thompson of 1441 Walnut street and George Bennett of 15 Champa street.

The class presented Mrs. Peabody with a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums. Light refreshments were served.

CHANNING GUILD

Four past presidents took part in celebrating the sixth birthday of the Channing Guild last Sunday. Maynard Moody led the meeting; Albert Palmer spoke briefly on the beginning and growth of the Guild; Leonard Gifford presented an illustrated talk on "Travels in Norway," and the meeting closed with an impressive candlelight service led by Miss Dorothy Emmons, with Miss Greta Sundholm of Boston, as soloist.

A barn dance is part of the social program of the Guild and to be held at the church parlors November 30. A cordial and a good time is assured for everyone.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The bridge party on Wednesday evening was well attended, 26 tables being filled for the play. Souvenirs were awarded Mrs. Ray Hastings of Belmont and Mrs. Gordon Wilkes, William H. Emerson and J. C. Brimblecom. The pourers were Mrs. Charles H. Barney and Mrs. Gordon Armstrong.

GOLDEN RULE DINNER

The Golden Rule Committee of which Mayor Edwin O. Childs is Honorary Chairman, and Mrs. Charles Wood Bond, Active chairman, reports that rarely if ever has there been such interest in one particular thing in the city of Newton as is being manifested by the citizens in the Golden Rule Dinner which is held at the Woman's Club House, Newton Centre, on Monday evening, Nov. 26 at 6:30. Present indications are that there will be a capacity attendance as reservations are rapidly being made. The committee kindly requests all that desire to attend to make their reservations immediately, if they have not already done so. Mayor Childs believes that a Get-Together such as the Golden Rule Dinner will have a two fold effect. First to enlarge our vision and think of OTHERS and second to give us a deeper appreciation of our own environment and surroundings.

Mrs. Bond says that while the dinner will not be elaborate as to variety but made up in its uniqueness as it will be lacking in "Fine Linens," desserts, relishes and even finger bowls. But a good substantial dinner will be served which the businessmen of Newton have generously donated.

The dinner will be served promptly at 6:30 and while the guests are being seated the High School orchestra will render selections. The Girl Scouts who have been very active in the arrangement of the dinner and who will be dressed in their scout uniforms will serve.

Mrs. W. L. Doten has made plans for the seating of all guests who will attend and the Caterer Paul Cox who donates his services has assured the committee that the orphanage dinner will be enjoyed by all. Mr. Edward J. Lang says that a most interesting and snappy program has been prepared and that "All things are now ready," come. Either write 259 Walnut street, Newtonville, or phone Newton North 7243 for reservations immediately.

Allen lost 35 votes and Cole gained 66. Cole made his largest gain in Newton Centre where 42 votes credited by the election officials to Cook should have been added to the Cole figures.

BACHRACH CREDIT UNION MEETS

The Credit Union of Bachrach, Inc., held its first meeting Tuesday night.

The Union has successfully passed through its infantile stages and is now a full-fledged organization, ready to declare dividends on its earnings for the past six months.

The following directors who were elected comprise one-third of the entire board and will serve until October 31, 1931: Mr. A. Norman Neary, Mr. E. E. Bickey, Mr. Robert C. Finlay, Miss Ethel McCarthy, Mr. Fred Daniels.

Pendergast, Lindholm interfered with a forward pass, and Newton had a first down on Waltham's seven yard line. But Waltham tightened to save their home field goal line inviolate for the season. The other Newton chance came late in the second period. Gilligan had uncorked a beautiful fifty yard kick to the ten yard line. After one rush LaPorte kicked from his goal line. The ball landed on the 35-yard stripe and bounded back ten yards before a Waltham player could down it. Two plays gained about five yards and then Harrington's pass went sailing over Pescosolido's head to ruin any chance of a score. A few plays later Harrington recovered a Waltham fumble on the 22-yard line but the period ended with fourth down and a yard to go.

There were two outstanding parts of the game from a Newton view point. The first was the marked improvement in Gilligan's kicking. Three of his eight kicks were of fifty yards or over beyond the scrimmage line and when Waltham returned the kick the orange and black had made a gain of considerable yardage. On three other kicks his direction was slightly off as he attempted to place them out of reach of the Waltham safety man and they traveled outside about thirty yards from the scrimmage. Newton gained fifty five yards more than the home team on punts, exclusive of the runbacks. Gilligan ran back five kicks for a total of 70 yards and Mullen one for ten yards against seventeen yards for Pendergast on two attempts.

The other outstanding incident was the defensive play of Phil Andres. Time after time he was making the right diagnosis of the play and either spilling it for a slight loss or stopping it on the line of scrimmage. It made a little difference to him whether it came on his side of the line or not he was in on the play and aiding in the tackle. He made one particularly pretty tackle which stopped a play cold. LaPorte was carrying the ball on second down with about two yards to go. He was headed for a hole in the Newton line when Andres made a flying tackle to drop him for no gain. The Newton junior, who was the only player to star for Newton that will be back in school next year and available for the team, made the longest kickoffs of the season. On all three occasions the ball traveled inside the Waltham 20-yard stripe and twice was caught by the Waltham backs practically on the goal line.

Pendergast was the outstanding ball carrier on the field. He carried the ball nineteen times for a total yardage of 56. LaPorte carried nine times for 29 yards and Mieleh eleven times for 27 yards, one rush of four yards scoring the point after the second touchdown.

Newton's air attack fared slightly better than Waltham's. The orange and black completed nine passes out of thirteen, and another was ruled complete because of Waltham's interference. Most of the passes completed were of the short variety, none for more than 20 yards which cut down the yardage gained by air considerably. On the other hand Waltham completed seven passes out of sixteen for a total yardage half as much as against that made by Newton. Two of the Waltham passes were for more than twenty yards that scoring the second touchdown from Pendergast to Perna for nearly 25 yards. It seemed as though Pendergast to LaPorte was the favorite Waltham pass. This one worked four times for almost as much yardage as Newton made on all ten of its completed tosses. It is similar to the Gilligan to Payne Newton pass which worked twice out of three tries for 35 yards gain.

It is doubtful if there has ever been a Newton-Waltham contest that was free from penalties than that of last Saturday. Not one major infraction of the rules was called by any of the four officials. Newton drew one off side penalty while Waltham drew three five yard setbacks for not completing the second or third pass within four downs.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION MEETS

The home of Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy, 82 Kirkstall road, was the setting for an unusually interesting gathering of the Woman's Association of Central Church, on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 21.

Miss Louise Sherman, vice-president, was the leader and Mrs. Walter Adams and her committee were the hostesses at the tea served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Richard Rose, the speaker, is a novelist as well as missionary and finds in her life in Sholapur, India, much that is stimulating. Some of her successful writings are: "Red Blossoms," "Diana Drew," "The Measure of Margaret." Mrs. Eddy had these books in her possession and kindly loaned them to the members. Mrs. Rose, formerly a missionary from Scotland, by her marriage, had become one of the valued workers of the American Board. She is now on furlough and makes her home in Auburndale.

Her story of the work in Sholapur was told in a sympathetic and vivid manner. The mills in that city have attracted thither a large group from the robber caste and among them Mr. and Mrs. Rose labored. Within barbed wire enclosures these criminals lead a fairly happy life and sometimes are regretful when their improved behavior entitles them to a place in the open. For then, alas, they may become the victims of their erstwhile pals. They have a code and look at the mere piper with contempt, while large thefts and murders inspire respect among them. But the young folk of these criminals are amenable to good influences and through boy scout and other agencies can be won away from generations of banditry.

Another group of whom Mrs. Rose spoke was the lepers. These afflicted ones show rare graces, the weak helping those weaker, and all manifesting fine community spirit. Their favorite hymn begins "I am so happy." It is a blessing that an oil recently discovered frequently proves a cure when the disease has not progressed too far. The missionary reaches the outcast, and as a rule it is difficult to approach those of high caste. A notable exception is the work being done by Rev. Stanley Jones who has penetrated beneath the scorn of the Brahman and finds many hearers glad to hear about Christ and his way of life. Indeed the spirit of Christianity is being felt in India and though mixed in strange ways with the old and unorthodox attitude it is making marked headway.

At the close of her talk Mrs. Rose generously continued with her subject, conversing with the many who were eager to hear still more of her story. Mrs. Eddy suggested that a visit to the idols in Mr. Eddy's study might be of interest, and there were displayed many of the deities, some fierce and repulsive, others smiling and grotesque. Mrs. W. E. Strong recalled pleasantly the visit that she and Mrs. Decatur had made in Sholapur when members of the "deputation." Among the new members present were Mrs. Robert Chandler of Tientsin, China, now on furlough and living in Newtonville. She will be the speaker at the next luncheon meeting. There was general sociability and but few peddlers were permitted as the group left Mrs. Eddy's home, owing to the many thoughtful autoists, who in friendly fashion, carried the dispersing members to their homes.

THE LITTLE THEATRE PARTY

Lewis E. Parmenter the eminent actor and playwright was associated with E. H. Sothern and Julian Marlowe when the latter were doing much toward establishing the Little Theatre movement in the larger cities of America. It was then that Mr. Parmenter conceived the idea of extending the movement by means of a company of selected players whose commitment to the high ideals of the drama should be both intelligent and complete. Ten years ago while occupying the chair of Dramatic Art in Syracuse University Mr. Parmenter made practical application of his cherished plan by selecting, organizing, coaching and touring the now famous Little Theatre Party that will appear at Newton Opera House Friday evening, December 7, under auspices of Palestine Chapter, No. 114, order of the Eastern Star.

Aaron Hoffman's irresistible modern business comedy "Give and Take" will serve to reveal the dramatic technique and finesse of this group of capable actors and at the same time delight all who appreciate clean cut comedy.

Mr. Parmenter himself is a member of the cast. Orchestral music will add to the evening's pleasure.

ELIOT MEN'S CLUB

On account of the assignment of Mr. Will Irwin to accompany President elect Hoover to South America, his lecture in the course to be given in Eliot Church by the Eliot Men's Club has been postponed until next May. In place of Mr. Irwin on Tuesday, Nov. 27, the club has secured Dr. William McGovern who will give an illustrated lecture on the "Secrets of Amazonian Jungle."

EDITORIAL

Our attention has been called to another of the many delays in the postal service in this city which have taken place since the centralization of postal service went into effect. In this case an envelope mailed from Boston on Nov. 8 was not received in Newton until Nov. 19th and a second envelope (sent because of the failure to receive the first), mailed in Boston Nov. 14, was not received until Nov. 19th. Some day these theoretical post office authorities will realize that the Newton postal district is not adapted to centralization methods.

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day, one of our oldest and most expressive holidays. It is a day on which we should remember our less fortunate neighbors and give them the opportunity, also, to enjoy a real Thanksgiving. The Newton Welfare Bureau can assist you in this common sense way of rendering thanks for our own prosperity and we cannot refrain from calling attention once more to the subscription we are making for our tireless police matron, Mrs. Ella E. Mason.

We utterly fail to understand why such a simple proposition of requiring the high school busses to discharge their passengers on Elm road instead of on the east side of Walnut street should not have been in operation months ago. The delay in making this desirable and needed change has resulted in an accident to one pupil and is significant of what may happen in the future.

$79,000 APPROPRIATED FOR NEW FIRE STATION been employed for the sliding poles, allowing the firemen quick access to the apparatus on the first floor.

This building will be connected with the Central Fire Alarm Building at Newton Center, Mass., thereby giving instantaneous information on all fire calls. When an alarm is rung certain lights in the building will be automatically turned on, furnishing the firemen with plenty of light.

The Public Buildings Committee on Monday night having recommended the revised plans of the new fire station, the Finance Committee recommended the appropriation of $79,000 for the construction of the building. The tower and cupola will add about $5500 to the cost. Workmen from the Forestry Department have been removing the shrubs from the vacant lot at Center avenue and Washington street, where the new building will be located and work on the razings of the old police station will start at once.

any more garages or filling stations in his neighborhood. He stated that within the past few years 3 garages and 3 filling stations have been built within 150 yards of his house. Others who objected were G. E. Taylor, 693 Beacon street; Henry Jackson, 693 Beacon street, and Alderman Norman Pratt.

A showing of hands was asked for and 29 persons present manifested opposition to the petition. Judge Weston in rebuttal stated that the persons who claimed their children will be endangered if the gasoline station permit is granted, are not stating facts as they reside beyond the north side of Beacon street and it is not necessary for their children to cross this street to reach the Mason school. He also refuted the claim that there are objectionable odors arising from gasoline stations, quoting State Fire Marshal Neal as saying "It is impossible for gasoline odors to travel from gasoline stations to surrounding territory."

AUTO HITS HIGH SCHOOL GIRL

An automobile driven by Knight B. Owen of 82 Devonshire street, Boston, hit Lois Winslow, 13, of 37 Hillside road, Newton Highlands, after she had alighted from a Middlesex & Boston bus on Walnut street opposite the High School on Monday morning. The girl, who is a pupil at the school received injuries about the face. A few months ago the Traffic Committee of the Board of Aldermen made the suggestion to the School Committee that the M. & B. busses carrying high school pupils, instead of unloading on Walnut street, turn onto Elm road and allow the pupils to alight there. This change has not as yet been made, but it should be as it will prevent just such an accident as occurred Monday morning.

A car driven by Louis Gregorio of 247 California street, Nonantum, hit Miss Mary Dunn of 97 Adams street, Nonantum, at the corner of Chapel and Watertown streets in that section on Saturday night. Her right leg was injured. Gregorio told the police that the woman came from behind another automobile and was struck by the fender of his car.

Grace Pike of 32 Lakewood road, Newton Highlands, and Roy Jensen of 147 Russell street, Waltham, were badly injured Sunday night when they were hit by an automobile driven by Ethel Sword of 11 Temple street, Arlington. The accident occurred when the young man and woman were crossing Main street, Waltham, at Fiske street. Miss Pike's right arm was broken. Jensen received a fracture of the skull and his name was placed on the danger list at the Waltham Hospital.

AUTO HITS MAN

A car driven by Maurice Keezer, 18 Hamlin road, Newton Centre, struck Robert Orr of 33 Summer street, Newton Centre, at the junction of Commonwealth avenue and Chestnut street on Wednesday night. Mr. Orr was taken to the Newton Hospital where it was found that he was suffering from shock and badly bruised.

LIGGETT STORES AGAIN REFUSED VICTUALLER'S LICENSES

would be demanded by independently owned drug stores in order that they might compete equally with the chain stores. He argued that to combine the drug business with lunch room business will create a menace to health, stating that it is quite possible for a drug clerk compounding a prescription and handling powerful drugs, to pause in such work to serve food, without properly washing his hands, and thus transmitting drugs onto food served. He also contended that if a drug clerk is interrupted in the compounding of a prescription to act as a lunch counter man, accurate filling of the prescription will be difficult.

Alderman Flits favored the granting of the permit to the Liggett Stores. He contended that the real problem in the granting of common victualler licenses to stores in Newton is whether, or not stores should be allowed to open on Sundays, and as drug stores can do business Sundays, and the Liggett stores have established lunch counters in their stores in other places, the stores in Newton should be granted permits. According to Mr. Flits, the real question is whether, or not, drug stores shall be allowed to serve food.

Alderman Weeks opposed the report of the Licenses Committee and favored the granting of the permits to the Liggett stores. He stated that nearly all the Liggett stores in other cities have common victualler licenses and that it is a perfectly proper business for these stores to engage in. He said that he frequently gets his lunch at the Liggett store in Taunton and that no good reasons had been advanced why common victualler permits should not be given these stores at Newton and West Newton. Alderman Grebenstein asked what kind of lunches are served at the Liggett stores and Mr. Weeks answered that soups, sandwiches and such dishes are served.

Alderman Woodcock opposed the granting of the licenses. He argued that if they are given to the Liggett stores, every drugstore in the city will ask for a similar license. Alderman Gallagher, who is a physician, opposed the granting of the licenses. He stated that Liggett is the arch offender against the drug business in this country and has turned drug stores into miniature Sears Roebuck stores. He asserted that he would be losing his self respect as a physician if he voted to grant a common victualler license to a drug store; to do so would be the first step in bringing the Bowery to Newton. Alderman Earle told of talking to a druggist in this city who had stated that if the Liggett stores are granted common victualler licenses, he will have to apply for one in self defense. Alderman Heathcote asked if it is fair to other drug stores and small lunch rooms to grant common victualler licenses to the Liggett stores?

Alderman Powers took the floor again to answer Alderman Weeks' contention that "no good reasons had been given for not granting the licenses." He argued that bona fide lunch room proprietors in Newton are entitled to protection against competition from drug stores. He told of a number of other applicants for common victualler licenses having been given leave to withdraw by the Licenses Committee this year because they do not conduct solely a lunch business. He stated that if the Liggett stores are granted such licenses, it is just to owners of other drug stores and variety stores in the Newtons, these stores also will have to be granted common victualler licenses. He referred to the high standard Newton has maintained in its residential community and asked if it should be toppled from its lofty pedestal to the level of those places where a large percentage of stores keep open Sundays?

The Ward 1 alderman said that it was significant that when the Licenses Committee had reported adversely on the petitions of ordinary applicants for common victualler licenses, no attempts had been made by other members of the Board of Aldermen to defeat the recommendations of the committee and he asked why the solicitude was shown for a corporation with a capital of many millions of dollars? He commented that the reason for this solicitude is "the magical name of Liggett."

The aldermen then voted on the motion to accept the committee's report recommending leave to withdraw the Liggett petitions. The majority of the Board voted to sustain the committee.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S FORUM

A discussion of the book "Sorrel and Son," by Warwick Deeping, was started at the meeting of the Young People's Forum of Waban at the meeting in the Union Church Vestry last Sunday, John Argersinger and Paul Rycroft were the leaders. Next Sunday Elizabeth Snow and Charlotte Upham will continue the discussion.

In the book, Sorrel is discovered as a man of the upper class in England out of work because of the war. His wife has left him and he has only his ten year old son, Kit, and the clothes on his back. He gradually works up from the position of porter at a country inn to that of manager of a fashionable hotel. "Kit" realizes the hardships which his father undergoes to send him to school and comes out at the top of the Dean's list, as well as being a good athlete.

Argersinger and Rycroft, after telling the first half of the story, discussed the characters as they appeared in the beginning of the book.

At the business meeting, held just before the discussion, the treasurer, Argersinger, read a list of names of people who are two months behind hand on their dues. These may not have supper next Sunday until they are paid up. The dues are fifty cents per month, all of which goes towards the buffet supper served at 6:15 before the discussion, which begins at 6:30.

As always, parents and friends of the Forum are welcome at its meetings. Come down and join in the circle at 6:30 Sunday evening in the Union Church at Waban.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The spirit of friendship manifested by the combined playing of the Waltham High School band and the Newton High School band at the annual football game between the teams of these two schools last Saturday was in happy contrast to the rowdiness of those youths from Newton who thought they were doing something "smart" Saturday evening when they toured Waltham in an automobile and threw eggs at unoffending persons. Fortunately, these offenders were caught and appeared Monday in the Waltham court where they were fined for their exhibition of bad manners. Of the seven found guilty, only one is a pupil at Newton High School.

In view of the fact that athletic relations between Newton and Waltham had been strained the past three years, it was poor judgment on the part of the Newton boys who travelled to the Waltham athletic field last Friday night and painted the goal posts with Newton's color. The Waltham paper referred to them as "hoodlums."

The Newton police have been asked to locate the relatives of Thomas Stevens who died Monday night at Grace Hospital, New Haven, Conn. Before he died, he asked that Mrs. H. N. Tine of West Newton be notified.

DEFENDS INTERESTS

Judge William F. Bacon, president of the Newton Cemetery Corporation, and H. Wilson Ross, treasurer of that corporation, appeared before the Board of Aldermen on Monday night at the hearing on the matter of building a drain for Cold Spring Brook through private land from Homer street to Beacon street, to Allen avenue and thence across Beethoven avenue. The purpose of this drain is to dry the area in and near Cold Spring Swamp, situated south of Beacon street between Newton Highlands and Waban.

Judge Bacon called the attention of the aldermen to the fact that the brook runs across the whole length of Newton Cemetery and is the most valuable natural asset of this beautiful burial place. To wipe the brook out would cause a serious financial loss to the cemetery and the corporation will oppose such action. Mr. Bacon also called attention to the probability that a strip 30 feet wide would be taken through the cemetery if the drain is built and he stated that the corporation will expect to receive the value of the land thus taken. He told the aldermen that the corporation is not run for profit, all incomes over and above the actual cost of maintaining the cemetery being used to beautify the place. No dividends or salaries are paid other than those given to the persons actually engaged in the work of the cemetery.

H. Wilson Ross stated that while the Newton Cemetery corporation does not oppose the building of the big drain, and believes it necessary, the cemetery will expect to receive proper compensation for any losses it may sustain and will also expect that a pumping plant be maintained by the city to assure the brook through the cemetery being kept at a proper level. He explained that the cemetery will not be dried if the drain is constructed. This land has several feet of muck on it which must all be removed even though a drain is built.

JAMES A. WATERS appearing for property owners on certain streets near which the proposed drain will be built, told the aldermen that his clients will object to any betterment assessments if the drain is constructed as it will not benefit their properties.

Alderman Powers asked Mr. Ross if he had any idea of the amount of money the cemetery will lose through loss of land if the drain is built. Mr. Ross answered that he did not know, but the sum will be considerable as the land taken must be estimated in square feet and it has an appreciable value.

Alderman Earle asked Mr. Ross if the cemetery corporation has looked at the plans of the proposed land takings for the drain. Mr. Ross replied that he and his associates have very carefully examined the plans. He added that the cemetery corporation has no desire to impose on the city but it cannot afford to give away land which was to have been used for cemetery purposes.

He stated the trustees of the cemetery will be very glad to co-operate with the city.

HORSE RUNS AWAY

Oldtimers harked back to days of yore when they were afforded a thrill common in the 19th century as a horse attached to a milk wagon owned by H. P. Hood Company dashed madly up Centre street, Newton, on Wednesday morning. The driver of the wagon was delivering milk when the animal started on it rampage. The wagon overturned opposite 594 Centre street, scattering broken bottles and spilled milk over the street.

JOSEPH HALEY of 1055 Washington street, Newtonville, reported to the police yesterday that he had been bitten by a dog which the police learned was being cared for by Dr. Marden of 11 Hyde street, Newton Highlands. The dog was ordered restrained and Dr. Bouteille examined it.

THE FIRST NATIONAL MINT

The first public building to be erected by the United States Government was the National Mint at Philadelphia. This was built under the direction of President George Washington. It is often justly called the birthplace of our national coinage, for it was the sole mint until 1835 when Congress made several other branches.

Each requirement of every service is carefully considered by our experienced and courteous staff.

Recent Deaths

GEORGE W. BROWN

Mr. George W. Brown one of the prominent businessmen of New England died last Friday at the home of his son, Mr. Edwin P. Brown, on Hunnewell Hill, Newton.

He was born in Northfield, Vt., August 30, 1841, and was the son of Isaac W. and Elvira Patridge Brown.

Until he was 18, he lived in Northfield—which later received many gifts from him, including a library. After attending the Orange County Grammar School, he went to Northfield Academy and then to the Newport, Vt. Seminary.

At the age of 18, he entered the employ of the Vermont Central Railroad and spent six years with this company. At 24 he went into the grocery business in St. Albans, where he had married Addie E. Perkins two years before.

Young Brown, at 26, shifted to the hardware business, entering into a partnership under the name of McGowan & Brown.

In 1869, Mr. Brown accepted an offer from the Central Pacific Railroad to become auditor of their motive power department, with headquarters in Sacramento, Calif. In a couple of years, he came East and became connected with Wheeler & Wilson Co., sewing machine makers, as a salesman. His diligence caused his rapid rise until, in 1876, he was made general manager of their New England business. He nearly worked himself to death building up the company's sales and had to spend a year in Mexico, recovering his health.

Then, in 1892, after 22 years with the sewing machine company, he resigned to become general manager and treasurer of the Consolidated Hand Method Lasting Machine Company, in which for some time, he had had a financial interest and had, in fact, served as treasurer.

Under his management the resources and standing of the company were so developed that it became the prime factor in bringing together the lasting machine companies. The new company was known as the Consolidated McKay Lasting Machine Company and Mr. Brown was made general manager and treasurer.

The organization of the United Shoe Machinery Company gave Mr. Brown the opportunity to furnish to every branch of the trade the highly efficient service that had characterized the management of his earlier enterprises.

He was the presiding financial genius of the U. S. M. C. and in 10 years became vice president and chairman of the finance committee.

George W. Brown was a director of the First National Bank of Boston, of the British and the French United Shoe Machinery Companies, of the George Tucker Eyelet Company, Ltd., and of other important industries.

Mr. Brown was a generous patron of music and besides being president of the trustees of the New England Conservatory of Music was a director of the Boston Music School Settlement.

He was a member of the Algonquin Club, the Episcopal Club of Massachusetts, Boston Museum of Fine Arts, New England Shoe and Leather Association, Boston Boot and Shoe Club, a life member of the Bostonian Society, Massachusetts Automobile Club, Boston Merchants' Association, Boston Chamber of Commerce and National Civic Federation.

In 1925 he was awarded the degree of LL.D. by the Norwich University. Funeral services were held Monday noon at Grace Church, Newton, with Dr. Rev. Laurens MacLure officiating. Wallace Goodrich was organist and selections were played by a stringed quartet from the New England Conservatory of Music.

E. L. Hurd, F. R. Johnson, Howard Norton, George Todd, Donald Willson, Joseph Wogan, H. A. Osborne and Joseph C. Stout were the ushers. Dolorations included the Boston Boot and Shoe Association, headed by President Horace Drinkwater; the New England Shoe and Leather Association, headed by President Alfred W. Donovan; Norwich University and the G. W. Brown Library at Norwich, represented by President Charles A. Plumley; the First National Bank and the United Shoe Machinery Company.

The body was escorted from the church by the Messrs. Howard Norton, George R. Brown, George Todd, Russell Todd, Thomas Todd, John Norton, Preston Stephenson and Harry Robinson. Burial was in the family lot at the Forest Hills Cemetery.

WILLIAM A. ALEXANDER

William A. Alexander, for the past eight years active in this city as the manager of the Earnshaw Knitting Company at Nonantum, died on Saturday at his late home, 88 Bellevue street, West Roxbury. He was 53 years of age and had been in failing health for the past year. He was a native of Boston, where he was born April 2, 1876. In 1912 Mr. Alexander went to Chicago to become associated with his brother-in-law, G. F. Earnshaw in the manufacture of babies' garments. While in business there, he resided in Glenco, where he took a prominent part in local affairs. During the war he helped organize a militia company, serving as Lieutenant to 700 persons.

Mr. Alexander was an accomplished musician. Prior to moving to Chicago he had served for 10 years as organist at the Emanuel Episcopal Church, West Roxbury. During his residence at Glenco, Illinois, he was organist of the Episcopal Church there. He was a vestryman of Emanuel Church, West Roxbury, where his funeral service was held Monday afternoon. A large delegation of officials and employees of the Earnshaw Knitting Company attended the service, and while the service was in progress, work was suspended at the Newton factory and a memorial service conducted there.

He is survived by his widow, who was Anna E. Earnshaw, a son, William Alexander, and his mother, Mrs. Ellen P. Alexander.

LAWRENCE LOMBARDI

The many friends of Lawrence Lombardi of 56 Capitol street, Newton, were shocked to learn of his death last Saturday night at the Newton Hospital. He had been ill with pneumonia and was supposed to be on the road to recovery when a sudden complication set in.

He was born in Northfield, Vt., August 30, 1841, and was the son of Isaac W. and Elvira Patridge Brown.

Until he was 18, he lived in Northfield—which later received many gifts from him, including a library.

After attending the Orange County Grammar School, he went to Northfield Academy and then to the Newport, Vt. Seminary.

At the age of 18, he entered the employ of the Vermont Central Railroad and spent six years with this company. At 24 he went into the grocery business in St. Albans, where he had married Addie E. Perkins two years before.

Young Brown, at 26, shifted to the hardware business, entering into a partnership under the name of McGowan & Brown.

In 1869, Mr. Brown accepted an offer from the Central Pacific Railroad to become auditor of their motive power department, with headquarters in Sacramento, Calif. In a couple of years, he came East and became connected with Wheeler & Wilson Co., sewing machine makers, as a salesman.

His diligence caused his rapid rise until, in 1876, he was made general manager and treasurer of the Consolidated Hand Method Lasting Machine Company, in which for some time, he had had a financial interest and had, in fact, served as treasurer.

Under his management the resources and standing of the company were so developed that it became the prime factor in bringing together the lasting machine companies. The new company was known as the Consolidated McKay Lasting Machine Company and Mr. Brown was made general manager and treasurer.

The organization of the United Shoe Machinery Company gave Mr. Brown the opportunity to furnish to every branch of the trade the highly efficient service that had characterized the management of his earlier enterprises.

He was the presiding financial genius of the U. S. M. C. and in 10 years became vice president and chairman of the finance committee.

George W. Brown was a director of the First National Bank of Boston, of the British and the French United Shoe Machinery Companies, of the George Tucker Eyelet Company, Ltd., and of other important industries.

The Mather Class

"What may religion do for the modern man?" This was the topic of the third lecture given by Prof. Kirtley F. Mather last Sunday morning before the Mather Class at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House, in a series of four discussions of the relation of modern man to his religion.

Before the lecture began, the Class had the pleasure of listening to a very fine solo by Allan Hay. This feature of special music by various singers is greatly appreciated by the Class.

The needs of modern man are served by the peculiar attitudes and the unique life which proceed from a religious interpretation of the universe.

Religion can benefit us in our daily lives. Furthermore we can learn how to lay hold on its values and also how to create them and make them worth while.

Man has to have some beliefs. If his beliefs are negative, then his life is negative, but whatever his beliefs may be, he has to believe in something, and to that extent he has to be religious, and this leads to attitudes and habits of mind.

Our daily lives are our temples, and we cannot separate that part which is for God and the other part which is for us. There is a unity of mankind and a oneness of our lives which prevents such separation.

The old idea of religion was built around the concept of a Holy City of God. That is changed now. Any religious interpretation of the universe brings a vision, which transforms mere existence into life. It presents a goal toward which we strive. Such a vision has religious character and is, in fact, religion, for it binds people to responsibility, and a sense of obligation. It binds us together and binds us to a cause. Thus real life is available.

If this vision fails, then we do not discover anything of a transcendent nature in the material world, and cannot hear the music of the spheres. The vision gives us a sense of our part in the scheme of things, a sense of universal kinship with that which is worth while.

On the heights our vision glorifies our lives, but we cannot live there forever. Life leads us down into the valleys, where worries and troubles assail us.

Here religion can be of service in helping us to find some method of living which shall be in complete adjustment with life and afford relief from the strain, unrest, anxiety, and worry all about us. The ancient thought of Heaven was a place where we had an important mansion on the main street of the City of God. Modern man wants things to be all right now. He does not want to wait. Religion gives complete adjustment so there is no undercurrent of strain. There are only local anxieties and temporary strains. This undercurrent of quiet power makes us feel that we are at one with the universe, that we belong, and that we can and do participate in the great adventure. When that is comprehended, the temporary stresses and strains do not count so much.

The ability to control our feelings is not always within our power. At times we react involuntarily. We try not to worry, but we slip down into the slough of despond every little while. Many of our human responses are instinctive. We are creatures of habit. Instinct is the result of habits gradually developed. We should do our best to develop good habits. Much that appears to be mechanical turns out to be volitional. At least it started that way.

Fortunately we have more fine habits than had ones. Furthermore we occasionally break a habit. The power is there. It is an alternative choice whether or not to break a habit. It takes time, to be sure, and meantime we react in the old, unsatisfactory way to external stimulus. Man is able to rise supreme over his habits. The best environment is a help. Temperament is something of a limitation. Everything is limited in some way. We cannot overturn the laws which set limits and are themselves limited. He who reaches the limit of his attainments in one direction can find plenty of room for achievement elsewhere. Prof. Mather said that he had never seen a person who was living as complete a religious life as he was temperamentally capable of living. We have not reached our limits, so we do not need to cross those bridges until we come to them. We are limited by temperament, but there is an abundance of territory within the limits.

Religion makes one not merely outwardly at peace with life. It gives a solid foundation for the soul, so that we can quickly get back on an even keel, no matter how we may be buffeted about by the storms. Religion gives inward poise, which banishes vain thoughts and futile feelings. It is real and not a sham. The molecular structure of the crystal provides an outward appearance like cut glass, but what a world of difference there is underneath the outward appearance. The glass has surface appearance and nothing else. Jesus lost his outward poise for a moment in Gethsemane and on the cross, but He had something within which brought Him quickly back on an even keel. Underneath and eternal, rich, full, and true. His inward poise gave Him the strength to recover His balance.

By Edw. H. Powers

Numerous complaints are being made about the obstructing of the temporary sidewalk in front of the new building on Centre street near Elmwood street. This sidewalk is so frequently covered with building materials that aged and infirm persons are compelled to detour out into the path of the heavy automobile traffic on Centre street.

The death of Lawrence Lombardi, one of the most promising young men ever produced in this community, is not alone a distinct loss to the racial group of which he was a member, but to the city at large.

James P. Gallagher suggests that if drug stores enter the lunch-room business, young men who take examinations in the future to become Registered Pharmacists, may be tested on their ability to fry pork chops properly.

We have been asked to comment on the speed at which some of the Waban busses are driven down the steep grade on Centre street, Newton, from Bellevue street to Wescott street. This is a dangerous stretch of road—a combination of steep grade and a curve. It is no place to drive huge busses at a rapid pace. Some of the operators of the Midway & Waltham busses on the lines between Newton and Waltham are also stepping too hard on the gas, at times.

One of the best ends any Newton High football team has had in many years is Everett Sheinfeld, captain of this year's eleven. Although of small stature he has more than held his own against much larger opponents. He is fast, strong and chock full of grit.

Edward Healey of Lexington street, Auburndale, former captain of Hose 8, has gone south again for the winter and is now in Florida. He will again spend part of the winter in the West Indies. Despite his 76 years, Mr. Healey is as active as ever.

ROTARY CLUB

Mr. Francis J. Flagg of the Macmillan Publishing Company was the speaker at the Monday luncheon of the Rotary Club held at the Woodland Golf Club. He gave a most interesting talk on the making of books with many anecdotes on authors and manuscripts.

On Tuesday evening the club observed its fifth annual Charter Night with a dinner dance at the Woodland Golf Club. President Arthur M. Ellis had so far recovered from a recent operation as to be present and received a warm welcome from members and Rotarians. The well known accordion artists, Pietro and Maria with songs and music enlivened the dinner courses and Louis Huffermehl's fine orchestra played for dancing.

"THE SWAN"

On the evening of Wednesday, December 19, Mrs. Everett W. Varney will present in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House Franz Lehár's brilliant comedy, The Swan. This is the drama set in European court life in which Eva Le Gallienne starred a few years ago. The lead will be taken by Narcissa Peace Varney, who has played on Broadway professionally with Otis Skinner and later with Jane Cowl. Associated with her is a competent cast. The male leads are taken by Mr. Richard Wight and Mr. Kent Smith. Mr. Kent Smith is playing opposite Miss Varney in her lead in the Harvard Dramatic Club's play "Fiesta" early in December. He is an accomplished actor who has had varied experience.

The play scintillates with wit and clever situations. The costumes and properties are most colorful, especially the ball room scene and the banquet. Several military characters and the queen mothers bring to the play an atmosphere unlike the usual modern drama. Romance in full measure is the theme of the plot.

There is an influential sponsorship in the patronage of the following ladies: Mesdames A. E. Alvord, Elias Bishop, John Capron, S. Harold Greene, Miss Marion Haskell, Mesdames Allen Hubbard, Edward Leonard, Edith Longsdorf, L. F. Mather, D. Bradlee Rich, Frederick Robinson, Cyrus Schirmer, Thomas Shirley, Wm. Slocum, William Underhill, Gardner Walworth, Worthington West.

Many delightful dinner parties are being planned directly before her play as the spirit of the play will be a continuation of the gayety of a congenial party.

Religion gives that wellspring of spiritual power within us which enables us to withstand all the buffettings of fate.

An event of great interest to the Mather Class will occur next Sunday, Nov. 25, at 4 p. m., at the Newton Centre Baptist Church. There will be a recital for two pianos and organ by Mrs. Kirtley F. Mather, Mrs. Montague Ford, and Mr. Raymond Floyd. All are invited, including friends and neighbors.

POLICE NEWS

John McDonald, 39 Hillside avenue, West Newton, a builder, was in the Newton court last Friday charged with giving worthless checks in payment of wages to George Green and George O'Connell, two men whom he had employed. His case was continued until November 23.

In the Newton court Monday a fine of $10 was imposed on Gustaf Von Schantz of Newton Centre for driving an automobile without proper lights. Rose Champagne of 22 Middle street, Newton, charged with assault on Laura Sanger, had her case placed on file.

Salvatore Mazzola of 95 Chelsea street, East Boston, was in the Newton court last Friday charged with assault and battery on Florence Peterson, 18, a maid employed at 7 Burr road, Newton Centre. His case was continued until November 28 and he was held in $1000 bonds. According to the story told by the girl, she was standing on Berkeley street, Boston, waiting for a car, when an automobile containing Mazzola and another man came along and she was invited to get in and get a ride home. She claims that before she either assented or refused, she was rushed into the car, and driven to some camp where the pair attempted to assault her. She resisted the attack so Mazzola and his companion brought her to Newton Centre, but as they entered her residence, started to attack her again. The girl screamed and was allowed to alight from the car. Her cries aroused residents nearby and telephone calls were sent to police headquarters. Patrolman Stanton, who was on Homer street, heard the screams and hastened to the scene where he found the girl. Serg. Vuccio also reached the place from headquarters. The girl had taken the registration number of the car and gave it to the policemen. The Newton police found that the car was registered by an East Boston man and notified the police of that district. Mazzola was arrested as he drove over the bridge from Chelsea into East Boston. Mazzola contends that the other man in the party was with the Peterson girl when he picked the pair up.

Several persons were fined in the Newton court last Friday for violating automobile laws. Harlow Dunton, 86 Athelstone road, Newton Centre, was fined $2 for speeding. He was supposed to have been in court the preceding day and when he did not appear, a warrant for his arrest was issued. John Connors, 113 Myrtle street, Waltham, was fined $10 for speeding, $5 for driving without proper lights, and $25 for failing to stop when ordered to do so by an officer. George Blanchard, 234 River street, Waltham, and Leslie Coughlin, 100 Cedar street, Waltham, each was fined $10 for speeding.

Andres wasted a rush outside the field and then Gilligan kicked outside at Waltham's 33-yard line. Harrington stopped LaPorte at left tackle for two yards. Pendergast got five at right tackle and Miehle two at centre. With a yard to go LaPorte kicked to Gilligan on the 30-yard line for a 20-yard runback to midfield. Gilligan immediately kicked the ball landing on the five yard line and bounding over the goal for a touchback. Starting from their 20-yard line the Watch City outfit started for its second score. Miehle got three yards, Pendergast five and Miehle two more at the tackles for a first down. LaPorte got four yards on a cutback play and Scheinfain and Robbie got in together to toss Pendergast for a three yard loss. LaPorte then intercepted Gilligan's pass on the Newton side of midfield to start the Watch going again. Pendergast hit left tackle for eight yards but Andres halted LaPorte with a flying tackle. Pendergast's pass to LaPorte was good for a twenty yard gain. Pendergast again passed. This time to Perna who snared the ball on the dead run in the left corner of the field. Gilligan brought him to earth but his momentum carried him across the last white stripe. Miehle took the ball through centre for the point. Score: Waltham 14, Newton 0.

Andres kicked to LaPorte on the five yard line and he ran it back 15 yards. Pendergast hit a stonewall twice and LaPorte kicked to Gilligan. The Newton back took the ball on his own 45-yard line and ran it back 15 yards. Mullen replaced Duane and was tossed for a six yard loss on a spread formation. Gilligan faked a pass and then ran eight yards around the end. Gilligan's pass to Scheinfain nearly connected but a Waltham back managed to knock it down. Another pass was incomplete and it was Waltham's ball on their own 37-yard line. Miehle and Pendergast gained seven yards as the period ended.

Fourth Period

LaPorte hit right tackle for five yards and a first down. On two more smashes he gained another five yards and a pass from Pendergast to LaPorte for ten yards made it another first down. A pass from Pendergast to Perna was good for eight yards. Waltham refused an offside penalty against Newton on the play. Andres stopped Miehle at two yards. Two passes were grounded, the latter bringing a penalty and then Gilligan knocked down a long one by Miehle at the goal line to give Newton the ball on downs on their 25-yard stripe. Three plays gained eight yards and Gilligan kicked to the Waltham 40-yard line and Pendergast ran it back five yards where Mullen tripped him and Payne prevented him from getting up. Harrington stopped Pendergast at four yards and LaPorte got two. Pescosolido grounded a pass and Mullen ran back LaPorte's kick ten yards to the 30-yard line. Gilligan passed to Reilly for six yards as Miehle threw him outside and then Payne took a 20-yard toss from Gilligan to put the ball in Waltham territory again. Mullen fumbled and Hardy recovered for Waltham. Two plays gained but Little and Pendergast passed to LaPorte for a 20-yard gain and a first down on the 25-yard stripe. After one rush Gilligan grounded a pass just about as it was to be completed behind the goalline. Newton put the ball in play on their 20-yard line and on the first pass Miehle intercepted the ball on the 25-yard line. Waltham tried a pass which Sigener knocked down. He could have caught the ball easily. Two more incompletely passed and a four-yard penalty forced Pendergast to kick. Gilligan ran the ball back to his 36-yard line before forced outside. A pass from Gilligan to Perry was

SPORT NOTES

Decide Private School Championship

The championship of the Private Day School Football league was decided last Friday afternoon when the powerful Browne & Nichols eleven triumphed over its big rival of the season, the Country Day school team of Newton, on the Newton school's field, 6 to 0. The winners had previously defeated Roxbury Latin and Rivers' school and needed the one more win to clinch the honors. The two teams were fairly evenly matched although the visitors came within a yard of making a second touchdown when half time expired. The lone score came in the second period on a 20-yard forward pass from Baldwin to David, the left end, who ran 10 yards further to the goal line. Country Day had two chances to score. Once the Newton eleven lost the ball on downs on the 12 yard line and in the final period marched 40 yards only to lose the ball on a fumble. Captain George Bottomley, Jim Cobb, Robert Winchell, Roger Greene, and Eliot Ritchie were most effective for the local school. Captain Lorrin Tarleton of Browne & Nichols showed good judgment at quarterback while Bernard Baldwin, left halfback, was the most colorful player in the game. It was in large measure due to his consistent gains around the ends and through tackle that the touchdown was scored.

Gilligan Stars in Cub Game

"Frenzy" Gilligan, former Newton and Exeter athlete, was the outstanding figure in the Harvard freshman's 7 to 6 victory over the Yale rivals last Saturday at New Haven. For three periods there was no score and then in the last half of the final period both teams counted. The Crimson scored first with Gilligan going through tackle to the three yard line to set the stage. It took four downs to go over but finally the local youth made the touchdown and White kicked the goal. In the last four minutes of play a 40-yard penalty for unnecessary roughness nearly cost the Crimson its victory. The penalty and three rushes by Jones, substitute left halfback for Yale, reached the Harvard three-yard line. Jones then scored but the try for point failed. Gilligan starred throughout for Harvard. He was largely responsible for the 16 first downs his team piled up to the three credited to Yale. He made several long runs through a comparatively wide open field line. Twice Yale repulsed Harvard in the shadow of its goal. Gilligan rushed to the one-foot line in the second period but ran up against a stonewall defense. He lost another opportunity to score when he reached the three-yard line after a long run. One of the interesting incidents of the game was an interception of one of Gilligan's passes by Booth, whose play for Yale nearly matched that by Gilligan for Harvard, and on the next play Gilligan intercepted a pass of Booth's.

Stone Scores For Bowdoin

Wesleyan won from Bowdoin Saturday at Middletown, Ct., by a 12 to 7 score. Both the winner's touchdowns were the results of long passes. Bowdoin's lone tally came in the final quarter after an off tackle run had placed them in position. Line backs by Stuart Stone, West Newton youth, and his other backfield mates took it over with the local youth making the final plunge.

good for a short gain and several substitutes came in. Lindholm intercepted another Newton pass on the 40-yard stripe for the final play of the game.

SPORT NOTES

Hagood Starts For Brown

Coach McLaughry of Brown started his second team in the game with New Hampshire last Saturday which gave Ernest Hagood, former Newton high linesman, the call at the left guard position. The second string players had been stopped twice on the Wildcats 10 yard line after impressive marches before the first team took the field. When they did they ran wild and in four plays scored a touchdown. Ed Kevorkian of Newton Centre place kicked the goal. In the fourth quarter the regulars came back to halt a New Hampshire attack and soon after made the third and final score of the game, the third team having counted in the third period. Kevorkian again kicked point into the score.

Gilligan Slightly Injured

Tommy Gilligan had to leave the Harvard-Holy Cross game midway of the final period last Saturday when injured on a lateral pass from Guarncia for a twelve yard gain to the Holy Cross 36-yard line. The Crimson was making its final drive that culminated short of the goalline at the time and it is more than possible that had he been able to stay in that his educated eye might have pulled out a victory for the Crimson by a field goal route. He was not seriously injured and will be ready to take the field when called tomorrow against Yale. It is still an undecided question whether or not Gilligan will get the call to start the game in an effort to increase the Crimson passing threat. If he does start it is more than probable he will take Guarncia's halfback berth and that the latter will go to fullback in place of Harper, the finest defensive back on the team.

Johnson Fullback Against Northwestern

It is more probable that Henry Johnson, Waban youth and substitute fullback on the Dartmouth eleven, will start tomorrow's game with Northwestern for the Green. He took the field at the opening kickoff of the game with Cornell last week because of injuries to Captains Black and Ed Sutton other fullbacks. Black's knee is still in none too good shape and it is also doubtful if Sutton will be right so Johnson may get the call.

Andres Starts Every Game

Despite the unusually large number of injuries suffered by the Dartmouth varsity squad there are still three players who have started all of the Green's games this season. One of three is Harold Andres, former Newton captain and star centre. Andres has been at the pivot berth at the opening kickoff of every Dartmouth game and inasmuch as tomorrow's game with Northwestern is the final of the year will doubtless keep this record intact.

Clark's 62 Yard Run Not Allowed

One of the highlights of the Dartmouth-Cornell conflict last Saturday was which the Green Tain won 28 to 0 was a 62-yard touchdown run by Len Clark of Newton Highlands, substitute for the incomparable Al Masters. But the run which came in the fourth period was not allowed as one of the Dartmouth players was detected holding. The ball was brought back and Dartmouth penalized fifteen yards. Clark had previously intercepted a Cornell pass on his 27-yard line and tossed a pass to Swarthout for an eleven yard gain. He then took the ball and ran the end clear.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

Mrs. Harry A. Hageman opens her home at 37 Allerton road, for the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. on Monday afternoon, the 26th, at 2:30 o'clock. The program is in charge of Mrs. Hageman and Mrs. Isaac Goddard. Schubert is the composer whose biography will be presented. The general topic "Biography," which is to make up the Club's programs for the meetings until March first, has a wide and interesting appeal, in that philosophers, statesmen, composers, authors, and other outstanding figures, will be studied.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

On the same afternoon, the 26th, the Monday Club of Newton Highlands is to enjoy a "Book Review" given by Mrs. J. E. Peckham and Mrs. C. T. Bartlett. The opportunity to hear resumes of the new books, or to have the way pointed to worthwhile reading, is a vast time-saver to the busy Clubwoman, keeping her abreast of the book times, and yet keeping her from having to wade through volumes that are not always worth the reading. There is also the value of the point of view of others on a book, and the reading into it sometimes an imagination that makes it quite different from one's own conception. Mrs. C. H. Keeler, of 36 Oak terrace, entertains the Club, which meets at 2:30.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The first of a series of Literary afternoons under the auspices of the Education Committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club will be held on Monday, November 26th, at 2:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. H. B. Sherman, 264 Mill street, subject, Selma Lagerlof, Nobel Prize winner.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club postponed their meeting for Monday, November 19th, owing to the fact that the Federation meeting fell on the same date.

The Class will meet Monday afternoon, November 26th, at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John R. McLean, 135 Cornell street, Newton Lower Falls. Mrs. Alfred A. Day will give a paper on "The Missouri and the La Platte Rivers," Mrs. Gilbert R. Jones, "The Nile River," and Mrs. Ethel Leach on "The Euphrates and the Tigres Rivers."

Mrs. Ella Mason and Mrs. John R. McLean will be hostesses for the afternoon.

On the evening of December 7th, at 8 o'clock at the Unitarian Parish House, West Newton, the West Newton Women's Educational Club will observe a Guest Night.

The committee in charge has arranged a very extensive and interesting program. Mr. Guy R. Sweeney in impersonations, comedy and music, and Miss Billie Williams, with her piano accordion will furnish the entertainment, which will be followed by refreshments and dancing.

Newton Federation

Professor Richard T. Fisher, Director of the Harvard Forest, in Petersham, Mass. will be the speaker at the Executive Board meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs at the Newton Technical High School on Tuesday, November 27th.

For twenty years Professor Fisher has been carrying on important research work in forest management for Harvard University. The results accomplished at Petersham are recognized as outstanding in the field, and foreign delegations are frequent visitors to observe them. An exhibit to show the part played by forests in outdoor recreation will be displayed by the Massachusetts State Department of Conservation.

The meeting will be in charge of the Committee on Conservation of our Natural Resources, with Mrs. Harold O. Cook as chairman.

Preceding this special feature of the afternoon the usual business meeting takes place at 2:30 o'clock, with the president, Mrs. J. Porter Russell presiding.

Auburndale Review Club

On Tuesday morning, November 27th, the Review Club will have its third automobile trip, this time to the Harrison Gray Otis House at Cambridge street, Boston. This trip is open to the Waiting List also, and all members willing to use their cars are requested to invite their own passengers, and the start will be made from the Auburndale Station at 9:30. Information as to the route will be furnished by the Program Committee, Mrs. Stephen Wright, chairman.

Companion event of the evening was the Open House at the William Pynchon Memorial Building, where William Frederick Adams, curator of the Connecticut Valley Historical Society, personally conducted guests on a tour pointing out the most fascinating documents and exhibits.

More than 1,000 Clubwomen, possibly nearer 1,500, gathered the next morning at 10:30 in Masonic Building, guests of the Hampden County Woman's Club, the Springfield Federation, and the Springfield Woman's Club. Well into the morning women from all over the State arrived in their automobiles. Mayor Fordis C. Parker, extending greetings of the city, declared that women were a growing power to be reckoned with at all times, and stated that in his opinion women's voting has brought about a great improvement. He commended the Clubs for their interest in good government, public health and public safety, parks and playgrounds. Major Frederick E. Hillman, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the women in behalf of the business men. Two other courtesies extended the visiting women by the Chamber of Commerce were the huge banner bearing a message of welcome hung before the Masonic Building, and the gift of most attractive booklets, covered in terra cotta color, containing many interesting facts about the city.

Mrs. Packard, replying to the greetings, said that she did so with full heart, and this can be understood, since Springfield is her home city, and each Club has honored her with the presidency.

The reports of the San Antonio Biennial were given by Miss Maude Summer, Mrs. Herman C. Peterson, and Mrs. Lawrence F. Ladd, with a for paintings, linens, minatures, Christmas cards and wrappings.

At two-hour periods will occur interesting, artistic interpretations on the stage. Among them will be a fancy dancer, living pictures reproducing famous masterpieces selected and posed by Mrs. Achibald Nissen and her committee; and a Style Show of beautiful gowns from William Filene's, of Boston.

Tea will be served, and people are urged to linger and enjoy the unusual program which will be free.

State Federation

FALL MEETING. On the evening before the Fall Meeting—Monday, the 12th—over 150 happy clubwomen enjoyed the hospitality of the State President, Mrs. Azel A. Packard. Lights blazed a welcome from every window in the white mansion in Union street; baskets of yellow chrysanthemums and vases of roses and carnations made festive the rooms; in the library a register tied with gold ribbon of the State Federation, was signed by scores of guests; the receiving line, including the president, Mrs. Packard, and Mrs. William G. Dwight of Holyoke, president of the Hampden County Women's Club, Miss Eunice Burbank, president of the Springfield Federation, and Mrs. Edward T. Broadhurst, president of the Springfield Woman's Club, greeted their guests. Mrs. Florence Besse Brewster, former president of the Springfield Woman's Club, later dispensed hospitality from a punch bowl.

wealth of information and entertainment, but as all this was reported in full last June, space cannot be given here for repetition. In summarizing, Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, General Federation Director, caused much laughter by her prophecy that at some future time Clubwomen would attend biennials in London, Paris, Sydney, Tokio, Shanghai, or other remote places, by airplane—just a mere short trip—while others remained at home hearing and seeing them all by radio and television. She also said—and Mrs. Potter can always be relied upon to infuse humor into her reports—"Some women grow old gracefully, others join the General Federation and remain young."

A masterful piece of business was the serving of luncheon to the visiting Clubwomen in Masonic Temple, at which more than 1,000 were served. The Press luncheon, presided over by Miss Carolyn Peck, State Press chairman, was attended by editors of Women's Club news in Boston.

Several bits of outstanding interest in the afternoon followed the excellent organ recital given by Mrs. Dorothy Mulroney. The Wollaston Woman's Club—having heard Mrs. Packard's remark that the gavel was becoming worn so that she feared it might break—seized their opportunity and presented the State Federation with a new one, the Club's president, Mrs. Wallace Rood speaking, and the presentation being made by a Club member, Mrs. Boyd F. Bowles, who is State corresponding secretary. She stated that the gavel was made from wood taken from the old frigate Constitution, which was launched in 1797. It is of white oak, the head being made from wood from the keel. It was made by William Atkinson, and the inscription on the silver plate was done by Eugene Sanger.

The second interesting event was the honoring of Mrs. Augusta Prescott of Springfield, a successful business woman who moved her husband's business of ink manufacturing to the city from Boston, after his death. The outstanding business of the convention was the passing of a resolution calling upon Club members to study and stand behind the Multilateral Treaty to outlaw war, known as the Pact of Paris, that the treaty

The Annual Dramatics of the Newtonville Woman's Club played to a large audience last Friday evening, the 16th, in the High School Auditorium, to the gratification of those who were seeking to add a substantial sum to the Club's Scholarship Fund. It was a much amused and entertained audience, as well, for the farcical comedy, "The Torch Bearers," written by George Kelley contained clever lines, and much wit, as well as being based upon a keen understanding of human nature. The actors availed themselves of every opportunity, putting across lines, business, and situations with great finesse. Their naturalness made this "slice of life" truly a glimpse of what happened in home, and back stage.

The cast follows: Mr. Frederick Ritter, Clinton W. Tylee; Mr. Huxley Hossefrosse, Robert C. Kelley; Mr. Spindler, Paul R. Knight, Jr.; Mr. Ralph Twiller, Harold C. Bond; Teddy Spearing, Robert Ives Brown; Mr. Stage Manager, Mr. Derby Brown; Mrs. Paula Ritter, Hazel H. Sholley; Mrs. J. Duro Pampinelli, Elizabeth Upham Stevens; Mrs. Nelly Fell, Alice D. Bond; Miss Florence McClelland, Elsie M. Ellicker; Mrs. Clara Sheppard, Anna Judkins, and Jenny, Abbie C. Thornton.

The play was coached by Mr. and Mrs. Derby Brown, and was produced by special arrangement with Samuel French of New York.

The scenes were: Act I. A drawing room in the home of Mr. Frederick Ritter, about eight o'clock; Act II. Behind the scenes at Horticultural Hall, the following evening at eight-thirty; and Act III. The drawing room at the Ritters' two hours later.

In the first act Mr. Ritter comes home to find that ART has entered his domain. Jenny, the servant, meets him in a joyful flutter, and his wife, hearing his voice, comes to greet him with the exuberance of a girl, and recounts all the compliments she has received as a "leading lady." Mrs. Sholley was delightful in this part, with her embarrassed modesty over the plaudits, and yet evident elation. Mr. Tylee, playing the unimpressed middle-aged lord of the household, was excellent in his naturalness. His masculine warning not to believe everything said to her, satiric that was over the head of his wife, and above all his concern being in the untimely death of Mr. Sheppard, were well-done, indeed. His query, "How did you happen to act?" Mrs. Sholley's reply, "because someone died"; and the subsequent explanation of the sudden death of the leading lady's husband, which spoiled the plans, making Mr. Ritter demur, "why didn't she keep his death a secret," were introductory to the descent upon the house of the entire cast of the play for rehearsal.

Elizabeth Stevens, as the melodramatic, intense Mrs. Pampinelli, scowlingly concentrating upon her director's duties, was splendid—typical of many women seeking after the limelight, and expressing acquired information. The spell-bound attitude of her company as she corrected the wronged wife in her emotional scene, pleading with her to show more emotion, and showing her how to "emote," brought a gale of laughter from the audience, so well was it done. Her gestures were the acme of ease and grace, the envy of her holders, who showed this keenly. Her unrest when Nelly Fell held the attention of a man—but especially of Mr. Spindler or Mr. Hossefrosse—and her stern rebukes, calling Nelly to attention, provided situations that made for much amusement of the audience. Mr. Huxley Hossefrosse's evident interest in Mrs. Pampinelli, but his perpetual "dumbness" in understanding her instructions, were admirably played by Robert Kelley.

Mr. Kelley, too, bellowing as the enraged husband, made so farcical his part, that he aroused peals of laughter. The exaggeration in this farcical scene was ably seconded by Elsie M. Ellicker, as the wronged wife. Mrs. Harold C. Bond—Alice D.—as the merry, merry widow, "all kinds of widow" as she expressed it, beautiful in her white hair, playful with each man who entered upon the scene, put over her flirtatious part in a way that was a joy to behold. Her pretended dismay when rebuked, and the keen enjoyment of her attentions shown by Mr. Ritter, held the attention of the audience so that many bits of other clever byplay were not at way seen.

The entrance of Paula into the rehearsal, which her husband is unwillingly viewing, as the woman who is stealing a husband, (Mrs. Hossefrosse), brings the climax of hilarity, for her acting to her real husband is so awful that with the awed and dismayed outcry, "Oh, my God!" he falls in a dead faint. Reminiscent as this is of the similar fate of Clara Sheppard's husband, he seems to be the second man knocked out by his wife's acting, and the audience is in a uproar of glee. And then Mrs. Pampinelli shows her real "art" refusing to let such a trifling matter as a second dead man interfere with the production of her play, ordering all to "places" with a regal aloofness that Mrs. Stevens did with acclaim.

The second act, behind scenes, gave splendid opportunity for mis-haps. The sticking door, blocking entry; Harold Bond as Twiller, leaving his cane in the door on stage entry, and dropping half of his moustache on the stage, not once but several times; Mr. Spindler, reduced from the cloud-gazing superior being of the first act to a rebuked culprit, first when he falls over a spike in the floor, then when his telephone bell refuses to work, only to go off with a zip when not wanted—acting by Paul Knight, Jr., that was a delight to behold—and the final catastrophe, the fall of the curtain just as Mrs. Pampinelli glides out in triumph to take her supreme moment in a curtain call, and her cold rage at the stage manager, provided one laugh after another.

Derby Brown, as stage manager, unconcerned, retorting to her that he'd write it out why the curtain fell, nonchalantly eating a banana earlier, surely made the most of every bit of stage business in his part.

Anna Judkins, as Mrs. Sheppard, appearing in deepest black, but willing to take a curtain call for the part she had to give up, made her very real, in her interest in the play and in her knowledge of the becomingness of her mourning.

And then another man is taken out unconscious! And this again after Paula's scene with Hossefrosse. We discover later, of course, that it's again her husband, but at the moment the thought of a third man being overcome is too much for the audience.

In the third act, never were seen such flowers as arrived for Paula—too reminiscent of three macabre fatalities. It was no wonder that on the program the Newton Rose Conservatory, M. L. Ruane, florist, and Newton Flower Shop were thanked with appreciation of generosity, for they did their best to make the display a cross between a funeral and a congratulatory affair. In this, Paula's ears, over her husband's sarcasm; Mrs. Pampinelli's majestic superiority; and Nelly Fell's frank expression of opinion of the man with whom she flirted in the first act; were most entertaining, so realistically were they done. Mr. Ritter's joke of calling over the up-stairs extension with an offer from a motion picture company, was a bit of stage business that was most entertaining.

Then Paula decides to give up her art, and this gives Mrs. Pampinelli the enjoyable lines of threat: "Remember, there will still be actresses when husbands are a thing of the past!" "I know, but I HAVE a husband!" weeps Paula. And from Nelly Fell—she who has flirted with every man present—"That's a cross every married woman has to bear!"

The Dramatic Committee is to be congratulated upon the the talent of the entire company, and upon the pleasure that they afforded their Newton audience: Mrs. Clinton W. Tylee, chairman; Mrs. F. Spencer Arend, Mrs. Stanley B. Arend, Miss Marion Drew Bassett, Mrs. G. Winthrop Brainerd, Mrs. Lowell A. Burrows, Mrs. Myron M. Davis, Mrs. Anton R. Fried, Mrs. Elliot D. Hansen, Mrs. John C. Moenich, Mrs. Howard E. Niven, Mrs. Harold W. Shedd, Mrs. Frederick A. Tennant, Mrs. George L. Whitehead, and Mrs. Percy E. Woodward.

Between the acts an excellent musical program was ably given by the Curtis Trio—Miss Grace Deean, violin; Miss Marjorie Curtis, cello; and Miss Dorothy Curtis, piano.

Captain Donald B. MacMillan's stereopticon lecture, "Under the Northern Lights" drew a large number of enthusiastic Club members of the Newtonville Woman's Club and their guests to the High School Auditorium on Tuesday, November 20th. The story of his experiences cover a period of twenty years and during that time he has collected many fine pictures.

The High School Band, composed of some sixty boys and girls, very striking in their black and white uniforms with range letters, played several spirited selections at the opening of the meeting. Mr. Charles Spaulding is their leader and director.

Newton Federation

That the women of today have four different obligations was the assertion of Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker at the Fall Meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, held at the Waban Neighborhood Club, Monday, November 19th. The first is the one they have always had: the domestic, which concerns the husband, home, and children; the second is an economic one involving saving, the budget, and managing a household; to this has been added the political obligations, and Mrs. Schoonmaker stated that American women have not quite fulfilled it yet; they haven't done it intelligently in all cases, and they haven't all performed it, but in time, this obligation will be fulfilled.

The fourth obligation, which Mrs. Schoonmaker took for the subject of her talk was the international one. Europe lives very close together; enmity scars all mankind alike; what are we doing to abolish war? We gave in war and asked nothing in return. Although we did introduce a League of Nations and a World Court she personally was ashamed that we were out of these things. She was proud of the Kellogg Pact as we introduced it. What can women do? They are always best at talking, so why not talk peace? We can have peace if we want it. We are made up of different nationalities and get along well. We should work for world friendship and peace.

Then she gave a short history of war from the tribal wars to the great war which involved everyone. We learned from this war first, that we are not too civilized to fight; second, pre-eminence does not prevent war; third, that war settles nothing.

Mrs. J. Porter Russell who presided over the meeting, introduced Mrs. George Angier, who spoke for the Red Cross work in Newton. Announcement was made of the first golden rule supper for the New England Relief to be given November 26th at the Newton Club. Mrs. Horace B. Gale, director of the Twelfth District, of Natick, gave a short talk on progressiveness in Newton. Her outstanding statement, in that it affected Newton, and to a matter in which the entire Newton Federation may have pride, was that the Auburndale Review Club—which is essentially a study Club, rather than one of the large Women's Clubs—has accomplished a feat that no other Club in the Twelfth District may claim. At its meeting on Tuesday, November 13th, the Review Club voted 100 percent subscription to the official magazine of the State Federation, Federation Topics. So this Club has an honor with the State that is unrivaled in their District. It was gratifying at this meeting of the city's Federation to have the Twelfth District Director mention this vote, and she did so with a clever turn of expression that was entertaining. For a long time the directors throughout the State and Miss Titus, the editor, have tried to have Topics subscribed to by entire Clubs and long have they talked, and apparently vainly. So that when Mrs. Gale said that Federation Topics was no longer a sad topic to mention in the Twelfth District a ripple of amusement rewarded her.

After a group of songs by Louise Watson, soprano, Mrs. George F. Reinhardt, president of the Waban Woman's Club, which was hostess Club for the Federation, introduced the program as outlined. Tea was served during the social hour after the program.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

At the meeting on Monday evening, November 19th, Mrs. Thomas E. Lees, chairman of American Home Committee of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club presented Miss Sarah Hardin Hunter, who came to the Club through the courtesy of Edison Electric Light Company, to give a lecture on "The Intangible Dividend of Life." Miss Hunter reminded her audience of the story of Cornelia and her jewels of old Roman times; also of the adage, "Men and women make the home and the home makes the man and women." The members were very much interested in the Model Back-yard Playground made at the Newton Vocational High School, under the supervision of Mr. Hermann, the Supervisor of Playgrounds in Newton.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

Daughters' Day of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands was well attended on November 20th, when the meeting was opened by the Girl Scouts of the intermediate and junior troops marching in and out to the platform bearing the Colors. The audience remained standing, and gave the salute to the flags, using the new salute which was adopted by the State Federation at the annual meeting at Swampscott, last May, and they sang one verse of The Star Spangled Banner.

Mrs. Ward I. Cornell, the president, greeted the Girl Scouts and the daughters. Mrs. Ernest J. Weaver reported the receipts of the three days Art Sale sufficient to meet all cost of enlarging the Craft Room of the Workshop, but was unable to give the exact figures.

William F. Clapp, Professor of Natural Science at Harvard, was introduced by Mrs. Cornell. Intensely interesting and amusing were his experiences, which he told of snakes, spiders, and snapping turtles.

In closing his lecture Professor Clapp invited all who cared to see a few of his pets which he had brought with him, to come to the platform, and, true to his word, he fondly held up a beautifully fascinating snake about four feet long, an alligator two years old, and a turtle, much to the delight of the children.

Members were asked to remember the afternoon of December 1st, for the children, when Thornton W. Burgess will tell of his animal friends. His autographed books will be for sale at that time.

Mrs. Albion Brown, chairman of the American Home, would greatly appreciate it if every member would send in her two choicest recipes in order that the Club Cook Book may be under way.

Announcing Jeddo-Highland Coal

"The Aristocrat of Anthracite"

Recognizing that the time has come when coal consumers want the very best coal obtainable, we have concluded a careful survey of all sources of Anthracite supply and have made our choice.

It is therefore with pleasure that we announce our appointment as exclusive distributors in this territory of mined and shipped solely by the Jeddo-Highland Coal Co., of Jeddo, Pennsylvania.

JEDDO-HIGHLAND ANTHRACITE

Our reasons for choosing this coal are because of its extremely low ash content and high heating value, its tough structure which enables you to hold a good, even fire for many hours without attention, and the fact that Jeddo-Highland will not clinker.

In the above respects this coal surpasses all other Anthracites—both domestic and foreign—that have been investigated and analyzed by us.

These have been the unvarying characteristics of Jeddo-Highland for the past seventy years; they hold true today and will continue to do so for many years to come.

We have been serving the householders of this community for years. During this period we have developed an organization that is second to none in ability and willingness to render adequate heating service and our reputation for this is well established.

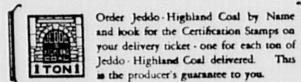

Now that we have concluded our arrangements to handle this "Aristocrat of Anthracite" it is available to householders in this territory and we are ready and anxious to be of some service to you.

Order Jeddo-Highland by name and look for the Red Certification Stamp on your delivery ticket—one for each ton of Jeddo-Highland Coal delivered. This is the guarantee of the producer to you.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

We were talking of the approach of Thanksgiving, of turkeys, etc.

"I might have known a woman had something to do with it," observed a friend of mine upon learning that it was through the efforts of Mrs. Sarah Josephine Hale that President Lincoln directed the proclaiming of the day as one for National Thanksgiving, praise and prayer." As most of us know there had been no uniformity of prior to that date, although a number of States celebrated Thanksgiving.

I asked my friend if his reference to Mrs. Hale and her achievement was intended as a knock or a boost. "Why, a 'boost,'" he answered, promptly.

"You know perfectly well what I mean. We have more thought of home at Thanksgiving than at any other time, except possibly Christmas. We think of meeting all the members of the family in one grand reunion. And whom do we depend upon to arrange everything, especially the dinner. Why the women, of course."

"Then you think the men are not so much when it comes to Thanksgiving?" I ventured to ask. "No, they are not," he replied. "If I wasn't so busy, I would take a day off and look up the other big events in history and see if women weren't responsible. They were for the good things, I'll bet anything."

He paused, then turning to me, said,

"What do you say to that?"

"I guess you're right," said I.

"Guess," he repeated in a challenging tone. "If you weren't a bachelor you'd know blamed well I'm right."

This most unique room with its realistic French atmosphere, delicious food at moderate prices is rapidly growing in patronage every night. Charlie Kelly and his Blue Jackets are continually surprising the patrons with their pleasing melodies and dance rhythm. Another pleasant feature of the French Village is the special menus arranged for private parties, where a part of the room can be reserved for the exclusive use of the party without additional charge, then the room can be hired for bridge parties and special gatherings and the prices are most reasonable. Besides there is ample parking space adjacent to the hotel.

Charlie Kelly and his Blue Jackets are continually surprising the patrons with their pleasing melodies and dance rhythm. Another pleasant feature of the French Village is the special menus arranged for private parties, where a part of the room can be reserved for the exclusive use of the party without additional charge, then the room can be hired for bridge parties and special gatherings and the prices are most reasonable. Besides there is ample parking space adjacent to the hotel.

Successful Golden Rule Dinner In Aid Of Near East Relief Fund

Well Known Newton Residents Give Interesting Accounts Of This Most Worthy Charity

Possibly one of the most interesting events in Newton's history took place on Monday evening in the Woman's Club at Newton Centre when 300 guests sat down to eat an orphanage dinner that was donated by the business firms of Newton.

Promptly at 6:30 the 300 guests were seated and the high school orchestra delighted the guests with their beautiful and well selected number. Mayor Edwin O. Childs presided over the dinner in his usual genial manner. After singing "America," prayer was delivered by Dr. Noyes of the First Congregational Church of Newton Centre, the 25 Girl Scouts under the direction of Miss Mildred Moore soon had placed before each guest the portion of stew and prunes that was to make up the menu in addition to bread and coffee. Mr. Edward J. Lang says that rarely ever, if ever has a company of waitresses served so efficiently and elegantly as the scouts did on this occasion.

Mr. Lang was first introduced by Mayor Childs and briefly outlined the procedure and expressed in behalf of the Near East Relief the most hearty thanks and appreciation to all who so generously had contributed in making this occasion possible.

Mrs. Charles Wood Bond, active chairman, was next introduced and spoke briefly on Newton's splendid cooperation and interest in this great humanitarian work during the past years and expressed great pleasure at the liberal response to every appeal.

The Mayor next introduced Mr. Albert A. Scott, Regional Director of Near East Relief, and presented Mr. Frank L. Richardson who has served as Treasurer of the Near East Relief in Newton for the past years. Mr. Richardson gave a concise and complete report of the past and received hearty applause when he stated that over $1000.00 had already been placed in his hands during the dinner. He assured all guests that Newton would measure up to the task of doing their proportionate share in the completion of the work.

7000 Members Needed To Fill Newton Quota

Red Cross Budget For 1929 Nearly $4,000,000

All activities of the Red Cross during the past 9 years—large post war relief operations abroad, work for ex-service men and women, disaster relief, domestic peace-time program have cost $137,911,000. The receipts collected during these 9 years amounted to $101,653,000.

$36,258,000

That is—there would have been a deficit of $36,258,000 in the National Treasury now after 9 years if there had not been a balance left in the Treasury after the war with which the Red Cross began the 9 year period.

In the year 1928 the total expenditures for Red Cross activities amounted to $3,867,000 while the total receipts amounted to $3,427,000.

$440,000

That is—during the year 1928 it cost $440,000 more to carry on the activities of the Red Cross than the Red Cross collected. This $440,000 has been a drain upon the above mentioned constantly dwindling balance of 9 years ago.

For disasters of magnitude (Mississippi, Florida, Porta Rica, etc.) the Red Cross makes special appeals and the funds received as a result of these appeals are not placed with regular Red Cross funds but are sent at once to the disaster areas and used there.

So you see that the Red Cross is an organization collecting great sums of money and expending great sums of money. It is the only relief organization in the world today ready and able to cope with the greatest calamity that may occur and it is able and ready because it represents the understanding and generosity of the people of the United States.

During the coming year it is estimated that the Red Cross will need $3,864,000 to carry on its regular program. If a great disaster strikes that will call for the expenditure of many millions more than the Red Cross has in its Treasury then the Red Cross will meet this emergency in your name by special appeal. This $3,864,000 must be raised during the Roll Call which is now being conducted throughout the United States.

The ordinary membership fee for enrollment in the American Red Cross is $1.00 and 50 cents of this amount is sent to the National Treasury in Washington at once.

THERE SHOULD BE AT LEAST 7000 MEMBERS OF THE RED CROSS JOINING IN NEWTON THIS YEAR TO INSURE NEWTON'S PROPER PARTICIPATION IN THIS GREAT BUDGET OF $3,864,000. UP TO THE PRESENT TIME ONLY 4780 HAVE JOINED IN NEWTON.

The Roll Call began on Armistice Day and formally ends on Thanksgiving Day and formally ends on Thanksgiving Day. This is a significant period and a period of opportunity.

Those who have not as yet joined for the coming year may do so by sending $1.00 as membership fee to the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross, 12 Austin street, Newtonville. Any bank in Newton will gladly accept your membership for the Newton Chapter.

LASELL SEMINARY

At the second lecture of his course at Lasell on Friday evening, Dr. Leon H. Vincent's subject will be "Charlotte Bronte and Sisters."

Mrs. Isabel Brown Rose will be the speaker at vesper service on Sunday, December 2. Mrs. Rose, a missionary who is in this country on furlough from India, is a speaker and author of note. Her novel "Red Blossoms—a Story of Western India" has been very well received.

Only Three Contests At Municipal Election

Aldermen-at-Large in Wards 4 and 7
And Ward Alderman in Ward 2
In Doubt

The coming municipal election on Tuesday, December 11, will have but few contests. As Mayor Childs' term will not expire until next year, the only offices voted for are those of Aldermen and School Committee members. In Ward 1 there are no opponents to Thomas M. Gallagher, candidate for re-election as Alderman-at-Large, and Edward H. Powers, candidate for re-election as Ward Alderman. In Ward 2, Alderman-at-Large Roy V. Collins has no opposition. Ward Alderman Fred W. Woodcock, running for re-election, will be opposed by Daniel O'Connell, former Alderman. In Ward 3, Sinclair Weeks and Chester A. Prior, who seek another term respectively as Alderman-at-Large, and Ward Alderman, have no opponents.

The year 1928 the total expenditures for Red Cross activities amounted to $3,867,000 while the total receipts amounted to $3,427,000.

In Ward 5, Henry W. Ball and William C. Holbrook will be returned without opposition as Alderman-at-Large and Ward Alderman. In Ward 6 Walter E. C. Worth has no rival to prevent him being returned as Ward Alderman. Albert L. Lincoln, elected by the Board of Aldermen last year to serve the unexpired term of ex-Alderman Henry M. Bliss, will not be able to continue in the Board because of business demands on his time. His successor from the Chestnut Hill district will be Richard Harts of 32 Suffolk road.

Nursing Association Holds Annual Meeting

Elects New Officers and Hears Interesting Reports

The Annual Meeting of the Newton District Nursing Association was held at the Headquarters, 12 Austin street, Newtonville, on Tuesday, November 13.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. George M. Angier, president; Mrs. Samuel Tower, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Herbert Felton, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Leverett Saltontall, secretary; Mrs. Frank Schofield, assistant secretary; Mrs. H. C. Bond, Auditor.

Mrs. St. Amant reviewed the growth of the Association in the 7 years that she has been president. The Staff has increased from 1 graduate nurse and 2 students from the Training School, with headquarters at the Hospital, to the present staff of a superintendent, 3 graduate nurses and 4 students with their own headquarters.

The superintendent, Mrs. Paige, reported 15,459 visits this year, and 1,835 attendants at the Well Baby Clinics. Three of the doctors who have served on the medical staff since the clinics were started resigned this year, Dr. Keene, Dr. Godfrey and Dr. Thayer. These men have given very generously of their time and service. We greatly appreciate it and thank them.

Dr. J. Gallagher, Dr. W. O. Halloran and Dr. E. Burke have graciously consented to serve at the clinics with the other faithful doctors who have long served on the staff.

The Board has lost 3 loyal friends in the passing of Mrs. F. M. Stanley, vice-pres., Mrs. Austin Whittier, asst. secy., and Mrs. Ellery Peabody, chairman of the Finance committee, all of whom are sadly missed from the ranks.

Mrs. Charles L. Smith has resigned as Treasurer. She has held that office ever since the Association was formed, almost 30 years ago. The Board gratefully acknowledged her long and faithful service to the Association and presented her with a silver vase in token of its appreciation. Her place will be taken by Mrs. Louis Smith.

The Board is most fortunate in having Mrs. Angier, the former secretary, as our new president. Many

Drastic Zoning Changes Planned... Public Hearing To Be Held Dec. 14

Private Residence Zones Replace Present General Residence Zones—Apartment House Districts Possible

The most important change in zoning in this city since 1922, when the city was first zoned, will be discussed at a public hearing to be held at City Hall on Friday evening, December 14. Newton was the first city in this section to establish zoning. This fact, in addition to Newton's established reputation as a very attractive residential community started building boom here right after the zoning law was accepted, and for the past six years Newton has completely outdistanced all other cities in Massachusetts in the building of detached residences.

In December, 1927, the Committee on Claims and Rules reported favorably upon certain changes in the Building Code, which have no relation to the Zoning Ordinance, and these changes were adopted. At that time the Committee also reported that it had been considering certain other changes which had to do with the general question of apartment house construction in Newton, and reported that in its opinion before any changes in the Building Code were made, which might stimulate the building of apartment houses, it would be well to change the Zoning Ordinance and the district zoning boundaries and limit the sections in which apartment houses might be erected. The Committee recommended that this subject be referred to this year's Board and this was done.

This subject has been before the present Committee on Claims and Rules during the whole of this year. The Committee has discussed it at many meetings and found it one of the most difficult questions with which it had to deal. The Committee has unanimously reached the same conclusion as last year's Committee, that prior to amending the Building Code in any way which will stimulate the building of apartment houses in the General Residence District this District should be greatly reduced in area. Pursuant to that conclusion the Committee has ordered a hearing before the Committee on Friday evening, December 14, at 7:45 o'clock, at which time it will hear all who are interested.

The City Clerk's office force is performing much detailed work notifying owners of property in the General Residence Zones of the hearing and the Board of Aldermen at the meeting Monday night appropriated $200 for extra clerical work in connection with this matter.

Teams representing the following churches have entered the league: Immanuel Baptist of Newton, Elliot Congregational of Newton, Methodist of Newtonville, Needham Congregational, Methodist of Watertown, Baptist of Watertown, and Methodist of Auburndale.

Mr. Albert Hoffman of Waltham has been secured as Mr. Hess' Assistant in the Boys' Department. He will have charge of the younger boys work and the organization of clubs.

Newton Swimming Team

The call for first practice of the Swimming team for the High School boys of Newton has been sent out and will be held on December 3rd. As there will be no representative High School team, the Y. M. Hess as coach, will carry on the following churches have entered the league: Immanuel Baptist of Newton, Elliot Congregational of Newton, Methodist of Newtonville, Needham Congregational, Methodist of Watertown, Baptist of Watertown, and Methodist of Auburndale.

Older Boys' Conference

As in former years a large delegation of Newton boys will go to Fitchburg for a three day conference on December 7th, 8th, and 9th. This year Dr. Garfield Morgan of Lynn is the principal speaker with Governor Alvan T. Fuller presiding on Saturday night. Boys who are members of churches and Y. M. C. A.'s will be represented at this conference.

The boys' and men's basketball teams of the Newton Y. M. C. A. played their first games of the season last Saturday night on the floor with the College Avenue M. E. Church teams of Somerville. Both "Y" teams won their games; the boys 11 to 5, and the men 51 to 17. The lineup for the men's team was: Purcell, and Cunningham, forwards, Kohler, center, and Captain Adams, Gray, Arnold, and Strong, guards. The boys' lineup was: Earle and McKinney, forwards, Benson and Stoney center, and Marsh and Gallagher guards.

Next Saturday night, December 1st, both teams play at Everett Y. M. C. A., and on December 8th at Lynn Y. M. C. A. The next home games are on December 15th with Chelsea Y. M. C. A.

Saturday evening, December 1st, the Newton Y. M. C. A. wrestling team is holding an open wrestling meet to which it has invited to compete the teams of other Y. M. C. The officials of the meet are: Director of Meet, Barrows Whittemore; Clerk of Wrestling, John W. Waters; Clerk of Bouts, G. L. Listman; Ref-

GIRL SCOUTS

On Monday night, November 26th, Girl Scouts from the Senior troops waited on table at the Golden Rule Dinner given at the Newton Centre Woman's Club for the Near East Relief. The following girls served: from Newtonville, Scouts Holmberg, Gough, Handy, and Peak; from Waban, Scouts Reinhart, Brandt, Upham, and Vandenberg; from West Newton, Scouts Ballou and Kibbe; from Newton Centre, Scouts Boyd, Randlett, Randall, Hockridge, Kendall, and Burnham; from Newton, Scouts Partridge and Hubbard; Scouts Lewis, Orleans, Newey, and Bridley from Newton Upper Falls; and Scouts Oakes, Cerrick, Cudworth, Kerr, Weed, and Cobleigh from Newton Highlands.

A great many troops are giving Thanksgiving baskets this week either privately or to be distributed by the Welfare Bureau. Some troops are filling as many as four baskets, while almost all are contributing the dinner for at least one family.

Troop 2 of Newton had a glorious time last Friday afternoon when Mrs. Smith, their captain, took the girls to the Arena skating. When skates at last had to be regrettably removed, the affair was "topped off" with "hot-dogs" before catching the train for home.

Mrs. George Rechel, Chairman of the Newtonville Troop Committee, will be Captain of Troop 22, Newtonville, which Mrs. Hinman has been taking temporarily. There is no one whom we would rather welcome into the ranks of our officers and we look forward to most successful season for that troop which is made up entirely of new Scouts. Constance Rechel, Jane MacGregor, and Carolyn Somers are helping as second lieutenants in that troop.

Troop 19 held its first meeting last Wednesday at the new school in Newton Lower Falls, with Miss Ruth Fennessy as Captain. This troop plans to make up for its tardiness in starting by its activities once it is under way.

Mrs. J. Arthur Moir, Brown Owl of the Waban Brownie Pack, and some of her assistants attended the Brownie Conference held at Cedar Hill the week-end of November 17th. There will be a Golden Eagle Conference at Cedar Hill, December 1st and 2nd.

Tuesday, November 27th the 6 Second Class Scouts of Troop 25, West Newton, gave a tea, in connection with their work on the Hostess Merit Badge, to which they invited the members of the Troop Committee, Mrs. Norman Angier, and Mrs. Walton Mrs.

So many hikes have been planned during the Thanksgiving holiday that the office will not be open Friday or Saturday morning.

Next Wednesday at 2:30 First Class tests will be given by Mrs. Warren at Headquarters.

Those friends of the Girl Scouts who enjoyed the horehound candy which the girls made two years ago will be glad to hear that they can get a candy again this year when our Christmas Shop opens the second week in December. The Scouts will also make lovely window wreaths, Girl Scout cookies, and other very desirable Christmas gifts which will be on sale at Girl Scout Headquarters, week after next.

SPORT NOTESA Newton Alumni Eleven

Several games played yesterday were between the alumni of rival schools. Should Newton high and either Brookline or Waltham graduates stage such a game there would be considerable interest in the contest.

Newton could place an exceptionally strong outfit on the field made up of graduates who were on the varsity or freshman college team squads in the East this fall. At center there would be Harold Andres, Dartmouth, Winslow Howland, Bowdoin captain, or Creighton Gatchell, Bowdoin freshman star; at the ends would be Bob Adams, Bowdoin, Carlton McCullough, who was forced off the Boston University squad by injuries, or Romaine Cole, Tufts freshman wing; Ed Kevorkian and Ernest Hagood, both of Brown, would make a pair of strong guards while Joe Forristall, Harvard freshman tackle, and Francis Gilligan, Harvard freshman backfield star, would round out the line.

Gilligan played a line position for a couple of years while at Exeter and with the wealth of backfield material available could be spared to fill in at tackle. At quarterback Tommy Gilligan, Harvard substitute, or Len Clark, Dartmouth sub, would be the leading lights. Both were signal-callers while at Newton and have since been used as halfbacks.

Francis Lyons of Boston College, Henry L. Johnson, Jr., of Dartmouth and Stuart Stone of Bowdoin would round out a heavy smashing backfield. Get this group together

coach happy and give many another school alumni team a real football

Gatchell Elected President

Creighton Gatchell, former Newton high star centre, who is now a freshman at Bowdoin college, has been elected to the presidency of his class. Gatchell was a star in the centre of the freshman football team line this fall and a member of Zeta Psi fraternity.

Plymouth Undefeated

The Plymouth high school football team ended its season gloriously last Saturday by defeating the Middleboro high school eleven 38 to 6. The Plymouth team, coached by Charlie Conrodine, former Newton and Brown centre, is champion of its league and possesses an unsmirked record of victories this fall.

Kevorkian Stars

Ed Kevorkian of Newton Centre and veteran tackle on the Brown University football team was the individual hero of yesterday's game with Colgate which the Providence eleven won 16 to 13, ending a three year stretch of the contests. Kevorkian was playing his last game for Brown.

In the first period the Newton Centre youth booted a placement goal for the first score of the game after the Brown running attack had been stopped in the shadow of the Colgate goalline. In the second period Kevorkian blocked a Colgate punt which was recovered by another Brown linebacker who ran the remaining distance to the goalline. In the third period after an 80-yard match had been stopped by the Bear's third touchdown Kevorkian added the point with another placement goal. In addition Kevorkian played a great game on the defense making many tackles. Coach

McLaughlin used but four substitutes

during the game and Hagood, sub-guard who has seen much service this year, was not among them. With Kevorkian graduating from college in June it would not be surprising to see Hagood in his position next year.

Pals Lose Another

The Newton Pals lost their third game of the season yesterday to the Framingham Lion Tamers who defeated them on the Framingham field 6 to 0.

Pinkham Scores for Battery

AN EXCELLENT CANDIDATE

Newton in general and Auburndale in particular, is most fortunate in having Mr. Charles B. Floyd ready to undertake contest for the office of alderman at large from ward 4 at the coming city election.

Mr. Floyd has proved his public spirit on many occasions, and of which his Auburndale neighbors are well aware. For the rest of the city, it might be well to say that Mr. Floyd has been a resident of Auburndale for 14 years, has served two years as president of the Community Club, as secretary of the Auburndale Village Improvement Society, is a director in Newton Chapter of the Red Cross, is a director in the Newton

Y. M. C. A., a director in the Auburndale Co-operative Bank, and chairman of the local committee of the Boy Scouts. He was also a second lieutenant in the Newton Constabulary. Governor Fuller also recognized Mr. Floyd's interest in public affairs by appointing him a member of the Commission to consider the needs and uses of open spaces, and to report to the Legislature next year.

ELIOT CLUB LECTURE

The first lecture in the course to be given under the auspices of the Eliot Men's Club took place Tuesday evening in Eliot Church. The speaker was Dr. William M. McGovern who spoke on the "Secrets of Amazonian Jungles." Dr. McGovern was introduced by Mr. Ralph C. Henry, president of the Men's Club.

Dr. McGovern told of the vampire bats that suck the blood from sleeping humans; of natives whose cannibalistic tendencies apply only to their dead enemies; of the very peculiar effects of drinking Amazon home-brew; of native menus of ants and caterpillars; of blow pipes and deadly poison darts; of weird cures and the medicine men; of Indian tribes which apparently antedate even the ancient Incas; of jungle villages in which more than a hundred families resided in one community but, the apartment walls consisting of hempen ropes.

From the great Amazon basin he pushed through to the Andes, the location of his major archaeological finds. He delved among the lost ruins of the Incas, the wrecks of cities which once housed a rich and intricate civilization among older ruins even than the Incan, bearing evidence of an incomprehensible antiquity. The lecture was illustrated by still and motion pictures, which, considering they were taken a thousand miles from civilization and under all kinds of difficulties were remarkable productions.

Previous to the lecture there was organ music by Roland Halfpenny of Brookline.

The next lecture will take place on Dec. 18 when Burton Holmes will speak on "Hawaii."

EDITORIAL

Auburndale is doing its full share in an effort to improve the personnel of the board of aldermen by securing the candidacy of Mr. Charles B. Floyd as an alderman at large and of Mr. Silvanus Smith as a ward alderman. It is up to the voters of the city in one instance and to the voters of ward 4 in the other to insure the election of these gentlemen to the offices they would so adequately fill. We feel certain that both these gentlemen will receive the full endorsement of their neighbors in ward 4. The scattered nature of our city, however, makes it practically impossible for a resident to be sufficiently well known outside his immediate neighborhood. For this reason we specially urge the election of Mr. Floyd as alderman at large. We can assure our readers that Mr. Floyd's past record is such that we can predict for him an active, intelligent and efficient service as a member of our city government.

Our attention has been called to an accident in which the truck of a citizen of Newton was run into and somewhat damaged by a truck owned by the city and a claim made by the owner on the city had been refused payment on the ground that the city was not liable. This may be just or right. Former city governments took a different view of such claims and paid the bill for damages caused by city employees.

THE ELLA E. MASON FUND

Thanksgiving day touched a few hearts and the Fund to aid Mrs. Mason shows a decided increase. We hope to close this contribution by Christmas Day with a substantial fund to enable a worthy woman to spend her last days in comfort.

Dr. Edwin Hickson of Winchester street, Brookline, was also adjudged in contempt of court, and like Sullivan, fined $50. Judge Buttrick, in finding Sullivan commented that he would have inflicted severer punishment but for the latter's family.

Last week, when Sullivan's case was called, a note was handed to the court signed by Dr. Hickson, stating that Sullivan was ill and unable to appear, being confined to his home. The court instructed Dr. Utley, county physician, to investigate. Utley went to Sullivan's home and found that the latter had gone to work. A summons was issued for the physician and Inspector Goode brought him to the court. Hickson told the judge that he had found Sullivan's pulse high, and had ordered him to go to bed; supposing he had done so.

ried and has three children. He graduated from Harvard with the class of 1917 and during his college days was a star athlete. He played end on the Harvard varsity football teams for three years, won fame by his catching and hitting on Harvard varsity lines, and had few peers in intercollegiate tennis circles.

In Ward 7, Ward Alderman Frederick A. Hawkins, a candidate for a fourth term, has no opponent. Alderman-at-Large Harry W. Fitts is not again a candidate. For his position two well known Newton men aspire — J. Edward Callanan, 54 Playstead road, and Philip S. Jamieson of Kenilworth street. The former has been in the real estate business for some years at Newton Corner and has been prominently identified in civic matters pertaining to that section. He was for many years secretary of Newton Lodge of Elks. Mr. Jamieson is in the cotton yarns business in Boston. He is a past president of the Hunnewell Club and a son of former alderman Joseph B. Jamieson.

The terms of two members of the School Committee expire this year, and these two — Mrs. Helen S. Hutchins of Ward 3, and Joseph F. Lockett of Ward 6, will return unopposed.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

We have been informed that one source of revenue of the Boston & Albany railroad has dropped off considerably during the past year and the management of the railroad company is endeavoring to ascertain the reason. The answer is physical—not financial.

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Parker, in his campaign to save lives, has requested Chiefs of Police to instruct their subordinates to apprehend motorists operating cars on which only one headlight is working. Mr. Parker promises to revoke the registration of all such cars. There has been altogether too much leniency shown motorists who drive cars improperly lighted. Policemen, for the most part stand on sidewalks, or at traffic posts and allow "one-eyed cars" to pass unnoticed. Anyone who drives a car realizes that a headlight may cease functioning while a car is being operated, and the driver may be blissfully unaware of this fact. But, a policeman observing a car improperly lighted, should stop it and insist that the operator go to the nearest garage and get a new bulb. There are too many motorists who operate a car night after night with but one headlight because they are too indifferent, or too miserly to have both headlights on the car put in proper working condition.

A drive should also be made on those motorists who operate cars with glaring headlights. They create much greater hazards on highways than do those who operate cars with but one headlight working. Many pedestrians have been killed by cars because the drivers of other cars were blinded by the glare of improperly focussed headlights on approaching cars.

And, while the safety drive is on, police in Newton, and other cities and towns, should get after motorists who operate with the number plates on cars so hidden, or so covered with grime and grease to be unreadable.

Governor Alvan Fuller has been admonishing automobile insurance agents for taking too high commissions. Although the commissions formerly paid insurance agents 17%, with ordinary brokers obtaining 10% commissions, such percentages of policies which cost $31, $37 or $45, were not exorbitant, when one realizes that insurance agents and brokers have to pay rent, salaries and other office expenses, that they have been using their time and going to expense of procuring plates for patrons, that they must go to more expense and use more time in matters regarding accidents and the settling of claims. Without getting too personal, we wonder what commissions Gov. Fuller received on the expensive commodity he has been selling? We do not know many insurance agents who became millionaires. Few of them have been able to manifest their appreciation of art by purchasing old masterpieces for sums which equal a king's ransom.

THE SALVATION ARMY

Elwood J. Frost, chairman, and Frank L. Richardson, treasurer, officials of the committee of public spirited citizens of Newton sponsoring the annual general maintenance appeal of The Salvation Army, announce that to date Newton has contributed $2,000. This is less than half of the $5,000 necessary to put Newton over the top and to meet her share in the support of the 24 institutions and departments by which The Salvation Army serves Greater Boston.

Chairman Frost is anxious that the quota by fully subscribed this year. Special efforts are being made in every part of Greater Boston to ensure full quotas being raised because apparently the need of amp's funds will be critical since, although Winter has not yet closed in, applications being made to The Salvation Army for aid are already above the average in number.

THE HARVARD GLEE CLUB

Dr. Davison has arranged exceedingly interesting programs for the two Glee Club Concerts to be given at Assembly Hall, Newtonville, on December 14th. Many Newton people will be especially interested in the assisting artiste, Hildegarde Donaldson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Nash, whom many West Newton people remember.

Hildegarde Nash, now Mrs. Norman Donaldson, began her study as a very little girl in West Newton. Showing a very remarkable talent, her mother took her to Brussels where she entered the Conservatory, from which she graduated as a very young girl, about 15 years ago with a "First Prize with Highest Distinction."

After many public appearances in Belgium and in Berlin, where in person with the famous Philharmonic Orchestra, the youthful Hildegarde Nash signed a contract for a tour through the cities of Germany and Russia for the season 1914-15. Caught in Brussels by the War, and unable to leave, the young girl volunteered for service with the Red Cross in a Brussels hospital.

Reaching America after many hardships, Hildegarde studied for a time with Loeffler, later with Auer and Ysaye. She then embarked on a series of concerts, appearing before most enthusiastic audiences in Boston, New York and many of the large cities; and also, playing with the eminent musician and pianist, Bruce Simonds, in Sonata Recitals that aroused widespread interest. Dr. Horatio Parker engaged her with Mr. Simonds to give these series at Yale University through seasons.

For the past two years Mrs. Donaldson has played in Europe with splendid success.

The Mather Class

Prof. Mather Closes Second Series
Of Talks On Religion

At the usual weekly meeting of the Mather Class last Sunday morning at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House, Prof. Kirtley F. Mather closed the second series of lectures on religion.

His topic for this occasion was: "What may modern man do for religion?"

The modern idea of religion has changed from the old idea of miraculously revealed precepts and doctrines to a phase of life which is one of inquiry and adventuring.

Religious life is not sent from Heaven and we are not expected to fit into a prepared mold. Rather than that, we have it as any other kind of life, in which we are seeking the mold for a life which is growing and expanding like an ancient empire.

Great thinkers have foreshadowed this process. The Bible says that where there is no vision, the people perish; and that young men shall see visions and old men dream dreams.

A vision is something not yet realized and not ordinarily seen. It is different from what the intellectual eyes see. Here is ahead of us a goal toward which we are going but which we have not yet reached.

Our sight sees the past, but our visions give a foretaste of the future, and furnish a glimpse of our ideals, which transcend our accomplishments. These visions show youthfully minded people the world that is to be.

Religion is distinctly a human thing. We depend on thoughtfully minded people for our religion.

Prof. Mather expressed a lot of uncertainty about inspiration. He thought there was a human element somehow connected with inspiration. The acquisition of valuable truth comes from a flash of insight, a veritable burst of light, but it has to take place in the mind of a human being. Ideas have to be planted in the human mind and the outlet for those ideas has to come through human channels. Truth crushed to earth will rise again, but only if some human being stoops down and picks it up. It was particularly noteworthy that Prof. Mather did not explain the motivating causes which impel a human being to stoop down and rescue truth.

In the progressive development of the race it is a question whether religion will continue to live and grow and be of value. Christianity is a religion of discovery and growth. Truth is at times imprisoned in the narrow confines and shell of dogma, but the idea of Christianity is that these fallible minds of ours have the ability to carry on and do greater and greater works as time goes on. The essence of Jesus' teaching is that the task is not completed. It is not intended to build the world into conformity with a narrow dogma previously revealed. It is our task to discover what ideals ought to be and may be. We should have the spirit of adventure and launch out into the unknown beyond the field of knowledge, and make our dreams come true. We want to transform the unknown into the known.

Each one has a responsibility. Each one can do something. Jesus places much emphasis on the little things and the trivial details. Every individual counts in the development of civilization. If you don't make your contribution, the civilization of the whole world is stunted and held back. The whole is more than the sum of the individual parts. No man should be content to be an atom. We should be discontented with conditions as they are, the status quo. A negro once said that the status quo was Greek for the mess we're in. The responsibility rests on us to transform this mess into something worth while. We should not wait prayerfully and watchfully for the happy day when God will transform the world into the world that is to be. Some think the responsibility is on the atoms to operate mechanically and work things out by evolution. If they work right, that is fine, but anyway it is not our fault. This is wrong. The responsibility is on us. We are the heirs of all the ages and the custodians of future ages. We are masters of our spirits. We have both a responsibility and an opportunity.

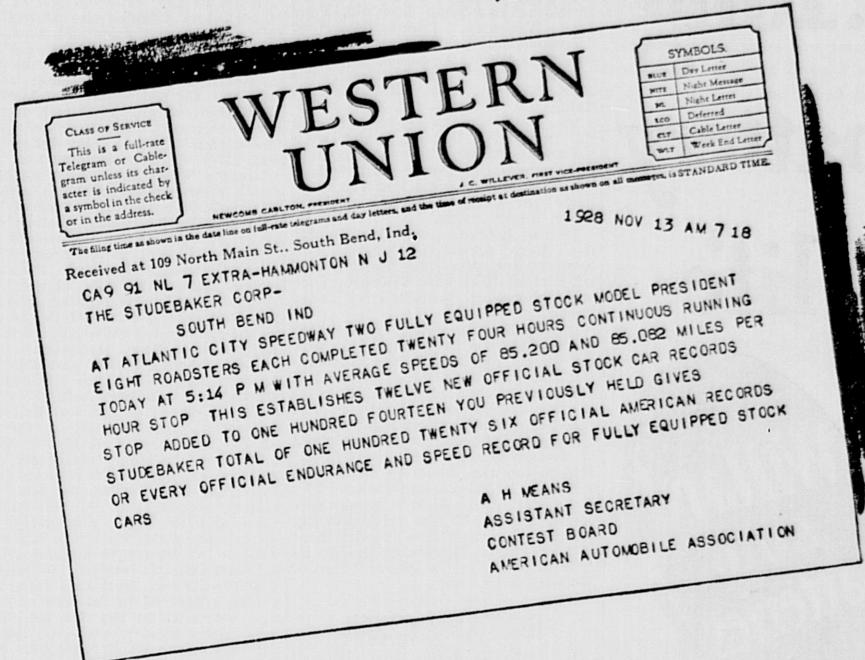

The great trouble is, we do not know the rules of the game. We know electricity, that is, we know the method, although our achievements are very far from being complete. We do not know the method or the laws of life and death and the spirit. The limitations of the human mind hamper us in matters of the spirit. We may easily make mistakes. We cannot be sure that we can make manifest in a word of sense perception the administration of the universe.

We may expect success, however, because the achievements of the past indicate success in the future. Man has come up to a higher level. The general level of humanity is so near the level of the great leaders of the past, like Aristotle and Socrates, that any kind of a leader is ahead of them.

MISSING WOMAN FOUND IN RIVER

Friday afternoon last, as Patrolman FitzWilliams of the Metropolitan Police was walking along the bank of the Charles River on the Weston side near the bridge at Norumbega, he discovered a body floating under the surface, a short distance from the shore. Recovering it by means of a boat-hook, he took it to the police station at Riverside where it was identified as that of Miss Caroline S. Graham, who had disappeared on November 7 from 45 Pelham street, Newton Centre, where she had been residing for a short time previous. Medical Examiner West was notified and in his report attributed the woman's death to suicide from drowning.

After the woman had disappeared on November 7 the Newton police were notified. She was formerly a physical culture teacher and had been in poor health. The remains were claimed by Mrs. Harriet Flynn, a relative of the deceased and interment was at Northampton.

Davis is chairman, presents to the Club members Mrs. Katherine Osborn, of Boston, who will speak on "The Practical Application of Art in Everyday Life." From a background rich in travel and experience, it is said of Mrs. Osborn that "she presents her subject with contagious enthusiasm." Her collection of oriental fabrics, which she exhibits in connection with her talk, is rare and fascinating. Mrs. Osborn is director of the Boston Students Union and has lectured, among many other places, at Columbia University and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

The Music Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Lewis Estes, has planned a group of piano selections by Miss Dorothy Parker. The usual social hour with tea will follow at the conclusion of the program.

The second lecture under the auspices of the Education Committee, Mrs. Alexander S. MacMillan, chairman, will be held in the Union Church Vestry, Wednesday morning, December 5th, at 10:30 o'clock. Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The Music Committee of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands will present a Sextette from the Eighteenth Century Orchestra conducted by Mr. Raffaele Martino, at the next meeting, on December 4th, in the Congregational Parish House, at 2:30 p.m.

The orchestra will play compositions of Bach, Mozart, Handel and Haydn which are always so pleasing. A unique feature will be that orchestra members will be dressed in the colorful, picturesque costume of the Eighteenth Century, which is associated with state occasions of Colonial days. On each music stand will appear a lighted candle.

Following the meeting a Colonial Tea will be served by Mrs. Carl Kolb and her Committee.

The Education Committee hopes Club members are saving December 1st for a guest afternoon for sons and daughters to hear once again their friend of The Animal World, Thornton W. Burgess, who is such a joy and delight to all children.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The Flomondel Trio, consisting of Miss Florence Hale, Soprano; Miss Claradom Thompson, Contralto; and Miss Elsie Luker, Pianist, will give a costume recital before the Newtonville Woman's Club at their next regular meeting on December 4th, at the Central Congregational Church. These musicians have a reputation for marked ability and charm, and the meeting promises to be the most pleasing. Tea will be served by the Hospitality Committee, of which Mrs. Robert C. Kelley is chairman.

This program will be repeated in the evening at 8 o'clock.

At 4 on Wednesday and 4:30 on Thursday there will be a Style Show of artistic clothes sent by Wm. Flene's work by young ladies and matrons of Newton Centre.

At 5:30 there will be a style show for children, of ten minutes. The charming designs and hand work of Miss Bertha Fisher will be displayed on a selected group of children. On Thursday at 3 this will be repeated.

At 9:30 in the evening a one-act play, "Percy," written by Elizabeth Lawton of Newton, will be produced. The cast is: A. Mr. Harrison Brann. B. Mr. Robert Allingham. A Lady (but not a Perfect Lady), Mrs. Willis Pattison. A Policeman, Mr. J. E. Whittlesey. The scene is Central Park, N. Y. This is coached and produced by Mrs. Everett N. Varney, chairman of the Art Committee.

Miss Dana Sieveling will give a group of interpretative dances at 2 on Thursday. Miss Sieveling is a graduate of Ouvrinsky and the Bragigots.

The Junior Women's Club is assisting in groups of ten. Most artistic will be the articles for sale. Shades of thin wood through which the light shows the grain will be on sale. Weaving and linens, pictures and pottery, glassware and leather work. A noticeable shop of white hung with silver will be in charge of Mrs. Wm. C. Noetzel, who will sell Christmas cards and wrappings.

There can be found a complete selection of gifts worth presenting found in the street of ten little shops.

State Federation

RADIO. Mrs. Charles E. French, chairman of International Relations, will broadcast from WNAC next Wednesday morning, December 5th, at 10:30 o'clock. Her topic sounds most curious, and Clubwomen will be anxious to discover just what she means by it: "Four and Twenty Blackbirds." Mrs. Henry P. Ballard is to give a talk on "Eighteenth Century Music," followed by a fifteen-minute period of piano interpretations in illustration that is sure to be worth while.

CLUB INSTITUTES. The usual meeting of Club Institutes, which occurs on the first Thursday of each month, as inaugurated by the chairman of this most recent State Department, Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, takes place at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, from 10 until 12 o'clock on the 6th. The topic of the morning is one that will appeal to all Club presidents who are struggling with the problems of influence for philanthropies and scholarships, namely, "Cures for Club Poverty." Among the cures to be related by speakers, there will be "An Account of the Carnival given by the Brookline Woman's Club" at the Copeland Plaza on November 1st, by Mrs. E. Wilson Lincoln, president; "Why We Spend Money in Our Club" by Mrs. Henry D. Padelford, of the Somerville Woman's Club; "How We Raise Money in Our Club" by Mrs. Edward M. Cox, president of the Milton Woman's Club; "Club Budgets," by Mrs. Gorham W. Harris, president of the Newtonville Woman's Club; "Scholarships," by Mrs. Preston L. Chase, president of the Winthrop Woman's Club, and on the same subject, Mrs. R. A. Berry, president of the Framingham Woman's Club. After these many practical experiences and accounts, there will be an Open Forum for discussion and questions. The meeting is sure to provide ideas for the many who will attend.

WONDERFUL things are happening—by telephone. Pictures are flashed across the continent. Typewriters obey fingers miles away. Men talk casually overseas. Seeing by telephone is just around the corner, if not already here.

A marvelous age—and yet—

ALL AROUND US every day the whispering wires weave their ever-denser fabric of speech. Today, in our own New England more than six million local calls will be placed and relatively few will fail. Today in New England nearly half a million calls will be made to the next town, the next state, or across the nation. And few, relatively, will fail.

Is this a lesser marvel because within common ken?

CONSIDER, IF YOU WILL, the progress of telephony in linking city with city, town with town.

Do you know that speed of service on the main highways of speech is less than a minute on all but really long-haul calls? And that, on the less-traveled ways where special handling and re-handling is required, calls now go through in two-and-a-half minutes by the clock?

Averages, of course.

Some calls take more time. Some less. But these are the averages for the half-million, either to completion or to a definite report.

Twice as fast on the simple calls that were always speedy. Three times as fast on the harder, slower ones. That's the speed gain of the last five years.

AMAZINGLY fast, wonderfully dependable, sound in its values, Neighborhood Telephone Service, as we know it in New England, holds its head high among the modern marvels of telephony and takes no back seat.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

It has more than once occurred to me that it would be in the interest of the public if there could be organized a Society to Do Away With Useless Clocks. Now that is a pretty long name but inasmuch as it best expresses the purposes towards which such efforts should be directed I submit that it should stand. When it shall have become successful the society could be known by its initial letters. But that is a matter for the more distant future.

What I would like to see is an end put (I was going to stop put, but stop is the cause of the whole trouble) of such clocks as occupy important places on buildings and which do not run, or if they do run never may be depended upon. I doubt if I shall have much difficulty in summoning to the reader's recollection a huge clock that he has seen and which has made him sputter because of its eccentric or unreliable nature. It may be that the fashion is changing in public time-pieces and that no new ones are installed and old ones are left to struggle through their last days without interference.

At the same time I know that there are many who will agree with me that we are troubled by useless clocks. It may be a lesson is being taught us that we should not be dependent—and if that is the case then, of course we must accept it as such. Still, why are there so many big clocks that have either run down and remained permanently in that state or which are so queer that they fail to keep up with the time—I mean keep the right or correct time?

Haven't you been fooled more than once by a big clock on which you relied for accurate knowledge of the hour?

And haven't you seen a clock that has stopped months before, or maybe years before and the hands refuse to budge? To have these removed would be an act of great public benefit.

In many a home there exists at least one clock that doesn't do its duty. Possibly it is an alarm clock that has been shaken severely every day or so in order to bring it to a realization of its improper behavior.

What good is a clock that fails us at the proper moment? There may be some sentiment that makes the owner cling to such a time-piece but if that is true he is merely compounding a felony by allowing to exist and fool not only himself, his family and his friends, but any who may chance to turn to it for information. Here's to the Society to Do Away With Useless Clocks!

I should say that I sometimes look at myself in the mirrors frame in slot-machines somebody might be impudent and inquire, "For what purpose?"

I think, therefore, that it would be better to make it an impersonal matter and declare that there are people who do look into these mirrors and find satisfaction or dissatisfaction in so doing. I think it only fair to assume that the mirrors have been placed in gum and weighing machines for the benefit of patrons as well as those who have a penny in their pockets.

Once I heard a young man suggest to his fair companion, who happened to be busying about the appearance of her hair, that she gaze into a mirror in a candy-vending machine. Her look of scorn as she retorted, "I guess not," was such as to wither a less loving and devoted admirer than he. He merely said, "O, all right" and obediently remained silent while she continued, "That's one thing you won't catch me doing. The idea of suggesting it."

Just what aversion this young woman had to looking into a mirror in a slot-machine thereby determining what the breeze had done to half-bobbed locks I cannot say. After that incident I sort of kept a watch on mirrors in public places. I saw a staid appearing man give himself the once over, adjust his necktie and depart apparently well pleased. Then a young woman, fully as attractive as any I have observed in a passing throng, approached the mirror, made a few passes around her ears and trotted off with a smile. They are not the only cases. Others I have observed glanced rapidly, as if to reassure themselves, and not a few have really taken plenty of time about the process.

There is always something in human nature that brings out a new thought and if you want to prove this for yourself just hang around one of these mirrors I have described and see what happens. Before setting this down on paper I made such a suggestion to a young woman and her reply was, "Yes, aren't people funny!" Whether that was a thrust or not I haven't yet determined.

We are in for a city election next month. Present indications are that it will not be the cause of as much excitement as the Presidential and State contest. I have no intimate knowledge but I doubt if our radio programs are to be interrupted by speeches from aldermanic candidates.

Those who are members of the present board will, I expect, rely upon the public meetings of the board for broadcasting. The fact that we do not elect a Mayor until next year leaves the board and school committee members the field to themselves.

I judge from what I read that it will not be overcrowded.

Of course, I shall vote because it is the plain duty of a citizen. Conditions at the polls are not going to be such as will require a turning-out of extra police. In fact, many voters are almost sure to remain away having had their fill of political excitement on November 6. As a matter of fact the city election, with no reflection upon any of the candidates, will be a bit like serving some warmed-over dishes from the last preceding big meal in the household.

After all Newton is a family and although its members may have their clashes there is ample precedent for such. Hasn't somebody said that all kinds of things happen in the best regulated homes. And Newton, as a home city, is pretty well regulated when you compare with some other municipalities. I'll go further and say that we have reason to pay our selves compliments for a good many things.

Getting back to the city election let me add that the absence of burning issues should not discourage voting. I haven't consulted the precinct officers but I am very sure they prefer to have something to do rather than to sit still and wait for straggling voters. If you don't vote for any other reason you might favor these precinct officers and give them something to occupy their time.

According to the State Department of Agriculture the first half of its survey of roadside stands discloses that "nearly all of the better class of stands in Essex, Middlesex, Bristol, Worcester, Hampden and Hampshire counties report that they would welcome some form of supervision and regulation."

It is rather surprising to learn from this same source that consumers who have been interviewed "do not seem to care whether there is any supervision or not." Their attitude is due to a feeling that by personal inspection at the stands they may determine the quality of the vegetables or whatever goods are sold.

An attempt to have legislation passed to insure the buyer, through the medium of a state inspector's certificate, that he is getting fresh produce of good quality was killed by this year's General Court. Possibly the legislature, in their wisdom, did the right thing. I do not know as I am not a patron of roadside stands and on the other hand have no interest in selling fruit or vegetables.

I have often questioned the advantage of buying produce "out in the country" when at home there are regular dealers who are established in Newton and who deal squarely with their patrons. Possibly it is the old longing for an innocent form of speculation, plus a notion that if the stuff is near the garden in which it was grown it must of necessity be "nice and fresh."

It is interesting to observe what the State Department of Agriculture points out in its report to the effect that the survey shows thus far that automobile drivers commonly buy their fruit and vegetables on the way back home," thus giving an advantage to the stands 20 to 30 miles from the cities.

The department expects that the completion of its survey will indicate to what extent some form or supervision or legislation is needed. Thousands of questionnaires have been sent out and when these are received and studied the department will be pretty thoroughly informed as to what it should recommend.

I remember in this connection a friend of mine who once said, "We got a lot of fresh vegetables, cheap, but the money we spent on gasoline while doing our shopping more than offset any chance for profit."

"But you were satisfied," I remarked.

"Well," he answered, "my wife was and that's good enough for me."

You, no doubt, have noticed some of the new traffic signs regarding the parking of automobiles, the use of one way thoroughfares and markers to indicate where you may drive and where you may not and so forth. It is all part of the commendable effort to provide uniform traffic signs throughout the commonwealth. I looked at these new signs over in Nonantum square and although I had read considerable about them the object lesson was even more informative.

I have often heard arguments against "State control" and "centralized authority" but it seems to me that this idea is destined to be a success even if it does exemplify precisely the so-called "autocracy."

Where would we have been if cities and towns, with the traffic problems increasing daily, decided upon signs and regulations of their own? Without uniformity we should have more and more a complicated situation and one that would drive an automobile operator delirious on a long ride.

The new plan has a consistent color scheme which may be learned right at one's own door. If you study a parking limit sign in Newton you should observe its shape, the style of lettering and the colors of the paint used, for when you get into some other Massachusetts city or town you will know what kind of a parking regulation sign to look for. The same applies to the other signs for regulating traffic.

In fact the State officials in charge of this have gone into the specifications so that in all signs there may be a uniformity of shape, color, lettering, mounting position, mounting height, supports and illumination.

By the way, if you haven't looked these signs over do so at once whether a driver or pedestrian or both. It will provide you with information you should possess and at the same time show how Massachusetts is progressing in this highly important study.

Nothing could overshadow the importance of a big membership of Newton people in the American Red Cross. Last year there were 7,000 who joined. The drive now in progress should equal, if not exceed, that number in this city. In fact, with a city of more than 50,000 population it is only to be expected that at least fifth should contribute to so well known and imperative a cause.

Of course, I shall vote because it is the plain duty of a citizen. Conditions at the polls are not going to be such as will require a turning-out of extra police. In fact, many voters are almost sure to remain away having had their fill of political excitement on November 6. As a matter of fact the city election, with no reflection upon any of the candidates, will be a bit like serving some warmed-over dishes from the last preceding big meal in the household.
